REPUBLICANS NEAR VOTE

Indiana State Library

ROOSEVELT'S NAME WILL BE PRESENTED

Fall of New Mexico, to Offer Colonel to Republican Body---Name of Hughes is First to Be Put in Nomination.

TWO BALLOTS BEFORE ADJOURNMENT OR RECESS

CHICAGO, JUNE 9.—Nominations of candidates began today in the republican nation convention. The first was that of Justice Hughes. Governor Whitman made the nominating speech, when as the roll of states was called, Alabama and Alaska passed and Arizona yielded to New York.

Governor Whitman's speech was interrupted by a six-minute demonstration for former President Taft which the republican peace conferees declared they considered "unofficial instructions." Earlier the convention had heard the report of the conference with the progressives. The conference will continue. Gov. Whitman reached his peroration at 12:11 o'clock and a demonstration began.

Will Offer Roosevelt.

It was announced that Col. Roosevelt would be nominated in the republican convention by Senator Fall, of New Mexico.

Seconding speeches for Root will be made by the following: A. M. Stevenson, Colorado; Marion Butler, North Carolina; William Potter, Penn.; S. T. Fuller, Massachusetts; C. H. Sergel, Illinois; L. D. Desnay, Oklahoma; W. A. Lord, New Jersey.

Senator Smoot and former Senator Crane, when they learned that Senator Borah had gone to the progressive convention, said it was an entirely personal matter with him and that he went at his own volition.

The convention greeted that with an outburst of hand-clapping and there was another when he declared the nation should always be "prepared and proud to fight."

Demonstration for Taft.

There was a demonstration when Gov. Whitman mentioned the name of William Howard Taft. The delegates rose cheering and waving their hats and for the first time the whole body of them were on their feet. The band struck up and rolled the cheers along. It was the best demonstration of the convention.

Cheering for Taft lasted six minutes.

Mr. Whitman quoted from an eight-year-old speech of Justice Hughes declaring for "adequate provision for our defense and maintenance of the efficiency of the army and navy," there was more applause.

As Gov. Whitman closed and mentioned Hughes' name there was a demonstration.

Root Is Next Named.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler then took the platform to offer the name of Elihu Root, of New York.

A man in the delegation who voted in the place of Delegate Wright because, he said, he had Wright's "badge and credentials," was put out and the alternate who took Wright's place voted "no."

The ayes had it, however, and Whitman, of New York, was recognized and took the platform to nominate Justice Hughes. The demonstration subsided while Gov. Whitman was introduced.

Whitman Nominates Hughes.

His declaration that "we are here to choose the next president," was applauded. Then the convention went into a denunciation of President Wilson's foreign policy and a declaration that the prosperity of the country only was temporary and dependent wholly on the war. For the time to come, he declared, the nation called for "our greatest statesmen and the republican party."

PETE AND JACK WILL RETIRE FROM SERVICE

Motor Pump Will Replace Engine at House No. 1, Saturday.

The services of Pete and Jack will not be required any more at No. 1 engine house after Saturday morning, June 10. The two faithful servants who have spent their best days in the service of the city will soon pass away from the care of the fire laddies at the central station. The engine which these two white horses have taken to many a fire will be replaced by the motor pump which has been in the city for the past two weeks.

However, the horses and the old engine will be held in reserve so that if they are needed for any reason at any of the other houses they can soon be put into service. The motor pump has been thoroughly tested and several of the firemen have been taught to operate the big machine. The regular driver will be appointed Friday evening.

The tractor which will replace the horses on the hose and ladder wagon will arrive soon, as will the motor hose wagon which is being built in South Bend.

JOHN R. M'LEAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Cincinnati Enquirer Owner Dies at His Home in Washington.

JOHN R. M'LEAN.

Mr. McLean, who was in his sixty-eighth year, had been suffering from a complication of diseases for several months. He was a native of Cincinnati, where he lived until a few years ago, when he came to Washington. As a young man he acquired his father's interest in the Enquirer and in 1881 he became sole owner of the paper. Ten years ago he bought the Washington Post.

For years Mr. McLean was active in Ohio politics. He attended national conventions as a delegate at large, ran for United States senator in 1885, was the democratic nominee for governor in 1899, and later served as democratic national committeeman from Ohio. A son, Edward B. McLean, active in the management of the Post, and a sister, wife of Admiral Dewey, survive him.

W. M. M'KINNIE PROPERTY SOLD

Elmer Leonard Friday morning closed a deal with the United Realty company whereby he comes into possession of the William M. McKinnie property at 616 West Berry street. The purchase price was slightly under $10,000.

The property was sold by Mrs. McKinnie to the realty concern last week, and Mr. Leonard purchased it from the concern Friday morning. The new owner, who lives directly west of his purchase, bought the house merely as an investment, and contemplates no changes in it for the immediate present.

HIT BY AUTO AND LEFT BY ROADSIDE

George Webb, aged 49 and employed on the farm of I. W. Lanford, in Wayne township, was knocked from his bicycle at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night, on the highway southwest of Lindenwood cemetery, when he was struck by a speeding automobile that came up behind him. The driver of the car did not stop to ascertain the result of the collision, but sped on, leaving Webb helpless by the roadside until after midnight, when he was found by some gypsies encamped near by. The Romanies cared for Webb until morning, when the police were notified and Webb was taken in the ambulance to St. Joseph hospital. He was found to have severe injuries to his back and sever cuts and bruises about the arms. Webb has no idea whose car it was that struck him.

RENDITION OF THE PAGEANT TONIGHT

TUESDAY'S TICKETS GOOD FOR TONIGHT.

Persons holding reserved seat tickets for last Tuesday evening will be entitled to use them tonight. There is an opportunity to secure good seats for tonight, and no one should fail to take advantage of the opportunity to see the pageant now. Holders of tickets for Thursday night will use them Saturday.

Fort Wayne's wonderful pageant will be given tonight and there will be no further postponements unless as a very last resort. This action was taken by Chairman Ed C. Miller and members of the centennial cabinet Friday afternoon.

Stores Agree to Close.

Messrs. E. W. Puckett, E. H. Merritt, John Wilding, A. S. Bond, B. Paul Mossman and Arthur Smith, as a committee, Friday afternoon canvassed the business houses as far as possible to secure an agreement to close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening in order to allow their employes an opportunity to attend the pageant. At 2 o'clock the signatures of all the large dry goods establishments had been secured, and it is the hope that all business in the city will suspend at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Children Give Demonstration.

The physical culture demonstration of 1,500 school children at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon on West Wayne street between Harrison street and Fairfield avenue attracted a large crowd. The demonstration was under the direction of Prof. Henry Meyer. Music was furnished by a band of sixty pieces.

Weather conditions Friday morning were not favorable and kept hundreds away. However, every performance of the pageant will eventually be given and it is not at all unlikely that the celebration will extend into next week. Definite announcement of further plans will be made later.

The Woman's building will remain open Saturday, one day longer than was intended. The decorated automobiles in Thursday's parade will also take part in the fraternal parade on Saturday afternoon. Practically every business house in the city has agreed to close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

WILD RUMOR THAT T. R. WILL WITHDRAW

But the Radicals Declare That They Will "Name Teddy Anyway."

Auditorium, June 9.—Col. Roosevelt's secretary, John W. McGrath, and his former secretary of the white house, William Loeb, Jr., were on the convention platform about one minute at 11:05 a. m. They whispered to a few leaders and retired.

Mr. Loeb said "we hope to keep the convention from doing anything foolish." He declined to iterpret the word "foolish."

McGrath and Loeb after retiring from the rostrum are understood to have taken positions in an ante room equipped with a long distance telephone, connected with Oyster Bay. Frequently they came back to the platform and the party leaders buzzed with activity.

Following the arrival of McGrath and Loeb a report was circulated, to which the party managers gave ready ear, that Col. Roosevelt intended to withdraw his name. There seemed to be no competent authority for the prediction and radicals said they "would name Teddy anyway."

FORMER RESIDENT HERE.

S. B. McManus Was at One Time Editor of Fort Wayne Journal.

AMERICAN BANKER STRONGER ABROAD

Federal Reserve System Has Made Him So, Says Mr. Warburg.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 9.—Strengthening of the position of American bankers in international finance was declared to have been one of the most important results of the federal reserve system, by Paul M. Warburg, member of the federal reserve board, who addressed the New York State Bankers' association here today. The federal reserve act, he asserted not only has removed many obstacles which hampered bankers and merchants in dealing with other countries, particularly those of South America, but has provided a positive method by which the country's financial interests may be unified in seeking foreign business.

Predicting that the American bankers' acceptance business would continue to grow even after the war ends, he criticised many importers, particularly of New York, for what he said, was their folly in not using American exchange. He recommended that all republics of the continent adopt a uniform monetary standard on the basis of a gold coin equivalent to one-fifth of an American dollar.

"With our increasing financial strength," he said, "and with the daily diminution of Europe's saving power it stands to reason that, for a long time to come, our discount rates will compare favorably with those of Europe. Our friends in South America consider the creation of the federal reserve system as one of our greatest achievements, and their willingness to rely upon our ability to provide—to a certain extent, at least—such financial aid as Europe gave them in the past is predicated upon the confidence that our new system inspires."

Mr. Warburg cited preparations for war made by the federal reserve board to congress and suggested that the recommendations lead in two directions:

"The one is an increase of the reserve banks' general strength and lending power and an enlargement of their scope of usefulness in dealing with their members," he said. "The other is the removal of limitations heretofore placed upon the operation of national banks. The board feels keenly that as a matter of equity national banks should be placed on a parity with state banks and trust companies, wherever this can be done consistently with safety and conservative banking principles.

"Between the national and state banking systems, there must not be any competition to secure more members by a lowering of banking standards. The whole country would suffer if this took place."

WE'VE GOT 'EM ANYWAY DECLARES MR. PERKINS

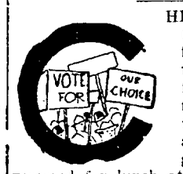
BULLETIN.

Auditorium, Chicago, June 9.—Reading of the progressive platform was concluded at 3:27 p. m.

The first amendment was submitted by William Dudley Foulke, of Indiana, to the civil service reform plank, proposing to extend the merit system to the merit system to all non-political offices, including postmasters. Foulke's proposal was roared down.

BULLETIN.

Auditorium, Chicago, June 9.—(2:40 p. m.)—Insistent demands were made upon progressive leaders by some of the "radical" element during the recess that the progressive convention nominate Col. Roosevelt before Senator Fall nominated him in the republican convention. It was insisted that such a move would add strength to Fall's remarks: "I think the colonel will be nominated in the republican convention first," Secretary McGrath said.



HICAGO, June 9.—(1:13 p. m.)—After finishing consideration of their platform section by section but without voting for its final adoption the progressive convention recessed for lunch at 1:08 until 3 p. m.

The conference committee are understood to be watching the situation to determine whether there is any use to try again to get together. This depended, it was said, on whether the republicans went on with nominations or desired further parleys.

What Perkins Says.

The visit of Senator Borah was said by Mr. Perkins to be "another sign of the friendly spirit between the two conventions." Mr. Perkins said he could not know what significance could be attached to the senator's visit. Some leaders suggested that Borah might be the compromise nominee suggested by the republicans. "Anyway, we're making a record for ourselves that will set us right before the country."

"No matter what the outcome, we've got 'em, anyway," Perkins said.

Borah Gets Ovation.

Without any preliminary announcement Senator William E. Borah entered the Auditorium at 12:40 p. m., where the progressives were assembled in convention. He was escorted to the platform. A tremendous ovation was given him.

Chairman Robins introduced Senator Borah and the convention roared itself hoarse when the senator said he had not come officially.

"I will say to you frankly," were his first words. "I came over here to get an inspiration." At once a wave swept over the hall, started no one knew how, suggesting that stronger events than harmony, with Borah as the man to unite the parties, might happen. This thought grew as the senator in his speech introduced the magic name "Roosevelt," as the progressives' great leader.

Lafayette Man Puts the Indiana Candidate Before Convention.

Chicago, June 9.—Charles W. Fairbanks was presented to the republican national convention today by Representative William R. Wood, of Indiana, as Indiana's candidate for the presidential nomination, and as the man who not only would make one of the greatest presidents the country ever has had, but whose election would assure the election of a republican majority to both branches of congress.

Mr. Wood pointed to the former vice president's record as spokesman for President McKinley in the senate before and during the Spanish war, to his part in framing the policy of the nation toward territorial acquisitions and to his championing of sound money and a protective tariff as proof that he was fitted by ability and experience to guide the destinies of the nation during the trying times ahead. He declared that Mr. Fairbanks, who had marched from an Ohio log cabin to a senatorship and to the vice presidency of the United States, was in the zenith of his intellectual powers. Referring to the split in the party four years ago, he said Indiana's son spoke whenever called upon during the embittered campaign that followed, always expounded republican doctrine, but at no time imputing evil motive to anyone who "for the time had departed from the house of the fathers."

With Indiana again the great political battleground of the country, Mr. Wood suggested that wisdom in the choice of a presidential candidate would make certain the election of two senators from that state.

"In selecting our candidate," said Representative Wood at the outset, "we will be actuated by but one prime purpose, and guided by but one supreme desire, that is, to name a man who will stand four square to all the winds that blow against the honor, the dignity and rightful prosperity of the republic, and who will, at the end of his tenure of office, leave, as the brightest heritage of his administration, his entire country and all its citizens prosperous and at peace with all the world, and the republican party, that confided to him its trust, firmly entrenched in the confidence and affections of the nation.

"In order that this may be, our candidate should be a man who possesses as nearly as possible all the qualifications of heart and mind that are so requisite to the fullest discharge of the duties of this great office.

"He should be a man with a grasp of the necessities of the hour, a statesman in every sence of the word, broad-minded and just, who knows not only the needs of his country and its people

What Harmony Committee Reported to Conventions

"To the Republican National Convention:—Your committee appointed pursuant to the resolution adopted at yesterday's session, met in conference with a committee representing the national progressive convention last evening. That the progressive committee of conference consisted of Mr. Perkins of New York, Johnson of California, Bonaparte of Maryland, Wilkinson of New York and Parker of Louisiana. The conference was frank, free and most friendly. The conferees were of one mind in believing that the good of the country and perhaps its repute and influence for years to come depends upon the complete defeat of the present democratic administration and the restoration of the control of the executive and legislative branches of the government to the hands of those who firmly believe in and will execute the policies that are so heartily supported by the republican and the progressive parties alike. The conferees were unanimous in urging temperateness and fairness. As to the progressive opinion that Theodore Roosevelt of New York had so large a personal following and such a close personal relation to the issues of the coming campaign as to make him the most desirable candidate upon which to unite, it was agreed that your conferees would report these facts to this convention. Respectfully submitted."

The report was signed by Read Smoot, W. Murray Crane, W. E. Borah, A. R. Johnson and Nicholas Murray Butler.

Report of the Progressives.

"The Progressive National Convention:—Your committee appointed pursuant to the resolution adopted at yesterday's session met in conference with the committee representing the republican national convention last evening. The committee of conference representing the republican national convention consisted of Messrs. Reed Smoot, W. Murray Crane, William E. Borah, Nicholas Murray Butler and A. R. Johnson.

"The conference was most friendly. Immediately upon assembling your committee proposed as the joint nominee of both conventions the name of Theodore Roosevelt. The committee representing the republican national committee did not present the name of any candidate, nor did it attempt to refute our arguments relating to the unique availability of Theodore Roosevelt as a candidate to unite both parties or to serve our common country at this crucial period in the history of the world. After several hours of friendly discussion, during which no concrete proposition was advanced by the republican conferees, except that a further conference might be desirable this afternoon or evening, the joint committee adjourned."

It Is Fort Wayne's Supreme Moment, Says Rev. Mr. Folsom

The supreme moment in the history of Fort Wayne has come.

The pageant is the most artistic event, not only in the history of this city, but in the history of America. From the point of view of our national life Fort Wayne holds a most prominent position, serving as "the glorious gateway of the west." During the past one hundred years, more history has been made in this vicinity than in any other in all the middle west. And today, in this magnificent celebration, patriotism reaches its highest note within our gates. This patriotism should find practical expression.

If bad weather continues, so that we cannot use our tickets, let us be large enough, unselfiish enough and loyal enough to Fort Wayne to forget it and not ask our money back. Every true citizen of Fort Wayne will most gladly share in the misfortune of the past week. The centennial committee has worked day and night, and thousands of dollars have been invested in the celebration, to make this the greatest event in our history. These men must have the support of all loyal Fort Wayne citizens.

The pageant typifies the significance of all the labors of our fathers and our mothers, who founded our city, established our schools, built our public buildings and consecrated our homes—their prophecy of a glorious tomorrow. Thus our celebration is a thing of joy, of beauty, and of loftiest patriotism. It appeals also to our deepest religious and moral life.

Hundreds of Fort Wayne people have declared that the glorious event of Wednesday night was the most beautiful, elaborate and artistic thing they have ever seen.

If you have not seen this most wonderful of all pageants, avail yourself of this opportunity without fail.

LOITERERS SWELL THE CITY DOCKET

George White, a youngster who gave Cleveland, O., as his hailing place and Chicago as his destination, had a box of cheap rings when he was arrested by Officer Ellyson. White said he bought the rings to sell in the northwest. He was detained under bond for investigation.

Gregg Baker and Claud Chappell, who have been tarrying at the East Columbia street mission for some days, and claim to have just established a firm for engaging in the painting business, were held until next Monday on loitering charges and put under $200 bond.

James McCann, arrested by Officer Webber, was lurking in the dark stairway alongside a jewelry store on Calhoun street near the railroads south. He was partly soused and could not give an account of himself and was sent in. On a drunk charge he was continued until Monday under bond.

Work Was Rough and Premature.

Paul Balmat said he was journeying through Fort Wayne from Alliance, O., to points west and the pretty colors and bright lights lured him from his train for a stopover and a share in the frolics of Fort Wayne's fete. He was diligent in his efforts and by 12:30 Friday morning was so well lit up that he was war-whooping like a pageant Indian and undertaking the premature removal of the patriotic decorations on Calhoun street. Officer Glenn Johnston sent him in and Judge Kerr fined him $10 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Dick Brennan Back to Farm.

Dick Brennan, a city court regular, was tried on a charge of drunkenness, with previous convictions, and was sentenced to pay $100 fine and thirty days at the state penal farm—140 days all told. This will be the bibulous Richard's second term at that rustic institution.

Other City Court Cases.

Of the drunks Cherry Anderson and Charles Sturgart were fined $1 and costs each, Luke Ganon and James Haring were turned loose, and A. B. Smith, a youngster who was well loaded and riding a bicycle on the sidewalk on Calhoun street, drew $5 and costs. A set of steel knucks was found in his pocket.

George East and Peter McConnell, two well dressed and respectable young men from Warsaw, were arrested at the exposition grounds Thursday night by an over-zealous private officer employed there. They were shown to have been committing no offense and Judge Kerr let them go.

Jasper Carlson talked too much to Officer John Hill, who was investigating an automobile smash near the Calhoun street subway and was sent in on a disorderly charge. He gave bond and defaulted appearance save by counsel, and was fined $5 and costs

George Russell was found guilty of stealing a small sum of money from the home of Mrs. Oestermeier, who keeps a boarding house on Montgomery street, and was fined $10 and costs and given fifteen days in jail.

Harry Howard, a loiterer held for two or three days for investigation, was found guilty and given an indefinite continuance. He at first lied to the detectives who questioned him concerning his name and his possession of an automobile of which he could not tell the license number aroused suspicion.

LIKELY TO LOSE LEG.

GERARD REPUDIATES SPURIOUS INTERVIEW

Did Not Make Statements Attributed on Wilson's Peace Efforts.

Berlin, June 9.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—The American ambassador, James W. Gerard, has repudiated an interview recently attributed to him on the subject of President Wilson's peace efforts, the Overseas News agency says:

The ambassador also is quoted as asserting that Count Frederich von Westarp, conservative leader in the reichstag, desired Mr. Gerard to have a spurios interview published some time ago, but that the ambassador declined.

According to a statement given out by the news agency today, a manuscript containing a copy of the spurious interview, was submitted to Mr. Gerard with the idea that it was to have been published in the National Zeitung, but the ambassador refused to sanction it. The statement follows:

"Ambassador Gerard stated to a staff member of the Vossiche Zeitung that he never made the utterances in regard to President Wilson's proposed peace mediation attributed to him and quoted in the reichstag. The conservative leader, Count von Westarp, said that Mr. Gerard had announced President Wilson's intentions to mediate for peace and for this purpose to exert pressure on the belligerents, which he (Count von Westarp) was unwilling to agree to.

"Mr. Gerard now states that Count von Westarp had desired that he have a spurious interview published some time ago, by the National Zeitung, that he was unable to give him any information. On seeing the manuscript Mr. Gerard declared that it was untrue and therefore withheld the manuscript.

ADMITS RESULTS ASTONISHED HER

Mrs. Martha E. Hanna, wife of a well known salesman for the Perfection Biscuit company, of 331 West Superior street, is highly pleased with the big benefits she gained through use of Tanlac, the new medicine. She said:

"For the last ten years I have suffered from a complication of troubles. I had stomach trouble, constipation and indigestion bothering me. Frequently slight attacks of kidney trouble caused pains in my back. Catarrh of the head bothered me and I had a bronchial cough. Pains in my stomach were so severe I could hardly sleep at night. I was so weak I had to support myself on chairs to get around.

"I am astonished and delighted with the results of my taking one bottle of Tanlac. I have gained in strength so that I can walk blocks now without tiring. The pains in my stomach are disappearing; my head is becoming clear of catarrh, and the bronchial cough is much better. I can sleep all night long now because I do not suffer from aches and pains.

"I've thrown all my other medicines away since taking Tanlac."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at Meyer Drug Co.'s stores—Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 142 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor. —Advertisement.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 6.
GOLDEN TEXT—God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.—Gal. 6:7.

We turn aside today to consider the second temperance lesson for the year. Paul's letter to the churches of Galatia strongly contrasts law and grace. It's key verse is ch. 2:16, and its most prominent word is "law." many claim verse one of Chapter 5 as its golden verse. This final chapter is a most practical one and rich in suggestion regarding our social relations. Let each member come prepared to give a temperance application or to ask a temperance question.

I. "Bear Ye One Another's Burdens" (vv. 1-5). If a man trespass, be surprised in a sin, be caught in the very act, or surprised into committing a sin, "ye which are spiritual" (literally, guided and governed by the spirit; ch. 5:16-25) are to restore such a one. This is to be done, not by cutting off or casting aside the erring one, but as a dislocated limb is restored to its place, so we are to "restore" that one to his place as a believer; each believer being a member of the body of Christ (I Cor. 12:12, 14, 27); one who falls into sin is a dislocated limb or member, and the stronger ones are to restore him to his proper place. This must be done, however, not with any sense of our own infallibility, but in meekness, gentleness and with great tenderness. (See II Tim. 2:24-26). Paul's reason for this, "lest thou also be tempted" should lay low the pride any of us who have not fallen might feel (v. 1; Math. 7:2-5; Jas. 2:13). Instead of exclaiming, "I could never have done any such act," we ought rather to say, "But for the grace of God I might have done even worse than that." (I Cor. 10:13). The burdens (v. 2) or weights which we are to bear are not the unnecessary details of the Mosaic law (Math. 23:4; Acts 15:10) but rather they are the temptations, weaknesses and failures of others. The master "came not to be ministered unto but to minister" and was "tempted in all points," "touched with a feeling of our infirmities" and in our thus sharing with each other we but follow in his steps (Ch. 5:4; John 13:34, 15:12; Romans 15:3). This is the "law of Christ," not onerous, not a grievous burden, not necessarily an obligation, but a "law" because he, our "file leader," fully and perfectly exemplifies it (Phil. 2:5-8). It is chiefly self-conceit and spiritual pride (v. 3) which stands in the way of gentle forbearance in dealing with our erring brothers. Such pride does not usually deceive others (Jas. 1:22-24) and he who is so controlled, "deceiveth himself."

II. "Whatsoever a Man Soweth" vv. 6-8. While each must so bear his burden, yet those who are taught are to help those who teach to bear their burdens by contributing "in all good things" (Rom. 15:27; I Cor. 9:11-14). Paul sounds a solemn warning to those who refuse thus to help forward the work of righteousness, those who fail to support others and think that their selfishness will accrue to their advantage (v. 7). The natural world has many illustrations of this immutable law. Men may mock (sneer at) this law, but find eventually that there is no escape from its operation. This law has many applications. The one in the context is, first, a physical one, (v. 8), a most familiar one to us all. The same is true spiritually, and has been repeatedly illustrated throughout the history of the Christian church. (II Cor. 9:56; Prov. 11:24). In all of our actions, physical, mental, moral, social and spiritual, we reap what we sow; like in kind, sown sparingly we reap sparingly; abundantly, and we reap in abundance.

III. "We Shall Reap, If We Faint Not" vv. 9-18. Paul now proceeds to make the practical application. If we act under the leadership of the Spirit, (See ch. 5:16-25) we avoid carnal mindedness, and we are sowing to the Spirit and of the Spirit (who is life John 6:63; II Cor. 3:6), we shall reap "life eternal," i. e., life which is endless in duration and divine in its essence. There must be, however, persistence. We must not withhold the good seed nor refrain from sowing it if we are to reap the reward suggested in verses nine and ten. If we do so withhold, or should we sow ought but the "good seed," we will surely reap the awful harvest suggested in verses 7 and 8. Temporal weariness or discouragement will not excuse us for any negligence. Nor are we to be impatient, for "in due season," in God's time (I Tim. 6:14, 15) we shall reap; not perhaps immediately, but the issue is certain.

Some fail to reap because of laxity; others continue cultivation too long; still others, by overlooking their "opportunity" to do good (v. 10) and hence having not sown, they cannot reap.

Paul suggests (v. 12) that the sowing of which he speaks is not for any outward show, nor for conformity to the edicts and regulations of men in order to avoid persecution. (v. 12 R. V.).

MAKING PAPER FROM SEVERAL NEW WOODS

Ingenuity of Manufacturers is Showing Excellent Results.

Washington, June 7.—That satisfactory wood pulp can be made from a number of heretofore little known woods is evidenced by a government publication just issued, which contains seventy samples of paper manufactured by different processes, chiefly from woods heretofore practically unused for this purpose.

It is pointed out that the spruce forests of the country are threatened with exhaustion and that the cost of spruce pulpwood has steadily increased. If the price of newsprint paper is to be kept at a reasonable figure, say the experts, more efficient methods of converting spruce into pulp must be developed or cheaper woods substituted for it.

The bulletin goes on to say that the method of manufacturing groundwood pulp has changed very little since its introduction into this country in 1867. It was with the idea of developing new methods and improving the old that tests were undertaken at the forest service laboratories at Wausau and Madison, Wisconsin. As a result, the relation of the different steps in the manufacturing process to each other has been definitely established and the merits of each treatment determined. The paper made from new woods was given a practical tryout by two large newspapers with satisfactory results.

The tests showed that eleven new woods give promise of being suitable for the production of news print paper, while a number of others will produce manila paper and boxboards. Most of these woods are confined to the west, while the groundwood industry now obtains the bulk of its raw material from the east. It is thought that pulp-making plants must eventually move to points where they can obtain a plentiful supply of wood and an abundance of cheap water-power, two prime requisites in the business.

The experts say that because the national forests contain immense quantities of the suitable woods and abundant opportunities for power development, they will undoubtedly play an important part in the future of the wood pulp industry.

Bowel Complaints in India.

In a lecture at one of the Des Moines, Iowa, churches a missionary from India told of going into the interior of India, where he was taken sick, that he had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with him and believed that it saved his life. This remedy is used successfully in India, both as a preventive and cure for cholera. You may know from this that it can be depended upon for the milder forms of bowel complaint that occur in this country. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Four Couples in Town of 600 Are Married Same Day.

Jeffersonville, Ind., June 8.—Sellersburg, a town of about 600 population, had a thrilling experience when Cupid ran amuck and bagged four couples, practically with one arrow. A sister and brother were among the principals in a double wedding, by the Rev. J. P. Maupin, a retired Methodist minister. They were Miss Katherine Baxter, who was married to Clarence R. Beyl, and Raymond G. Baxter, who married Miss Pearl A. Newby, age sixteen. Simon E Townsend and Miss Minnie Jane Prather were married about the same time, by the Rev. Clinton Davidson, of the Christian church, and Walter H. Adams and Miss Lottie I. Cooper came to Jeffersonville and were married by Frank Ogden, justice of the peace.

"There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

1 Timothy 4:6-16.

6 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained.

8 For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.

10 For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe.

11 These things command and teach.

13 Till I come give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine.

14 Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery.

15 Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear to all.

16 Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee.

A Wholesome Message.

The Sentinel trusts none of its readers will fail to give thorough and thoughtful perusal to the centennial address by Ex-President Taft in Fort Wayne, which was printed in full in this newspaper Thursday evening. It was a wholesome message, the fruits of years of studious thought, years of observation in various capacities, and years of close familiarity with the governmental needs and problems of the people.

"We frequently fail to appreciate the burdens and duties which the enojyment of government entails upon us if we are to be a part of it," said Mr. Taft early in his address. "We are much more prone to dwell upon our rights under a system of government than our obligations to maintain it." Herein the former president struck the keynote of the wise counsel he gave to the people of Fort Wayne and to the state of Indiana on this centennial occasion. Government, as we ordinarily think of it, is an impersonal thing—the duty and the responsibility of somebody else, and only incidentally a concern, and not a very deep concern, either, of our own. We somehow expect, without especial attention or interest on our part, that the rest of the people will carry the burden, develop the system, provide good government, safe government and clean government, and not bother us about it. We are wrapped in our own affairs and perhaps consider ourselves too busy to be burdened with matters of this character.

Mr. Taft sought to place tremendous emphasis upon the element of personal responsibility, uttering in another form the old truism that popular government will be precisely as good or as bad as the people under it determine it shall be. The shifting of responsibility is invariably attended by consequences that give rise to complaint and that entail unnecessary hardships and bring conditions against which we rail loudly and usually ineffectively. His second basic point might be set forth as a preachment of the gospel of self-restraint and of obedience to authority and of respect for enacted law. The defiance of law is never less than a blow at government itself. Usually, of course, it is attended by its penalty, but the unfortunate phase of the matter is that this is not realized in advance in sufficiently strong a fashion to prevent the over-stepping.

Mr. Taft's governmental ideals are high. We may not all agree with his views on many questions. Politically there is often a wide gulf between the ex-president and many people; but nowhere will there be found a critic who will question Mr. Taft's sturdy citizenship or the value of his advice that is the fruit of so vast an experience and so lofty a citizenship. Mr. Taft is seeking nothing for himself. He is outside the province of the mere politician and has risen to the higher dignity of real American citizenship. We may well accept his counsel as the thoughtful admonition of one who is qualified to point the way.

The board of army engineers has made a report to the war department on the proposed barge canal connecting Lake Erie with Lake Michigan by way of the Maumee river and Fort Wayne that is adverse in character because, in the judgment of the engineers, the commercial benefits likely to accrue would not justify the expenditure necessary in order to construct the waterway. It has been well known for some time that the entire project hinged upon this phase of the question. The practicability of the construction was demonstrated beyond question. The future of the waterway, therefore, is much beclouded, but we very much mistake the enthusiasm and the determination of the local boosters if they do not take an appeal to the court of last resort before finally striking their colors.

The suggestion of arbitration of the differences between the United States and Mexico—the submission of our wrangles to an international commission for peaceable adjustment—may be an excellent one, but it has its drawbacks. In dealing with a land like Mexico, there is always the likelihood that it will fail to stand hitched anywhere on any proposition longer than may be necessary for some new faction to start a revolution. It is extremely doubtful if a finding by any international commission would have weight with the turbulent Mexican. There are too many different kinds of him, and all of them most uncertain.

Hopes of the equal suffragists for a square-toed declaration in favor of votes for women in the republican platform must admit a crushing disappointment in the outcome of their endeavor. After the sub-committee has once rejected the plea ,the entire committee ordered the suffrage plang inserted, and later took all the punch out of it by "recognizing the right" of each state to settle the thing for itself. So, we are just about where we started on this question.

Speaking of centennial weather—but what's the use.

HOOSIERS

(Indiana Daily Times).

One of the pleasing features of the political situation as Indiana republicans find it at the republican national convention is the cordial unanimity and helpful spirit displayed by Indiana sons now resident in Hoosierdom and those who are exiles, living in other states far away. From the first day of the start of the Fairbanks presidential campaign in Chicago, preliminary to the convention, there has been a steady drift of former Indiana men into the Fairbanks headquarters. First came the Indiana men who now live in Chicago. They were not only hospitable, but they were helpful in pushing the Fairbanks candidacy. With the coming of delegates and workers from other states, former Indiana men have been numerous and Indiana headquarters and the Fairbanks rooms have been literally filled by the constant stream of former Hoosiers, all calling for badges and enlisting as Fairbanks boosters. When it is stated that a man is a Hoosier or a former Hoosier it is not necessary to add he is in politics. The organizations and delegations from the various states are well manned by former Indiana republicans and these old-time Hoosiers form a Fairbanks propaganda medium that can not be excelled. Indiana has given tone to the population and to the politics of many sister commonwealths by contributing of her sons from year to year. It is pleasing to find that the Hoosier prodigals coming home to boost, as it were, in the traditional Hoosier spirit with the old fire.

Republican Platform Adopted at Chicago

"In 1861 the republican party stood for the union. As it stood for the union of states, it now stands for an united people, true to American ideals, loyal to American traditions, knowing no allegience except to the constitution, to the government and to the flag of the United States. We believe in American policies at home and abroad.

Protection of American Rights.

"We declare that we believe in and will enforce the protection of every American citizen in all the rights secured to him by the constitution, treaties and the law of nations at home and abroad, by land and sea. These rights, which in violation of the specific promise of their party made at Baltimore in 1912, the democratic president and the democratic congress have failed to defend, we will unflinchingly maintain.

Foreign Relations.

"We desire peace, the peace of justice and right, and believe in maintaining a straight and honest neutrality between the belligerents in the great war in Europe. We must perform all our duties and insist on our rights as neutrals without fear or favor. We believe that peace and neutrality, as well as the dignity and influence of the United States, cannot be preserved by shifty expedients, by phrase making, by performances in language, or by attitudes ever changing in an effort to secure groups of voters. The present administration has destroyed our influence abroad and humiliated us in our own eyes. The republican party believes that a firm, consistant and courageous foreign policy, always maintained by republican presidents in accordance with American traditions, is the best, as it is the only through way to preserve our peace and restore us to our rightful place among the nations. We believe in the pacific settlement of international disputes and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose.

Mexico.

"We deeply sympathize with the 15,000,000 people of Mexico, who for three years have seen their country devastated, their homes destroyed, their fellow citizens murdered and their women outraged by armed bands of desperadoes led by self-seeking, conscienceless agitators who, when temporarily successful in any locality have neither sought nor been able to restore order or establish and maintain peace.

"We express our horror and indignation at the outrages which have been and are being perpetrated by these bandits upon American men and women who were or are in Mexico by invitation of the laws and of the government or that country and whose rights to security of person and property are guaranteed by solemn treaty obligations. We denounce the indefensible methods of interference employed by this administration in the internal affairs of Mexico and refer with shame to its failure to discharge the duty of this country as next friend to Mexico, its duty to other powers who have relied upon us as such friend, and its duty to our citizens in Mexico, in permitting the continuance of such conditions, first by failure to act promptly and firmly, and second by lending its influence to the continuation of such conditions through recognition of one of the factions responsible for these outrages.

"We pledge our aid in restoring order and maintaining peace in Mexico. We promise to our citizens on and near our border, and to those in Mexico, wherever they may be found, adequate and absolute protection in their lives, liberty and property.

Monroe Doctrine.

"We reaffirm our approval of the Monroe doctrine and declare its maintenance to be a policy of this country essential to its present and future peace and safety and to the achievement of its manifest destiny.

Latin America.

"We favor the continuance of republican policies which will result in drawing more and more closely the commercial, financial and social relations between this country and the countries of Latin-America.

Philippines.

"We renew our allegiance to the Philippine policy inaugurated by McKinley, approved by congress and consistently carried out by Roosevelt and Taft. Even in this short time it has enormously improved the material and social conditions of the islands, given the Philippine people a constantly increasing population in their government and, if persisted in, will bring still greater benefits in the future.

"We accepted the responsibility of the islands as a duty to civilization and the Filipino people. To leave with our task half done would break our pledges, injure our prestige among nations and imperil what has already been accomplished.

"We condemn the democratic administration for its attempt to abandon the Philippines, which was prevented only by the vigorous opposition of republican members o fcongress, aided by a few patriotic democrats.

"We reiterate our unqualified approval of the action taken in December, 1911, by the president and congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation and prevent all discrimination of whatever kind between American citizens whether native born or alien, and regardless of race, religion, or previous political allegiance. We renew the pledge to observe this principle and to maintain the right of asylum which is neither to be surrendered nor restricted and we unite in the cherished hope that the war which is now desolating the world may speedily end with a complete and lasting restoration of brotherhood among the nations of the earth and the assuranec of full equal rights, civil and religious, to all men in every land.

Protection of the country.

"In order to maintain our people and make certain the security of our people within our own borders the country must have not only adequate but thorough and complete national defense, ready for any emergency. We must have a sufficient and effective regular army, and a provision for ample reserves, already drilled and disciplined, who can be called at once to the colors when the hour of danger comes.

"We must have a navy so strong and so well proportioned and equipped, so thoroughly ready and prepared, that no enemy can gain command of the sea and effect a landing in force on either our western or our eastern coast. To secure these results we must have a coherent and continuous policy of national defense which even in these perilous days the democratic party has utterly failed to develop, but which we promise to give to the country.

Tariff.

"The republican party stands now, as always, in the fullest sense for the policy of tariff protection to American industries and American labor and does not regard an anti-dumping provision as an adequate substitute. Such protection should be reasonable in amount but sufficient to protect adequately American industry and American labor and be so adjusted as to prevent undue exactions by monopolies or trusts. It should moreover give special attention to securing the industrial independence of the United States as in the case of dye stuffs.

"Through wise tariff and industrial legislation our industries can be so organized that they will become not only a commercial bulwark, but a powerful aid to national defense.

"The Underwood tariff act as a complete failure in every respect. Under its administration imports have enormously increased in spite of the fact that the intercourse with foreign countries has been largely cut off by reason of the war, while the revenues of which we stand in such dire need have been greatly reduced. Under the normal conditions which prevailed prior to the war it was clearly demonstrated that this act deprived the American producer and the American wage earner of that protection which entitled them to meet their forcompetitors and but for the adventitious conditions created by the war, would long since have paralyzed all forms of American industry and deprived American labor of its just reward.

"It has not in the least reduced the cost of living which has constantly advanced from the date of its enactment. The welfare of our people demands its repeal and the substitution of a measure which in peace as well as in war will produce ample revenue and give reasonable protection to all forms of American production in mine, forest, field and factory.

"We favor the creation of a tariff commission with complete power to gather and compile information for the use of congress in all matters relating to the tariff.

Business.

"The republican party has long believed in the right supervision and strict regulation of the transportation and great corporations of the country. It has put its creed into its deeds and all really effective laws regulating the railroads and the great industrial corporations are the work of republican congresses and presidents. For this policy of regulation and supervision the democrats in a stumbling piece-meal way are undertaking to involve the government in business which should be left within the sphere of private enterprise and in direct competition with its own citizens, a policy which is sure to result in waste, great expense to the taxpayer and in an inferior product.

"The republican party firmly believes that all who violate the laws in regulation of business should be individually punished. But prosecution is very different from persecution, and business success no matter how honestly attained is apparently regarded by the democratic party as in itself a crime. Such bitterness and beliefs choke enterprise and stifle prosperity. The republican party believes in encouraging American business as it believes in and will seek to advance all American interests.

Rural Credits.

"We favor an effective system of rural credits as opposed to the ineffective law proposed by the present democratic administration.

Rural Free Delivery.

"We favor the extension of the rural free delivery system and condemn the democratic administration for curtailing and crippling it.

Merchant Marine.

"In view of the policies adopted by all the maritime nations to encourage the shipping interests and in order to enable us to compete with them for the ocean carrying trade, we favor the payment to ships engaged in the foreign trade of liberal compensation for services actually rendered in carrying the mails, and such further legislation as will build up an adequate American merchant marine, and give us ships which may be requisitioned by the government in time of national emergency.

"We are utterly opposed to the government ownership of vessels as proposed by the democratic party, because government ownership, while effectively preventing the development of the American merchant marine by private capital, will be entirely unable to provide for the vast volume of American freights and will leave us more helpless than ever in the hard grip of foreign syndicates.

Transportation.

"Interstate and intra-state transportation have become so interwoven that the attempt to apply two and often several sets of laws to its regulation has produced conflicts of authority, embarrassment in operation and inconvenience and expense to the public.

"The entire transportation system of the country has become essentially national. We, therefore, favor such action by legislation or, if necessary, through an amendment to the constitution of the United States, and will result in placing it under exclusive federal control.

Economy and a National Budget.

"The increasing cost of the national government and the need for the greatest economy of its resources in order to meet the growing demands of the people for government service call for the severest condemnation of the wasteful appropriations of this democratic administration, of its shameless raids on the treasury and of its opposition to and rejection of President Taft's oft repeated proposals and earnest efforts to secure economy and efficiency through the establishment of a simple businesslike budget system, to which we pledge our support and which we hold to be necessary to effect any real reform in the administration of national finances.

Conservation.

Civil Service Reform.

"The civil service law has always been sustained by the republican party and we renew our repeated declaration that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable. The democratic party has created since March 4, 1913, thirty thousand offices outside of the civil service law at an annual cost of forty-four million dollars to the taxpayers of the country.

"We condemn the gross abuse and the misuse of the law by the present democratic administration and pledge ourselves to a reorganization of this service along lines of efficiency and economy.

Territorial Officials.

"Reaffirming the attitude long maintained by the republican party, we hold that officials appointed to administer the government of any territory should be bona fide residents of the territory in which their duties are to be performed.

Labor Laws.

"We pledge the republican party to the faithful enforcement of all federal laws passed for the protection of labor. We favor vocational education; the enactment of a federal child labor law; the enactment of a generous and comprehensive workmen's compensation law, within the commerce power of congress, and an accident compensation law covering all government employes. We favor the collection and collation under the direction of the department of labor of complete data relating to industrial hazards for the information of congress, to the end that such legislation may be adopted as may be calculated to secure the safety, conservation and protection of labors from the dangers incident to industry and transportation.

Suffrage.

"The republican party, reaffirming its faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people, as a measure of justice to one-half the adult people of this country, favors the extension of the suffrage to women, but recognizes the right of each state to settle this question for itself.

"Such are our principles such are our purposes and policies. We close as we began. The times are dangerous and the future is fraught with peril. The great issues of the day have been confused by words and phrases. The American spirit, which made the country and saved the union, has been forgotten by those charged with the responsibility of power. We appeal to all Americans, whether naturalized or native born, to prove to the world that we are Americans in thought and in deed, with one loyalty, one hope, one aspiration. We call on all Americans to be true to the spirit of America, to the great traditions of their common country, and above all things, to keep the faith."

WHERE THE DEMOCRATS WILL RENAME WILSON

Will Be First Political Convention in the St. Louis Coliseum.

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—The democratic national convention, which assembles here on June 14, will be the first political convention to be held in the St. Louis coliseum. The first public meeting in this building was in the presidential campaign of 1908, when William H. Taft, republican nominee, spoke there. At that time the coliseum was not completed. Fifteen thousand persons crowded into the structure for that opening.

The coliseum was built in 1907-1908 at a cost of $336,000. As arranged for the democratic national convention, it will seat approximately 10,990 persons. This seating capacity is obtained as follows:

On the platform are 512 seats. In the section for daily newspaper correspondents and press associations are 472 seats.

Sections set apart for the editors of democratic weekly papers in Missouri and Illinois will accommodate 238 more persons.

Seats will be provided for 1,076 delegates and the same number of alternates, though there may be some slight change in these figures in case some states send extra delegates with a fractional vote.

This makes a total of 9,818. Extra seats placed wherever possible throughout the building brings the total seating capacity to about 10,000.

The building is so designed that there is room on the arena floor only for the delegates, alternates and the daily and weekly newspaper men.

Building an Octagon.

The coliseum is an octagon, considerably narrowed at one end by a diagonal side wall. The greatest length of the building is from north to south, and its narrowest dimension from east to west has been railed off for the platform and press sections. The platform is forty feet wide, and immediately back of the speakers' stand and the tables for tellers and clerks a platform extention rises to the rear of the upper balcony. This extension contains seats for 512 persons. These seats were distributed by the national committee, and the members of the committee and their immediate parties are to occupy most of them.

Around the arena floor on three sides are the boxes, which are reserved for specially invited guests—party leaders of prominence, diplomats, etc.

That part of the public which is not fortunate enough to have platform or box seats is to be accommodated in the arena balcony, which rises immediately from the boxes, and in the balcony, which corresponds to the second gallery in most public halls.

The total number of seats available for the public therefore is 5,894, and the distribution of part of these is allotted to the St. Louis committee which raised the $100,000 convention fund.

On the west side of the coliseum, back of the speakers' platform, are the work rooms for the press associations and the telegraph companies. As this space, as originally planned, proved too narrow to accomodate the press associations, an eighty-foot passageway through this section was abandoned, and by order of the mayor an alley in the rear of the coliseum was vacated, and covered with an awning. This serves as a passageway. A passageway under the platform leads from the press sections on the arena floor to the work and telegraph rooms in the rear.

On the north side of the building—the Washington avenue side—is a large emergency hospital; on the south side are the rooms of the democratic national committee, and on the east—or Jefferson avenue—side is the room of the sergeant at arms, and the convention postoffice.

The decorations of the coliseum were designed by Edward C. Dillman, of St. Louis. In order to obtain as much daylight as possible, the walls of the coliseum have been painted white. To get the full benefit of this reflection it was necessary to exclude decorations from the walls. The decorations, accordingly have been placed around the front of the balcony and boxes and on the supporting columns that run around the building.

Plaster relief medallions of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson, each 4 by 3 feet, are placed on the supporting columns clear around the building, and each medallion is surrounded by American flags. The columns are covered with bunting, and the boxes are hung with the national colors. To improve the light reflection, six thousand yards of white muslin cover the ceiling, except for a strip down the center, which is hung in the national colors. Altogether 30,000 yards of bunting were used in the decoration of the convention hall and 600 to 700 American flags. The platform, of course, is draped with bunting and flags.

The Western Union Telegraph company has a cable of 100 wires into the coliseum, and the Postal Telegraph company has more than fifty. These wires do not include the leased wires of the press association, but are for private and newspaper telegrams.

Two hundred to three hundred policemen will be assigned to the coliseum during convention sessions to preserve order and block activities by pickpockets.

The St. Louis coliseum is on Jefferson avenue, between Washington avenue and Locust street. It is two miles west of the retail business district and from the Planters hotel, where many of the party leaders will be quartered during the convention; it is a mile west of the Jefferson hotel, where the democratic national committee is housed, and is about three-quarters of a mile north and west of Union station. The coliseum is about five minutes' car ride from the Jefferson hotel and ten minutes from the center of the business district.

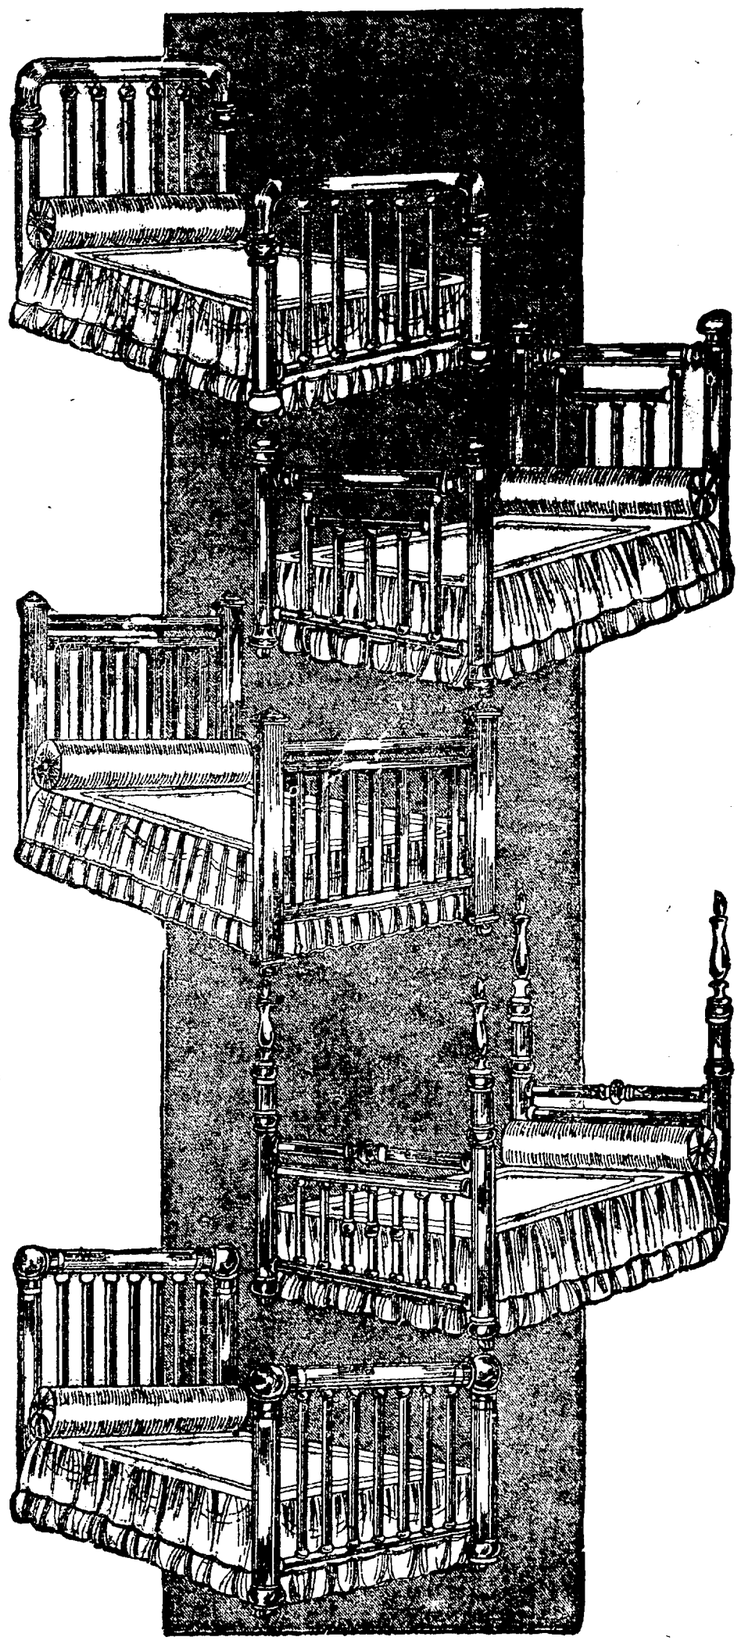
Another Big Brass Bed Offer

This store has made many exceptional offers in the past, those applying to Brass Beds have not been any the less exceptional than those applying to other items, but if you will glance over the descriptions printed below you will readily agree that never has an offer been made in Fort Wayne that exceeds this one. Beds have gone up—true enough, but you have only to come in and see the wonderful stock on our floors to appreciate how little this advance has affected our prices.



Cash or Credit

The following are a few of the wonderful bargains we are offering in Brass Beds for the next week:

2-Inch Continuous Post Brass Bed, $11.75

Here's a Brass Bed with large 2-inch posts, and heavy center fillers that would probably cost twenty per cent. more at any other store. The Combined Buying Organization of which we are members buy this particular style of beds in carloads. That accounts for the value we are able to give. The lacquering on this bed, as with all Hadley Brass Beds, is guaranteed absolutely.

Five Filler Brass Bed, $7.75

Here's another big value. Although the price of this pattern has gone up enormously we have a sufficient number on hand to be able to continue offering them at the same old price. A particularly pleasing pattern with the unique caps surmounting the center fillers and posts.

2-Inch Posts, Five 1-Inch Fillers, $15.50

Another pattern that will find favor with many buyers. Its style will adapt itself to any surroundings and no matter how your bedroom may be furnished this pattern will fit in with the arrangement nicely.

30-Filler Brass Bed, $18.75

The center fillers in this bed makes it a very attractive as well as a most unusual pattern. The price on this style is another evidence of the accomplishment of our Combined Buying Power. It is a rare value indeed.

2-Inch Posts, 2-Inch Fillers, $19.85

Here's a pattern that we always take pleasure in recommending because we know of so many cases where it has given complete satisfaction. Considering the manufacturers' price on these beds to-day our selling price is a bargain.

Four Poster Period Design Brass Bed, $29.85

If you want something that is truly distinctive indeed here is the pattern for you. The illustration at the left will give you a fair conception of the lines of this bed. The price is 25 per cent. lower than you would be asked elsewhere.

4-Inch Post, Eight 3-Inch Filler Brass Bed, $39.75

And here is one of the most massive patterns we have ever had in our store. It is a beautiful style and unquestionably the highest quality manufactured.

3-Inch Post, Ten 2-Inch Filler Brass Bed $28.75

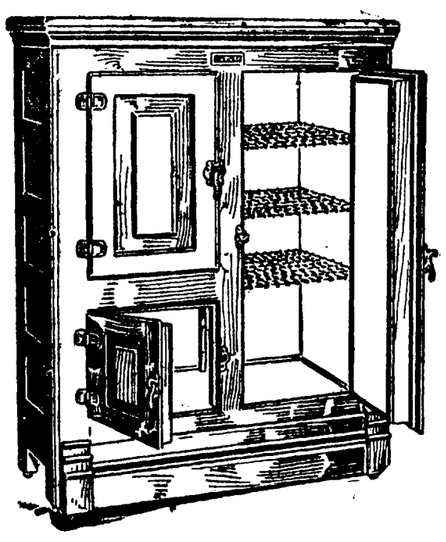
Another bed of massive style. This is probably the first time in the history of the furniture that such a bed ever sold at a price as low as this.

Any of These Beds On Easy Terms

It usually happens that most opportunities to profit by a sale of this kind come when you are unprepared and without ready cash at the time they are offered and you cannot avail yourself of them.

That is not true of this sale. Our usual low credit terms apply on the reduced price. A small payment will bring any one of them to your home and the balance may be arranged to suit you.

This Side-Icer Refrigerator



With 500 Pounds of Ice Free

$16.75

We can safely say that this refrigerator will actually pay for itself. At first glance it may sound like exaggeration, but careful tests have proven it to be the truth. The price of food-stuffs is mounting constantly and it behooves you to save whatever possible. And your saving in foodstuffs, figured with your saving in ice bills, will more than equal your monthly payments on this refrigerator.

Miss Margaret Fisher gave a small luncheon at the English tea room at 1 o'clock today as a compliment to two visiting young ladies, Miss Leonore M. Heller, of Milwaukee, and Miss Gwendolyn Straus, of Ligonier.

It is a pleasure to know the Woman's building, that very unusual place in which to find still more unusual entertainment, is to be kept open on Saturday. Considering the time that all women connected with the woman's work in the centennial, outside of the pageant itself, are giving, the devotion of the chairman-in-chief and all of her assistants and their assistants, to this special feature of the week, this added day of opportunity can only be viewed as most patriotic and unselfish. There are few women who haven't many cares and duties so that giving up personal affairs practically every minute for two weeks, means something besides just work.

Many visitors to the Woman's building yesterday are still congratulating themselves on being there during the time former President W. H. Taft was present, for Mr. Taft gave an impromptu talk for about three minutes in the reception room. It was quite unexpected, but some one had the courage to invite the honorable visitor to speak and Mr. Taft was gracious and courteous enough to do so. Naturally Mr. Taft spoke of women and their efforts towards the centennial celebration, and of women as a sex, their progress and of the influence of the great war in developing the ability of women to take care of themselves with the probable result of more women who will "marry a man because she loves him and not simply to have some one to take care of her," as Mr. Taft expressed it.

Miss Eliza Kline, of California, who made a visit here with her brother, J. J. Kline, and family, then went east on a visit, came back on Thursday and is again the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Kline, of West Wayne street.

Mrs. Sarah Crockett, of Lafayette, is coming here within a few days to make a long visit with her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Dunkelberg, of Fairfield avenue. Mrs. Crockett is not very well and the time of her stay here is entirely indefinite, but probably she will remain all summer.

Mrs. P. A. Bachelor, who lives at the corner of Harrison and Washington streets, had a party o ftheir visitors, all from Angola, at her home on Thursday for dinner and supper. The visitors made the trip here by automobile and came of course to see the sights of Centennial week.

Mrs. Paul Newell Turner, nee Maude Sperry of this city, is now employed on the staff of contributors to the Delineator magazine. Mrs. Turner is writing under the name of Carolyn Cole. Her first article, entitled "Patty Lou Meets a Wee-End," appears in the July issue and others will follow, the September issue of the magazine to have a new "beauty page," of which Mrs. Turner is to have charge.

Miss Marie Berghoff was the honored guest on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at a breakfast at the English tearoom given by Mrs. Oscar Ankenbruck, Mrs. Clem Schiefer and Miss Agnes Cunningham. The members of a sewing club to which the honored guest and the hosts belong formed the company. The arrangement of flowers was particularly happy and pleasing as each guest received a small bouquet of pink rosebuds and swansonia with lace holder and tied with pink ribbons. The table decoration was of peonies.

Miss Helen Miller, of 242 East DeWald street, gave a beautiful party on Thursday afternoon to honor the approaching marriage of Miss Eva Smith. The guests were a club of girls and they spent the time principally in visiting and in looking through the lovely Indian sewing basket that the hostess had fitted up for the bride-to-be. When the delicious afternoon repast was served the company seated themselves at one table laid in the diningroom with a handsome cluny lace luncheon service. In the center was a white basket filled with pink roses, snapdragon and Shasta daisies. Miss Smith received a lovely bouquet.

A beautiful party to honor two young women soon to be married was given by Mrs. Edward Violand at her home in Washington boulevard east, for Miss Solina Dietrick and Miss Rose Bender. A game of progressive rhum was the amusement and there were several prizes given in the contest. The prizes were for first, second and third honors and were won by Mrs. W. F. Ryan, Miss Ludmilla Lauer, Miss Rose Bender, Miss Georgia Lauer, Miss Anna Pothoff and Mrs. Carl Vandagrift, of Centralia, Ill., who is here on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Catherine Dietrich, of 1108 Summit street. The guests gave Miss Bender and Miss Dietrick a shower of gifts miscellaneous in character, and each received many novel things for her bridal outfit and new home. A splendid lunch was served late in the evening and each honor guest found her place at the table marked with pink tulle bows and there were many pink and white peonies used in brass baskets for decorating and pretty place cards that made dainty souvenirs of the occasion.

Miss Jessie McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McDonald, and Mr. Harvey E. Hopkins, son of Mr. Orley Hopkins, of Edgerton, O., were married at the Cathedral rectory on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, by Rev. John A. McCarthy. Miss Mary McDonald, a sister to the bride, was bridesmaid and a cousin to the groom, Mr. John Madden, was groomsman. The bride looked very sweet and attractive in her wedding costume of a white net gown combined with satin and lace, and a white lace hat. The bridal bouquet was composed of bride roses and swansonia. The bridesmaid wore a dainty gown of white French voile with pink ribbon accessories and a white lace hat. Her flowers were pink roses. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, at 901 Eliza street, to immediate relatives who numbered twenty. There were pink shaded candles and pink roses in crystal baskets to add beauty to the bride's table and the wedding cake, handsomely frosted, occupied the center. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins went directly to housekeeping at 836 Eliza street. Both bride and groom have many personal friends interested in their happiness. Mr. Hopkins is a baker employed by the Perfection Biscuit company.

"DON'T TOUCH ME; I'M DEAD"

Hartford City, Ind., June 9.—"Don't touch me, I'm dead!" was the command of a baby voice, as James Cronin, jr., bent over his little son, James Russell Cronin, age six, lying in a limp heap yesterday at the bottom of a large shade tree at their home.

The boy fell twenty feet when a limb broke with him when he was climbing the tree. He was unconscious for only a short time, and no bones were broken.

By Lois Crane.

Sport clothes seem to have stolen the prerogative of the "Fountain of Youth." By donning an effective outfit, the discerning woman knows she can discount years of her life. What is more kindly to the tell-tale lines around the eyes than the broad-brimmed sport hat. The silhouette itself formed by the jaunty, flaring skirt is a challenge to unwelcome years of discretion. Never before has it been possible to wear such glowing, though withal becoming, colors without offending propriety and good taste. Accessories in the form of sailor collars, brightly colored handkerchiefs, belts, are all notes in the melody of youth chanted by ubiquitous sport clothes.

Many attractive features are incorporated in the sport frock pictured above. The skirt is of blue and white striped silk jersey. The extreme fulness is obtained by tiny inverted box-pleats, held in place at the waist by an inch-wide fluting. A smart trimming is afforded by the double row of pleating at the hem. Voluminous patch-pockets complete the fetching skirt. The middy blouse is of white chiffon cloth, with sailor collar and cuffs to match the skirt. Exceptionally smart is the broad-brimmed sport hat. It is of Leghorn, dyed to match the suit. Linen of contrasting color is appliqued upon the crown with buttonhole stitching of worsted. The low shoes of white kid are unusually distinctive.

Novelties in hosiery and especially that of the fair sex are many and most interesting. They are divided into either the sport or dressy class. The former, of course, include those shown for golf, tennis, hunting, and the various other sports. Especially smart are those shown in heavy woolens with zebra stripes either up and down or around the leg. They are decidedly attractive, but, sad enough, only the woman with a dainty ankle could think of wearing them. However, there are fascinating sport hose shown in silk also, with sock bottoms and plain colored tops. These are very attractive for tennis or golf, and may be had in any number of color combinations. Sport stockings in silk are also shown with novel designs, worked out in Polka dots. In this instance also color combinations are used to splendid advantage.

The dressy stockings, of course, include the plain colors in silk or contrasting touch of embroidery or the evidence of dainty clocks. The clock ornament is shown this season in more varied arrangements than ever. There is one that is a draw stitch, permitting an openwork effect. The black trimmed with white and vice-versa prove very popular. Colors, too, are extensively used, and among those most popular are the shades of tan, navy, gray, brown and flesh. The vogue for high kid shoes in both button and laced effects is undoubtedly one reason that there is such a demand for colored silk hose. The increased number of dainty low shoes also create a demand for daintily finished hosiery, for one is lost without the other

AT KEITH PALACE.

NO CHANGE UNTIL MONDAY.

Woolfolk Company to Continue Time, Place and the Girl.

There will be no change of bill at the New Palace until Monday evening, as the Woolfolk Musical Comedy company will continue to present the happy diversion, "The Time, Place and the Girl," at both evening and afternoon performances the remainder of the week. "The Time, Place and the Girl" has survived several seasons through the sheer excellence of the laughable book and the lyrical score. The lines in this comedy set to music are so brilliant as to make the usual musical comedy sound ordinary in comparison and as presented by the Boyle Woolfolk company, with Guy Voyer, Aleen Morrison, Harrie Lee, J. Flanagan and others as principals, the comedy is scoring as emphatically as on its original appearance here.

Opening next Monday the company will be seen in the lilting bundle of merriment, "The Girl Question," which will be presented with performances each evening and matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

TOWN GENIUS IN TROUBLE

People Injured Because Signs He Painted Were True to Nature.

Detroit, June 9.—Here is a story told in a Daily (Mich.) dispatch to the Free Press:

The remarkable genius of Joshua Tripe, the village sign painter, may result in a suit for damages being brought against the village. Tripe a few days ago completed a mail course in sign painting, and to show his skill painted a board fence on the side of a barn standing along the main street. It looked so natural that several farmers have skinned their knuckles trying to hitch their teams to it, and even birds have attempted to light on it, slipping down the sides of the barn to the ground and flying away in disgust.

The climax came, however, when Tripe's bulldog chased a stranger down the street, who in trying to get away attempted to jump the supposed fence and nearly knocked his brains out. Several attorneys have already written the stranger, who gives his name at Frellinghusen, offering legal aid in getting damages.

FIRST WOMAN JURY IN THE UNITED STATES.

Here's a picture of a jury court authorities say is the first jury in the United States composed entirely of women. The jury, in superior court at San Diego, Cal., convicted four Mexicans of highway robbery. Since California women were given the ballot, they have frequently served on juries, but never before formed an entire jury.

GYPSY PRINCESS TO LIVE WITH SISTER

New York, Jne 8.—"No more of the 'long white road,' the gypsy campfire beside the roadway at dusk, and telling fortunes of happy house dwellers, for me," said 15-year-old Gladys McNeill, the Romany princess who, the county court at New Brunswick, N. J., has decided, shall live with her married sister, Mrs. Phoebe Hanson, of Perth Amboy, in a real home instead of with the gypsy tribe of which her father and mother were long known as king and queen.

"Now I can study music, go to a private school, and learn all about making a home in a stationary house," she continued. She was at the home of her sister, very happy.

Gladys, who shows her gypsy blood in her black hair, creamy complexion and hazel eyes full of merriment, is the daughter of Samuel McNeil, an Irishman, a Dublin university graduate, who fell in love with Princess Tryphena Greene, of an English Romany tribe, and married her after leaving the university. They came to America and for years were prominent and respected among the gypsy folk.

CANDIDATES WORKING OVERTIME

One Eighty Thousand Combination Which Closes Saturday at 9 P. M.

With only one short day in which to gain the benefits of the liberal—and incidentally the last—extra vote offer of the "Sentinel Automobile Circulation Campaign," interest now centers in gaining every possible bit of ground before the final hour comes.

Candidates are unanimous in the opinion that through this offer the greatest amount of success can be attained, and as the remaining time can be counted in hours, efforts are being exhibited. Candidates are out day and night, incessantly battling for the votes that will win them some of the most magnificent prizes that have ever been offered in Fort Wayne. With the present offer as an incentive, these candidates are enabled to gather votes by the thousands—indeed, by the hundreds of thousands. And to have plenty of these is to become the possessor of any one of the four magnificent automobiles.

Each and every candidate has so many chances of winning a prize that it is almost an assured fact that every candidate who puts forth any effort at all will secure a valuable award that will fully repay her for the effort put forth. The automobile winners will, of course, receive the most costly prizes, but think of the $100 diamond rings, and the $75 upright phonographs.

Of course an automobile is the thing. And who knows but what just a few more votes will win one of them. Every subscription adds to the chances of victory. There are four of these cars, and this number makes everyone's chances much brighter.

By the way, it is whispered there is a new participant in The Sentinel campaign. No less a personage than Cupid. Of course we can't mention any names, but just the same there is a strong suspicion of it. Here's how the news leaked out. The other day, along about four o'clock in the afternoon, there stepped into the campaign office, a young woman of some twenty years or there-abouts. Understand, that is just a guess. Anyhow, she had a noticeable flush in her face, and her voice seemed to want to bubble forth some joyous news.

She delved into her hand bag and brought forth several subscriptions, and while she was laying them out, she said: "You know, I've simply got to win one of those automobiles now. We—that is, I—er, well, it would come in awfully handy about next September."

All of which illustrates the wonderful benefits of a newspaper circulation campaign such as this. Could one imagine a more pleasing possession than an automobile. It spreads good cheer and happiness everywhere, and the Sentinel campaign is going to deliver happiness in huge lumps in a short time. And the splendid cars that the Sentinel has selected as prizes are noted for their stylish appearance, their durable manufacture and general all-round quality—not to mention their low cost of upkeep.

The effort that will have been expended by the winners will when looked back to, seem nothing at all compared with the results. Even now, a new candidate can rise quickly to a commanding position among the topmost leaders of the campaign, by securing a few subscriptions, and taking advantage of the present 80,000 extra vote offer.

TWO MORE CANDIDATES FOR SENTINEL'S AUTOS.

MISS NELLIE BRAUN,
1311 East Lewis Street—District 2.

MISS IRENE MEYERS,
826 Poplar Street—District 4.

This is nothing short of immense—it offers opportunities unequalled to make practically certain of finishing at the goal among the first.

The big date to bear in mind at this time is June 10th—the closing of the last extra vote offer. Only one more day is left of it. Tomorrow and the generous provision it offers will be a thing of the past. Then it will be but a short spurt to the end, and may the best ones win!

Candidates residing in the outside districts, who cannot call at the campaign office in order to turn in their subscriptions have until 9 p. m., Saturday night—the same length of time that city candidates have—to secure subscriptions for building clubs to include in this offer.

By mailing their letters containing remittances and stubs before 9 p. m. tomorrow night, they will receive all the regular and extra votes to which they are entitled.

It takes only $25 worth of new subscriptions to the Sentinel to win, in addition to the regular votes on each subscription, an extra vote ballot of 80,000 votes. These clubs may include subscriptions of any length not less than fifteen weeks, just so they are new, and to the Daily Sentinel.

LIGHTNING PLAYS PRANK

Electric Current Splits Main and Ignites Gas in Storm.

Anderson, Ind., June 8.—Lightning split a natural gas main in the country near Pendleton, it was discovered yesterday, during an investigation of why gas pressure was so low in Pendleton. Frank Rumler, superintendent, found that a main had been split for several feet and the gas ignited. A flame ten feet high was burning. The earth had been torn away from the pipe. Several persons living there said the flame appeared during the storm Friday, and it was supposed the gas company knew about it in a short time.

ALL WEEDS CUT IN LAFAYETTE PLACE

The maintenance plan, which has been provided by the Lafayette Place company for their beautiful new addition on South Calhoun street, assures each purchaser of lots in this addition that there will be no unsightly weeds on his lot, and this feature is proving to be a wise provision as it tends to hasten the development of the entire tract. A sight-seer going over the addition would almost imagine he were vititing a city park, for not only are the weeds kept down, but unlike most new additions, every street can be traveled in an automobile. These are but two of the many features which make Lafayette Place a most attractive one to the man who is seeking a future homesite. Further details may be obtained from the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff building, or any member of the Real Estate Exchange.

SENTINEL'S SNAP-SHOTS OF AUTOMOBILE PARADE.

of $50 for the best decorated machine in the floral automobile parade Thursday afternoon. The car was decorated by the Overland sales agency.

The second prize for gasoline cars, amounting to $25, was awarded to J. B. Cruikshank, and the third prize of $15 to car No. 25. For electric cars there was a special class and the first place, with a $25 prize, was awarded to Miss Margaret Fisher, and the second prize of $5 to Mrs. Ed Seidel.

With Miss Witt in the winning machine were the Misses Kohler, Miss Marjorie Butler, Miss Muriel Larimore and Mrs. H. B. Harper.

Dinner for Taft.

Hon. Seward M. Foster entertained about fifty friends at dinner Thursday evening at the Anthony hotel in honor of former President William H. Taft. Mr. Foster occupied a seat at the head of the table with Mr. Taft on his right and Newton W. Gilbert, former vice governor of the Philippine Islands, who is here on a short visit with relatives, on his left. Mr. Foster introduced the distinguished visitor, who spoke briefly. The former president congratulated the citizens of Fort Wayne upon their public spirit, but said one thing was lacking and that was an adequate assembly hall.

"There ought to be some place in Fort Wayne where men who make their living with their lungs, as myself and William Jennings Bryan, can be heard as well as seen," he said. "If there is such a project before the people now, I trust that it will go through and that you will provide a municipal auditorium in which meetings such as we had today can be held."

Speaks at Court House.

Because of the downpour of rain Thursday afternoon Mr. Taft was unable to deliver his address at the pageant grounds. After a reception for him at the Hotel Anthony and at the Wayne's building, he spoke to a large crowd at the court house. His address dealt with obedience to law and the rule of the people, which was published in full in Thursday's issue.

Saturday's Program.

Eliminating the everlasting "if," which has intruded upon every advance preparation for the centennial celebration, here is a brief resume of tomorrow's program:

The Industrial Exposition.

At 9 o'clock the doors of the great Fort Wayne industrial exposition and Hippodrome will open for a full day and evening of entertainment and education. Here the manufacturers and merchants of Fort Wayne have prepared for the benefit of thousands of out-of-town visitors a vast array of interesting booths which show the greatness of Fort Wayne as a center of manufacturing, jobbing and retail trade.

The Hippodrome Acts.

In connection with this great exhibit, the visitor will be entertained for two hours, without extra charge, by a program of the highest class of hippodrome acts.

The Scotch Highlands Band.

Three splendid programs are rendered by the famous Scotch Highlands band, in the morning, afternoon and evening.

The complete program of hippodrome acts will be given, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, 2 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 o'clock in the evening.

The Great Parade.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon comes the great fraternal parade, postponed from Tuesday. It will be composed as follows:

Platoon of police; grand marshal, Dr. A. G. Emrick; five ladies on horseback; Mooseheart band; supreme officers of Moose, in carriages; Moose organizations; visiting Moose lodges from Columbia City, Lima, Kendallville, Toledo, Bluffton, Decatur, Portland, Huntington and other cities; civil war veterans; Elks' band; B. P. O. E. organizations, visiting B. P. O. E. lodges; Scotch Highlands band; federation of Catholic societies; Concordia college band; Concordia cadets; Citizen's band; Fraternal Order of Eagles; Sons of Veterans; Spanish War veterans; I. O. O. F. lodges; other fraternal and labor organizations.

Persons holding tickets for the pageant intended for use Thursday, will be entitled to use them Saturday night.

He Knew They Wanted Teddy.

Senator Borah waited quietly and finally Chairman Robins urged quiet. "It is well known—the deep-seated affection I have for your leader," he said, and was halted by another salvo of enthusiasm, the whole convention in a mighty chant shouting, "We want Teddy," for a full minute, while Boran smilingly waited. The shouting lulled and then was renewed, leaders on the stage joining.

"There's no doubt you want Teddy," said Senator Borah. "We want Borah, too," answered the delegates and the senator proceeded, and swinging into the stride of his speech, which he promised would be brief.

He put a quietus on the whispered circulation of his name as a possible "Moses," by reminding the progressive convention that he was present as a member of a committee from "another convention."

"There isn't a doubt but that you want Teddy and that millions of citizens throughout the country also want Teddy," he began. "You are fortunate in having a leader," he continued, "who has done more than any other man to make the issues of this campaign.

Makes Plea for Unity.

"He is a maker of questions involved in nthis international crisis," the convention responding enthusiastically to the praise of the colonel. "But let us bear in mind," he urged, "what these two conventions do here will perhaps decide the welfare of the United States for the next quarter of a century. We can only insure ourselves by working together in close co-opeeration. I do not discourage your loyalty and enthusiasm to your leader, but I must say it is essential that before we leave this great city it should be definitely determined that we will march and fight together in this great conflict.

"But if the two conventions agree upon your great leader you will find no more enthusiastic supporter than myself."

Hear Conference Report.

A report of the peace conferees appointed by the progressive national convention was read to the delegates today by Chairman George W. Perkins at the same hour the republican conference committee was making its report at the Coliseum. The reports were not identical, but they agreed that Col. Roosevelt's name was the only one the progressives presented to the republicans and that the latter offered no name. Both reports recommended time for further conferences "this afternoon or evening."

Mr. Perkins read the report of the republica ncommittee and the declaration that the progressive members had urged Theodore Roosevelt as the "most desirable candidate upon which to unite," was so wildly cheered that the report had to be read again when order was obtained.

Radicals Strain at Leash.

For an hour the progressive delegates had been listening to the reading of the platform. The radicals had been straining at the leash. They had been restrained only by the statement of Chairman Robins that the report of the conference committee was coming very soon. Most of them did not understand the parliamentary situation which made the report of the resolutions committee the unfinished business. They chafed at the restraint, but they didn't know how to break loose and those who did kept still for they were those who counselled delay.

After listening to the reading of the two reports and Mr. Perkin's appeal to the convention to let the conferees go back to work. The delegates applauded vociferiously the chairman's praise of the eloquence of his colleague's arguments in favor of the progressive universal candidate.

Map Out a Course.

When the leaders got time to breathe again they conferred on the course to be followed in the convention and decided to be regulated by the action of the republicans. Frequently bulletins were telephoned to the stage by representatives at the Coliseum so that the progressive leaders always were abreast of the action of the republicans.

It was agreed that if the republican convention gave no signs of making a nomination that the progressive convention would transact other routine business. Should a nomination by the republicans appear imminent, however, it was agreed the progressives immediately would nominate Col. Roosevelt.

Go Into Conference.

Several progressive leaders including Mr. Perkins, Governor Johnson, James R. Garfield and Henry Allen, withdrew to a private room in the lower part of the convention hall while the platform reading was in progress, to discuss a program in case the republican convention did not nominate. They understood that the republican convention would adjourn immediately after two ballots had been taken on the presidential nominee, provided there was no nomination at that time. The progressive convention amended the platform committee's plank on woman's suffrage so as to declare for the "full right of suffrage by both federal and state action."

The committee had used the word "neither." Senator Borah, of Idaho, arrived at 12:40 and was escorted to the platform by Wm. Flynn, of Pennsylvania. He was enthusiastically received.

Task Not Easy.

The officers of the convention who were attempting to proceed in a deliberate manner realized that their work was cut out for them and that Chairman Robins' task was far from easy.

Henry Allen's description that it was a powder magazine with lots of watchers around yesterday, adequately described the situation today. From a parliamentary point of view, the convention officers had them in their control with obstreperous delegates who would rush madly into making a nomination of Col. Roosevelt.

Before adjournment yesterday the platform report was placed before the convention by Dean William Draper Lewis, of the University of Pennsylvania, chairman of the resolutions committee, and it was made the unfinished business. Those who were seeking delay to give the peace committee as much time as they desired in their efforts to get together with the republicans, looked eagerly for a Roosevelt demonstration. They were prepared when it came to keep it going as long as possible.

Unrestrained enthusiasm of uncontrolable Roosevelt shouters, they figured, would be an element in favor of those who would delay making a nomination for the demonstration would help use up the time. The plan was to bring up the platform and open it to unlimited debate, if necessary, as soon as the delegates showed any signs of demanding that the convention proceed with the nomination.

But the plan was tentative. The officers of the convention could only hope for the best.

While the leaders talked, the delegates poured in. The Massachusetts delegates marched in yelling "We'd better nominate Roosevelt before it's too late." A male quartet with megaphones in a balcony, the band and a Utah delegate armed with a flute, had a musical duet. The waiting crowd loudly cheered a "Teddy" song by the quartet and insisted upon repeated encores.

"There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," caught the delegates' fancy as an expression probably of their own feeling.

It was 10:26 when Chairman Robins, in the midst of the band's music, called the convention to order by mauling the big block of wood on his desk with his sledge hammer gavel. The floor was filled, but alternates' places in the galleries were not.

The opening prayer was given by Rabbi Joseph Stolz, of Chicago. His invocation called for Divine guidance for both conventions. General applause followed the prayer.

Chairman Robins brought the platform before the convention at 10:49 as the unfinished business. He announced that a report would soon come from the conference committee. Dean Lewis read the platform section by section, each being acted upon as offered. It was expected some planks, particularly that on woman suffrage, would be debated.

Progressives Reconvene.

Chairman Robins called the convention to order at the conclusion of the recess at 3:15 p. m. Despite the realization by the delegates that important business confronted it, when they assembled the delegates were goo dnatured and enthusiastic. It was in sharp contrast to the surface sentiment at other sessions.

The spirit of the crowd was, leaders said, due probably in part to the tact of the convention officers, Chairman Robins and Secretary O. K. Davis in adjoining for lunch and the prospects that the rain that has swept Chicago for four days was about over.

"No man living," he shouted, "can claim a monopoly of the American spirit in his heart or in his nature. The republican party is full of them."

Impartial in Cheering.

The cheering in the New York delegation was led by former Secretary Stimson. Many of the delegates who had cheered for Justice Hughes a few minutes previously, cheered just as loudly for Mr. Root.

It was five minutes before order was restored and the roll call was resumed. Arkansas yielded to Ohio and the chair recognized Gov. Willis to nominate Burton.

"Gov. Whitman and Dr. Butler," he began, not being able to agree on the ownership of this elephant I claim him for Ohio. He brought out the little G. O. P. toy elephant on wheels that had made its appearance earlier in the session and rolled it to the front of the platform.

"In the middle of Gov. Willis' speech the sun came out for the first time in four days and flooded the Coliseum. He was speaking of a republican party with its face turned toward the future and as an omen of that said he "the sun is shining, thank God."

The delegates, weary and depressed by four days of soaking downpour, saw the point and cheered.

Ohio Breaks Loose.

The Burton demonstration began when Gov. Willis closed his speech at 1:45 o'clock. The Ohio delegation, seated directly in front of the platform, rose to a man waving flags.

The Ohio alternates rose in their place in the rear of the hall and echoed the cheers of the delegates. There were scattering cheers from other delegates and some hand-clapping.

While the Burton demonstration was on a Root delegate pinned his candidate's picture on the trunk of Gov. Willis' elephant which still stood on the speaker's platform.

Gov. Willis took the Ohio standard from the floor and began a march around the hall. The Ohio men followed in nforce. They made the circuit of the hall without another delegation joining them.

During the Burton demonstration Chairman aHrding said the plan is to take two ballots before the convention adjourns or recessed.

The Burton demonstration was loud and lusty even if it was confined practically to the Ohio men. The Burton men kept it up for twenty-three minutes, then the chairman gavelled for order.

When the Burton demonstration had been going on twenty minutes, the Ohioans took up their standard and began another march around the hall. Chairman Harding, himself an Ohioan, handed down the elephant and Gov. Willis shouldered it at the head of the procession.

Women First to Arrive.

A party of women were the first visitors to arrive when doors were opened at 9:30 o'clock today. The early contingent of ticket holders, however, was the smallest since the convention opened and the first selection of the band was played mostly to policemen at their posts. Although the rain had ceased the vast hall was still heavy with dampness. On the platform was the daily gift of the contractor who put the Coliseum in shape for the convention—three great bouquets of peonies.

A sound-magnifying contrivance was installed for the benefit of Alfred I. DuPont, of the Delaware delegation. Mr. DuPont explained to Sergeant-at-Arms Stone that it was rather monotonous to sit in his chair hour after hour with only the motion of lips to entertain him, and Mr. Stone permitted the installation as "a courtesy and not as a precedent," he said.

Will Go to Fairbanks.

The Colorado delegation of twelve caucused this morning and lined up—Roosevelt 6; Root, 5, and Fairbanks, 1, for the first ballot.

It was understood that on the third or fourth ballot, if reached, the delegation would go solidly for Fairbanks. The delegation, however, was prepared for further caucusing in their seats, if emergency should alter the situation.

The conference committee's report was received with great enthusiasm. At the mention of Roosevelt's name there was moderate applause, rising in volume, but chiefly participated in by the galleries. It lasted about three minutes.

Chairman Harding announced the conference committee would be continued and then announced the roll call of states for nominations was in order.

Roll of States Called.

Weeks' Name Presented.

Connecticut on the call of states yielded to Massachusetts and Senator Lodge took the platform to present John W. Weeks.

The Chicago Hamilton club, about 500 strong, were admitted from the outside of the hall and paraded around the hall headed by "Uncle Sam," "the Spirit of '76" and a live baby elephant. A little girl of six, dressed as Columbia, was carried through the hall on the shoulder of a delegate.

Coliseum is Overtaxed.

The city fire marshal said the Coliseum is overtaxed by the great crowd within its walls. Orders were given to keep all doors closed and let no one in regardless of whether they held tickets.

Several national committeemen and prominent leaders had difficulty in gaining re-admission.

California and Colorado passed and Connecticut yielded to Massachusetts. When order was restored Senator Lodge took the platform to nominate Senator Weeks.

At 2:30 o'clock Senator Lodge finished and the Weeks' demonstration began.

Fairbanks Is Presented.

Speaker Cannon joined the Illinois demonstration which followed the presentation of Sherman's name, and the Illinois crowd rallied to him for another outburst.

After twenty-four minutes of shouting for Sherman order was restored and Congressman Wood of Indiana presented the name of C. W. Fairbanks.

Cat Calls, Cheers, Hisses.

Twenty-two minutes had passed in the Sherman demonstration when Mr. Sutherland pounded vigorously, and, raising his voice, ordered the roll call to proceed, which it did in great noise and confusion.

But the chair persisted. Indiana was called and Representative Wood of that state ascended platform. It was some minutes before he could proceed. The police were instructed to restore order, but apparently the disturbance was largely in the galleries.

Mr. Wood finished at 3:41 and the Indiana delegation began cheering. Paraders bearing a large American flag and a banner inscribed "Fairbanks for president," marched around the hall while the band played "On the Banks of the Wabash."

SELECT A NEW SITE FOR TENT REVIVALS

Under-Canvas Meetings to Be Held on Lot Where Tabernacle Stood.

Through the efforts of the committee in charge, the great tent revival meetings which were to have been held on the vacant lot on Calhoun street, between Creighton avenue and Taber street, will be held on the lot at Ewing and West Main streets, the site of the Lyon tabernacle meetings.

This is a more suitable location, as it is nearer the center of the city and the committee feels that the change in location will meet with the approval of all concerned. The tent will be pitched Saturday afternoon and workmen will be busy Monday and Tuesday installing the inside fixtures.

Loren Jones and his wife are in Fort Wayne and have definitely outlined their work. Mr. Jones will meet all the members of his choir which sang at the Lyon meetings, next Tuesday evening at the First Baptist church. He requests that each person bring the tabernacle song books.

Plans are complete for the booster meeting which will be held at the First Baptist church Monday evening. The Associated Christian Workers, the Men's Christian league and the Fort Wayne Ministerial association, under whose auspices this month's tent revival is to be held, are expecting a full membership present at the Booster gathering.

Rev. James A. Nipper, of the Rescue mission, who will be the evangelist at these meetings, is personally assisting in making the arrangements.

NOTICE!

REMAINS ARRIVE SATURDAY.

The remains of Earl Cox, a son-in-law of Daniel Nestel, of 1204 Scott avenue, of this city, who was killed in Cleveland, O., when a street car struck the motorcycle on which he was riding, will arrive in this city Saturday morning. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Nestel.

Paris, June 9—11:25 a. m—The Germans have launched a general attack along the entire front on the right bank of the Meuse and have penetrated the French line at one point but were repulsed elsewhere with heavy loss, according to an official statement issued by the war office today.

The point where the Germans entered the French lines is in the neighborhood of Thiaumont farm. The Germans also made two small attacks southwest of Hill 304 but these attacks, the statement says, were repulsed.

NEW HOPE HOSPITAL SITE DEAL IS NEAR

A deal will probably be closed soon whereby the Hope Hospital association will come into possession of the property at Suttenfield and Clinton streets, near the reservoir, for the erection of a new building. The site has been under consideration for some time, together with three or four other sites.

D. N. Foster, chairman of the committee, is in Chicago, and President A. G. Burry, of the hospital, states that as far as he knows no option has been closed for the property.

ALLIES WOULD NEED 2,000,000 FOR JOB

Sofia, May 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press). In military quarters at the Macedonian front and in political circles here the opinion is expressed to The Associated Press correspondent that while an offensive move on the part of the entente forces at Saloniki is not out of the question, such a manoeuvre would be devoid of all prospects of success if undertaken with fewer than fifty army corps, or about 2,000,000 men. Thus far the entente allies have brought to Saloniki about 350,000 effectives. With the addition of 100,000 Serbians the entente contingent would still be below a half a million men, a force considered here as being entirely inadequate to undertake the rehabilitation of Serbia.

The terrain difficulties which the entente troops would be obliged to overcome are regarded as enormous. In all cases the entente troops would have to fight uphill. One or two admittedly weak points in the Bulgaro-Austro-German line are amply covered by stronger positions immediately in the rear, it is stated to the correspondent, so that a falling-back would be an entirely strategical affair.

The Macedonian defense line runs in the main as follows: In the east it has the Cengel Dagh as its extreme point of support. These mountains are from 4,500 to 4,800 feet high, rugged and precipitous towards the south, the direction of attack. Then comes the very narrow valley of the Struma, the defense of which can be carried out from the foothills of Belashitza Planina. West of this valley lies the mountain chain named, a single high crest some forty kilometers long, running due west. South of the range in question lies the valley and lake of Doiran, and slightly to the northwest of the Doiran and Vardar valleys the Blagusha Planina, in which the Anglo-French troops were defeated in the battle of Kosturino, in November, 1915.

The remainder of the line consists of the Padjah, Marianska, Blatec, Nidshe, Dobropolje Planinas and their connecting crests. Then comes the valley of the Karasu river, southeast of Monastir, a terrain which so far has not interested the entente troops very much. The Suhagora mountains and Malo and Prespa lakes adjoin the very difficult mountain country of southeastern Albania.

Feasible lines of advance of the entente troops are the Vardar valley and the country about Doiran; the valley of the Karasu river, upon Monastir; and lastly the valley of the Struma. Only the first-named comes into consideration, however. To reach the Struma, the Greek government would have to place at the disposal of the entente troops the railroad line to Demir Hissar; and to advance towards Monastir the railroad to that point would have to be used.

The present entente line is purely defensive. Its center is at Kukush, in Greece, thirty-five kilometers from Lake Doiran. From there it sweeps in an arc towards the Vardar valley, where at the closest point of contact the lines of the two opposing forces are still 3,000 yards from one another. This peculiar line of the entente troops was established to prevent a surprise by the Bulgaro-Germans. In some quarters the view is held that it was dictated by a concentration rearward, due to the transfer to France of considerable French forces.

FULLEST LOYALTY VERY ESSENTIAL

Every individual and organization that has arranged to participate in the great fraternal parade scheduled for last Tuesday afternoon, and which was deferred to Saturday afternoon on account of the drenching rain, is urged to show the fullest loyalty to Fort Wayne by doing his part in Saturday's demonstration.

The Mooseheart band which was here for Tuesday's parade is back in the city again to fulfill its agreement to appear in the parade, and many outside organizations will come to the city to take part.

Despite the fact that Centennial week has proven to contain as much bad weather as could well be crowded into a given period, and there is a disposition to throw up one's hands and say, "What's the use?" right now is the time to show the highest spirit of loyalty and civic pride. The Centennial celebration must go down in history as the greatest of its kind in America. And each of us can help to make it so.

Doctors Recent Discovery, Also Heals Ulcers, Boils, Carbuncles, Abscesses and Open Sores in a Few Days.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start this today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil for 50 cents at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller, and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil besides being one of the most powerful of antiseptics capable of destroying the most pernicious germs and the poisons caused by them, is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications causes the eruption to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barbers' itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

You can readily understand that Moone's Emerald Oil must be a powerful, penetrating preparation, when it has reduced goiters and wens, and is recommended for such distress.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, wens or goiter, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, boils, abscesses or piles in a few days, should not hesitate to get a 50 cent bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. You can always get Moone's Emerald Oil at Meyer Bros. Drug Stores—Advertsiement.

LAST OF THE GERMANS HAVE QUIT PORTUGAL

Lisbon, May 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The last of the Germans ordered expelled under the decree of the government have left Portugal. Those who are to be interned are on their way to the island of Terceira, one of the Azores group. This island has been placed under the military command of the governor of the Azores and he has adopted the measures necessary to maintain order there.

The ministry of foreign affairs and the police officers have for some days been devoting their entire attention to Germans in distress. Germans anxious to deny their Teutonic nationality, Portugese women married to Germans and hence affected by the governmental decree, and aged German women who have for years been employed as servants in Portuguese families.

With the Germans, a great many Austrians and Turks have been expelled. Large and important firms have been forced to discontinue business and a number of factories have closed.

Discovery has been made of faulty machinery on some of the German steamships which the government requisitioned. Machine experts and operatives have reached here from England to effect repairs, and a British naval mission and other British government representatives have arrived.

BULLET CUT SHORT CHERISHED AMBITION

New York, June 9.—A dark-haired little woman was weeping in a scantily furnished apartment, a telegram from Police Commissioner Woods clasped in her hands. It told her that the department grieved with her over the death of Patrolman Henry H. Schwarz, her husband, but at the same time gloried in his heroism.

Schwarz died in Bellevue hospital from two bullet wounds received while trying to arrest three Italians in a cellar at 196 First avenue. A pint of blood transfused from the veins of Sergt. Alexander Knittel, his superior, failed to save him.

Three policemen, friends of her husband, entered, and Mrs. Schwarz turned to them.

"When will they bring him home?" she demanded. "I want him here—here, with me."

"He would have won his honor medal, wouldn't he?" she asked a moment later. "He wanted it so. Only a few weeks ago he told me that next time the honor legion marched he'd be in the ranks. And now—his name will go on the honor roll, but what are Agnes and Harry going to do without their daddy? What am I going to do?

"He tried hard to be a good policeman," she said, turning to a patrolman, who nodded and coughed to conceal his emotion. "And we've had a hard fight—a hard fight. Sometimes he almost wanted to go back to plumbing so we could have enough money, but then he'd say 'No, I'll stick to the force.' And he's dead.

"Last night when I left him at the hospital he smiled at me and said he would see me today. I believe now that he knew even then that he was dying. But he wouldn't let me know. He was always trying to protect me."

Forethought.

People are learning that a little forethought often saves them a big expense. Here is an instance: E. W. Archer, Caldwell, Ohio, writes: "I do not believe that our family has been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since we commenced keeping house years ago. When we go on an extended visit we take it with us." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Motorcycle Policeman Arrested Bridegroom for Speeding.

Danville, Ind., June 9.—Ned Clay, of Indianapolis, and Miss Patti Nichols were married here at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Nichols, and left immediately in an automobile for Indianapolis on their honeymoon trip. A motorcycle policeman overtook them and arrested them for fast driving. Mr. Clay said it cost Mrs. Clay a nice wedding present, for the fine took the money she should have had. The bridegroom is a son of James A. Clay, of Indianapolis, formerly treasurer of Hendricks county.

BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, GENERALLY UNFIT

A Wine Glass Full of Tollo Concentrated Water Will Wash Out the Bile and Relieve Your Constipation in Half an Hour

Our present mode of living makes bad livers. Living indoors and eating rich food puts more work on the liver than it can do. The bile tubes become choked and force the bile back into the system, causing gas, heart-burn, coated tongue, constipation, dizziness, nervousness, headaches and stomach trouble.

A third of a tumbler of Tollo Water taken in a glass of plain water before breakfast gives quickest relief. The natural properties of this water stimulates the liver to greater activity without the sickening, nauseating or weakening effort produced by calomel and other strong drugs.

It really gives the liver a bath. It dissolves the waste, washes out the bile tubes and expels the waste and sour bile from the system in just a few minutes.

Get a 15-cent bottle from your druggist and take a little each morning for a few days. After the first day the complexion will begin to lose its yellow shade and in a few days your natural healthy color will return.

After you have thoroughly cleaned the bile from the system, an occasional wine glass full of Tollo Water before breakfast will keep you feeling fine. You can eat what you like without suffering; your complexion will stay pink and healthy; those dull tired days will be gone forever because your liver will have the help it needs to expel the bile and prevent its being absorbed into the system.

Dawson Springs, the home of Tollo Water, has been a famous health resort for years. It was through the desire of those who have visited the springs and regained their health that Tollo Water has been concentrated and put on sale at drug stores.—Advertisement.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

PIONEER ROANOKE CITIZEN NO MORE

Roanoke, Ind., June 9.—John Hackett, for more than forty years identified with the business life of Roanoke, died at his home in that town Thursday morning.

He was born in Delaware county, Indiana, October 23, 1834, and moved with his parents to Jackson township Huntington county in 1846. In 1857 he moved to Roanoke where he had since resided.

He was enlisted as a member of the Forty-seventh regiment, Indiana volunteer infantry in 1862, but became disabled and was discharged from the service on that account. In 1863 he became identified with the drug business in Roanoke in the store of his brother-in-law, R. C. Ebersole.

He was married February 8, 1863, to Caroline Ebersole, who survives him. One son, C. L. Hackett, who has for many years been his father's partner in the drug business, was the only child.

Four years ago his health failed and since that time he has not been actively connected with the business. For the past six months he has been bedfast.

Mr. Hackett was a member of the G. A. R. and of the Roanoke lodge, No. 195, F. and A. M. He was also a member of the M. E. church.

The funeral will be held from the Roanoke M. E. church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment at Glenwood cemetery. Roanoke lodge will have charge.

IS SEEKING MISSING FATHER

Huntington, Ind., June 9.—Something of the silence of the Sphinx has fixed itself to the twelve years of Clarence Ditton's absence from his family, which he left in Huntington a dozen years ago. He disappeared from his wife and son without explanation and apparently without reason, and since, no word from him has broken the silence which swallowed him so quietly. His son, Charles Ditton, now living in Fort Wayne, with his mother, came to Huntington to begin a search for his father. In a day long inquiry he could find no clue except that his father may be in a northern logging camp. The belief that the elder Ditton may be in the north filtered to his son through channels which revealed no foundation for the supposition that he is there and the son is undecided whether or not to carry his search that far. He will keep in touch with a Huntington attorney whom he consulted, in the hope that some definite word or clue may reach him. Several years after the disappearance of his father, Charles Ditton went to live in Fort Wayne, taking his mother with him, and has remained there since.

WILL HAVE REUNION THIS MONTH

Noble County Folks Now Resident in Indianapolis to Picnic June 17.

Kendallville, Ind., June 9.—That there are now resident in Indianapolis one hundred or more persons who formerly resided in Noble county and that they will hold a reunion at Broad Ripple park, in one of the northern suburbs of the state capital, June 17, is stated in a letter sent here by the committee appointed to make arrangements. The letter says:

"There are one hundred people living in the city of Indianapolis who are former residents of Noble county. In order that they may become better acquainted they have decided to hold a basket picnic at Broad Ripple park, in Indianapolis, on Saturday, June 17. A program consisting of short talks, music and contests has been arranged and the committee desires to get into communication with every former resident of Noble county now residing in the capital city.

"The committee will appreciate any information that your readers will furnish that will assist them in locating their friends.

"John W. Smith, Eli Schloss, John W. Earle, J. C. Kimmell, committee."

BRICK ROAD FOR WHITLEY.

Columbia City, Ind., June 9.—Cleveland township will have the first brick country road in the county. It will be constructed from the end of State street, in South Whitley, for about a half mile south to the Cuppy Corners. At the latter named point, the road which runs east about two and a half miles to the Washington township line, will be improved by graveling, to be constructed along the plan of what is termed the improved gravel road in this county. This work will be done without the formality of an election. There was practically no objection to the improvement of the roads mentioned and permission for their construction was granted without the delay and expense incident to the holding of an election.

LAGRANGE PIONEER CALLED.

Lagrange, Ind., June 9.—John M. Trowbridge, a soldier in the war for the union, who was stricken with paralysis Decoration day, in the afternoon, at the Wigton theater, while the program was being presented, died late Tuesday evening at the home of his son, Watson J. Trowbridge, without having regained consciousness. Charles L. DeBow, the Methodist Episcopal pastor, was in charge of a prayer service, after which the funeral party left for Flint, in Steuben county, where the final service was held in the Christian church and burial was made in the village cemetery. Mr. Trowbridge was born in Ohio seventy-three years ago. He came to Lagrange county, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Trowbridge, as a boy, and the family lived on a farm in the Pleasant Hill neighborhood, on the old Drake road.

WARRANT FOR DELPHOS MAYOR.

Van Wert, Ohio, June 9.—Application has been made in mayor's court for warrants for the arrest of George N. LeaSure, mayor of Delphos, and W. C. Thompson, chief of police at Delphos, on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance while driving an automobile. It is given out that the affidavits will be signed by either Tom Davies, of East Raymond street, or T. Bradley DeWitt, who, with three other witnesses, trailed the car in which the Delphos officers were riding, using an automobile set for the speed of eight miles an hour, and that the Delphos car ran away from them. Messrs. Davies and DeWitt, it will be remembered, were arrested in Delphos on Memorial day, and fined for violating the traffic ordinance of that town.

HUNTINGTON WOMAN DIES WEST

Huntington, Ind., June 9.—Mrs. James Plumber, of this city, is dead in Dallas, Ore., where she had gone to visit at the home of her son, Lewis Plumber. The telegram which told of her death stated that a daughter, Marie, also of Huntington, is too ill to return to Huntington with her mother's body. No details could be learned except that Mrs. Plumber had been ill since Monday evening. Mr. Plumber, on a visit to Kankakee, Ill., has been notified of the death. Accompanied by her daughter, Marie, and a son, Arthur, of Chicago, Mrs. Plumber left Huntington for Oregon a week ago Monday on a six weeks' visit. The body will be returned to Huntington and will arrive here either Sunday or Monday.

SOUTH WHITLEY WOMAN DIES.

Columbia City, Ind., June 9.—Mrs. Clara Remington, widow of the late F. S. Remington, passed away at her home at South Whitley Thursday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Snow and was born in Whitley county in 1845. She grew to womanhood in South Whitley and was united in marriage to F. S. Remington. To this union were born five children, three of whom are living. F. S. Remington preceded his wife in death about fifteen years ago.

MONTPELIER WEDDING.

Montpelier, Ind., June 9.—At high noon Thursday at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Twibell, across the river, occurred the wedding of their second daughter, Miss Margaret, to Mr. Lee Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Smith, of this city. It was the first of a number of June weddings scheduled for the month of roses and brides. Rev. J. O. Bills performed the ceremony. The bride wore a beautful gown of flesh colored silk poplin, with a lace over dress and her going away dress is of dark blue silk poplin.

The contract is for two years and comes as a decided promotion over his former position. Ernest is a graduate of the local high school and a Hicksville boy who is doing things in his chosen line of civil engineering.

NO MOSQUITOES IN LAFAYETTE PLACE

Because of the unusual elevation of Lafayette Place, the delightful home site at the south end of Calhoun street, the prospective home-builders of this addition may look forward to summers when they may be free from the mosquitoes which frequently prove so bothersome in new tracts of city property. Parts of Lafayette Place are as high as 65 feet above the level of the courthouse walks, and the base of the flag-staff, which has been planted in the ground at a point near where the Community club house will be located, may be seen at great distances from almost any direction from Lafayette Place. This unusual elevation is but one of the many advantages of this beautiful addition. Others will be pointed out by the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff building, or any member of the Real Estate Exchange.

TO TRY AGAIN AFTER BALLOTING IS BEGUN

Chicago, June 9.—After giving the names of the conferees on both sides the report of the republican-progressive harmony committee to be presented to both conventions today recited that they had a full and frank conference last night which resulted in an agreement that there should be united action on the part of the two parties if possible of attainment; that the policies and future of the country for the next few years would depend upon their getting together and uniting to rescue the country from the present democratic domination.

The report to the republican convention recited the fact that the progressives held the name of Col. Roosevelt as the proper man for selection as the proper candidate, expressing the opinion that on account of his personal following and hold upon the people, as well as because of his mastery of the questions of the day, he was the best fitted of all mentioned by either party to bear the standard of the combined organizations.

While no mention is made of the fact that another conference had practically been agreed upon, it is perfectly understood that it is their plan to get together again after two or three ballots have been cast by the republican convention.

The representatives of the republican convention did not make any counter suggestions as to a candidate, but on the contrary some of them stated that they would be entirely willing to accept Mr. Roosevelt if the republican convention could be brought to that conclusion, which they frankly stated they did not believe could be done.

PRETTY FIGHT OVER SUFFRAGE LOOMING

Chicago, June 9.—A pretty fight over the woman suffrage plank in the progressive platform was in prospect today. Some of the more radical leaders of the suffrage movement were said not to be satisfied with the plank as drawn by the resolutions committee and were bringing all possible pressure to bear to change its phraseology.

As adopted by the committee the plank says that the progressive party believes that women "should be given the full political right of suffrage either by federal or state action." This was looked upon as at best a compromise and by some suffrage opponents as a decided straddle. The element which is dissatisfied with this wording want a change so as to make the plank read "women should be given the full political right of suffrage both by federal and state action," which they hold is a positive declaration that legislation should be enacted by congress and by the states as well.

When the platform is taken up plank by plank the fight probably will result in general debate, with some of the ardent suffragist delegates leading it. Another plank that is expected to cause trouble is that on the question of prohibition. In the resolutions committee a motion to insert an out and out declaration for a "dry" plank was beat, 39 to 13, but advocates of prohibition have not given up hope of a reconsideration in the convention itself.

STEPS FROM CURBING TO MEET HIS DEATH

Hugh Williams, Aged 10, is Killed When Struck by Automobile.

Stepping from the curbing into the street when his hat was blown off, at 3:25 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Hugh Williams, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Thomas H. Williams, 1414 Columbia avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Roy Timbrook, 817 Union street, and suffered injuries which caused his death a half hour later at Hope hospital. The boy was hurried to the institution by Mr. Timbrook, who was driving another car nearby, where medical aid was immediately summoned. Death was due to a fractured skull.

The unfortunate lad was playing in the street at Lake and Delta avenues with several other boys of his own age. They started across the street and had nearly reached the opposite side when the boy's hat blew off. Without looking back he turned abruptly into the street directly in front of the auto. He was thrown to the pavement with violence and suffered a deep gash above his right eye and a fracture of the skull. Witnesses of the accident state that it was unavoidable and that the driver of the car was in no way to blame.

This is the second misfortune of similar nature which has befallen the Williams family. It will be remembered that the father of the boy who was killed Thursday, Thomas H. Williams, was killed instantly on the morning of Nov. 4 at the Winter street crossing while on his way to work at Bowser's.

Besides the prostrated mother, the little boy is survived by two sisters, aged 8 and 5 years. The body was taken to the Getz & Cahill parlors.

Chicago, June 9.—About the only persons in Chicago who are satisfied with weather this week are the merchandise managers of downtown stores which have profited by the heavy rains for three days, and which stopped last night for the first time since the meeting of the republican and progressive national conventions.

According to estimates made today by the big downtown stores the rainstorm resulted in the sale of 18,000 umbrellas, 27,00 pairs of rubbers and 11,500 raincoats, most of which were bought by visitors to the conventions. The cessation of the storm last night was taken advantage of by followers of Col. Roosevelt, and a large number formed in line, and led by two bands, paraded through the downtown section. A large part of the parade was made up of women.

The local weather forecast for today offers a little hope of relief, unsettled weather, with probably showers, being the report.

DUDLO WINS FIRST POINT IN ACTION

Judge A. B. Anderson, in the federal court at Indianapolis Thursday, denied the petition of the Varley Duplex Magnet company, of Pittsburg, for an injunction against the Dudlo Manufacturing company, of Fort Wayne, to restrain it from the manufacture of certain products. The case will come to trial in December, and meanwhile the Dudlo company has filed a bond of $50,000, with W. E. Mossman as surety, to indemnify against possible damages in the event the case is ultimately decided against the Fort Wayne concern.

The Dudlo Manufacturing company is charged by the Varley Duplex Magnet company of infringing on its patent in the manufacture of certain electric coils. M. A. Keller, of Pittsburg, and James M. Barrett, of this city, represent the plaintiff, and Vesey & Vesey and Taylor & Hulse, of Fort Wayne, represent the Dudlo company.

When the structures of the system are in perfect health they work without attracting attention or causing any alarm. The moment that any part of the system has become inefficient in functioning, or cries out in pain, then you know you have been attacked by nerve and tissue weakness.

You become conscious of an unnatural condition, your heart beats wildly after exertion or excitement, you suffer with nervous headaches, the nerves in the spinal cord, on account of their overtaxed, weakened condition, cause pains in the back, drawing at the base of the brain, irritability of temper, uneven mood, sleeplessness, cold clammy feeling, you lack will-power, energy and ambition.

Not only is the nervous system the seat of all intelligence, memory, reason or probably of the very soul itself, but every movement of the various structures of the body depends upon nerve action. Hence, when the nerves suffer from debility or weakness, trouble is instantly felt in one or more of the structures. It is the chronic lack or derangement of function of these various tissues of the body which causes so much alarm, discontent and unhappiness. Close examination may disclose no trace of disease or pain, but nerves and tissues may not be working properly. Like an engine with insufficient fuel, the full supply of nerve force is not forthcoming.

When CADOMENE TABLETS are directed to the nervous system the cause and origin of the disturbance is reached. By the tonic and nutritive action of Cadomene Tablets on the nerve and tissue cells every muscle, nerve and structure of the system are brought up to par and naturally restored to accomplish their normal work.

The mind brightens, muscular tone is increased, all the bodily functions are regulated, sleep is sound and undisturbed, and the excessive wretchedness of nerve and tissue weakness, discontent and worry are things of the past.

Obtain from any live druggist, in sealed tube, with full directions.

The term "free lance," now meaning a literary man who is in no one's employ, is a relic of the crusades, when companies of knights roved from place to place, offering their services to any one who would pay for them.

WHAT ONE LITTLE SECTION IS DOING

Linville, La., June 9.—Linville is a rural community far from the railroad in a hilly region in northern Louisiana. Five years ago it had all the marks of a backwoods community with no ideals for growth. Some of the marks were its box-car shack used for school, its farm run to weeds, and its traditional school open from four to six months in the year. The beginning was made by the citizens themselves—not all of them to be sure, only the more energetic. These few succeeded in building a two-room school which was a marked improvement over the previous schoolhouse. At the present time, the two-room building has been enlarged into a fine six-room structure set in large grounds, sodded with grass, and dotted with shade trees. It has other improvements that signify a growing community with definite standards of its own. There is a shoproom for the boys, a well-equipped home-economics department for the girls, sanitary drinking fountain, and the like. Local social life, formerly of no community avail, now offers interests for the children, the young men and young women, and the older people of the community.

The teachers of the school are correspondingly progressive. The course of study utilized fits the needs of the community. Its health teaching includes problems of sanitation and personal hygiene of definite importance to the children and adults. The reading course selects the subject-matter from life and the nature-environment.

The most forceful factor in the new community life began with the establishment of a school farm and plant nursery of about two acres as part of the public school. This farm was cleared of trees and brush; stumps were removed; and posts cut and hauled. The lumber for fencing was cut on the land and sawed at a nearby sawmill on shares. All this work, including the building of the fence, was done by boys with the assistance of the principal. The only outlay of cash for this construction was $1.50 for nails and barbed wire.

The land was divided into plots and cultivated by the boys and girls of the agricultural classes. Fruit trees of every kind suitable for this climate were planted during late winter and early spring. Hickory, haws, and many other trees were planted and later grafted and budded. A spray was added to the equipment, and lessons were given in spraying fruit trees, vegetables, etc. The principal and the boys made excursions through the neighborhood spraying orchards, potato patches, and gardens to destroy injurious insects and other pests. These excursions afford the school opportunity to reach the patrons direct and give them valuable first-hand lessons. The work has become part of the school curriculum, and the community looks to he school for advice and help of this sort.

In order to promote the social, educational, agricultural, and material advancement of the community, a school district fair association was organized. This association held its first annual fair in October 16, 1914. Among the important results achieved were increased appreciation on the part of the boys and girls for their opportunities in farm club work, and the new community interests in local industrial possibilities.

With agricultural co-operation secured, it was comparatively easy for the community to begin other phases of social development. The school started this by interesting the people—both young and old—in games, which were played on the school grounds. On Saturday afternoons patrons and pupils meet on the grounds and enjoy themselves playing volleyball, tennis, and other games. Literary societies meet on the grounds and enjoy themselves playing volleyball, tennis and other games. Literary societies meet in the school building, where many things of community importance are discussed.

Before the establishment of the new school with its new relationship to the community, only the smaller children attended the school; the older ones sought work and entertainment elsewhere. At the present time the young men and women of the community, ranging in age from 21 to 26 years, attend. The farmers have learned to look to the institution for help in their agricultural problems. They find it more profitable to have their sons and daughters in school than to keep them at work on the farm, with no vision of their own and no aid beyond that which they themselves can give.

HAPPY IN DYING AS SOLDIER FOR IRELAND

New York, June 9.—The Irish World received from Ireland today the last letter written by Patrick H. Pearse, president of the Irish republic, which was written to his mother from his cell in Kilmainham prison the night before his execution. The letter follows:

"My Dearest Mother—I have been hoping up to now it would be possible to see you again, but it does not seem possible. Good-by, dear, dear mother. Through you I say good-by to Wow Wow (a sister), Mary, Brigid, Willie, Miss B. Miceal, Cousin Maggine and every one at St. Enda's. I hope and believe Willie and the St. Enda boys will be all safe. I have written two papers about financial affairs and one about my books which I want you to get. With them are a few poems which I want added to the poems in MS. in my bookcase. You asked me to write a little poem which would seem to be said by you about me. I have written it, and a copy is in Arbour Hill barracks with other papers.

"I just received holy communion. I am happy, except for the great grief of parting from you. This is the death I should have asked for if God had given me the choice of all deaths—to die a soldier's death for Ireland and for freedom. We have done right. People will say hard things of us now, but later on will praise us. Do not grieve for all this, but think of it as a sacrifice which God asked of me and of you.

"Good-by again, dear mother. May God bless you for your great love for me and your great faith, and may He remember all you have so bravely suffered. I hope soon to see papa and in a little while we shall be all together again. I have not words to tell you of my love for you and how my heart yearns to you all. I will call to you in my heart at the last moment. Your son Pat."

("St Enda" refers to the school of which he was the head and founder.)

Film Men Would Supersede Present Motion Picture Board.

New York, June 9.—A committee of twelve men representing the principal branches of the moving picture industry, will present a plan for a new national organization intended to supersede the present motion picture board of trade, combat adverse legislation and bring about harmony in the trade. The committee was appointed after a conference here of about 100 representatives of film manufacturers and distributors. Those promoting the proposed organization assert the moving picture board of trade did not comprise all divisions of the film business and that this resulted in friction which came to a head recently in two rival moving picture expositions here. The companies have three weeks in which to formulate its plan.

LITTLE HOPE FOR PROPOSED CANAL

Report of Board More Unfavorable Than Was Thought.

Officers of the Toledo, Fort Wayne & Chicago Deep Waterways association received Thursday a letter from Colonel John Millis, of the corps of engineers, setting forth in detail the report of the army board on the proposed Toledo, Fort Wayne & Chicago canal. The report is more adverse than was thought inasmuch as no separate report was filed by Col. Millis as was represented but merely a request for further consideration.

The letter says: "In the belief that you are interested in the pending proposition to construct an inland waterway from Lake Erie at or near Toledo, Ohoi, to the southerly end of Lake Michigan to Chicago, by way of the Maumee river and the city of Fort Wayne, Ind., or by some other practicable route, and in conformity to the instructions of the department, I hereby inform you that the report on this project authorized by the act of congress approved July 25, 1912, has been made by a special board of engineer officers, and that it is unfavorable to the undertaking of this improvement by the United States at the present time. One member of the board recommends further consideration of the subject in a special memorandum which is submitted with the report. The principal grounds upon which the adverse conclusions are based are that the direct benefits to be expected from the improvement in question to not appear at present commensurate with the cost. You are further notified that all interested persons have the privilege of an appeal from this conclusion to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, a permanent body sitting at Washington, D. C., to which all examination and survey reports of this character are referred. Persons desiring to do so may be heard on appeal by the board, either orally or in writing.

VON PAPEN IS NOW ON SECRET MISSION

Former Military Attache is in Holland on Errand for Germany.

Amsterdam, Netherlands, May 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Capt. Franz von Papen, recalled at the request of the United States government as military attache of the German embassy at Washington, and who has come to Holland on a secret mission, has a purpose which is three-fold, according to the Amsterdam Telegraaf. This newspaper does not mention Capt. von Papen by name but alludes to him as a "first class specialist who only recently arrived here after covering himself with world-wide fame in the exercise of functions in another neutral country."

The Telegraaf says that the "specialist" has come here, first, to obtain information of military and political nature; second, to watch foreigners residing or visiting Holland; and, third, to endeavor to influence public opinion in favor of Germany.

The German "secret information service" in Holland is being reorganized, the Telegraaf asserts, the efforts of the "specialist" along this line being the centralizing of diverse and scattered elements of the Teutonic espionage service in this country. He has established the central protective service at The Hague and progress has been made with the organization of the service at Rotterdam, according to the newspaper, which declares that similar efforts at Amsterdam have been a little backward.

In the Rotterdam branch of the service, the Telegraaf says, 142 men and 62 women have been enrolled, recruited principally among waiters, porters and other hotel and cafe employes.

AMERICANS THERE CANNOT DODGE TAX

Must Sell or Deposit American Securities in England.

London, June 9.—(11:20 a. m.)—Americans domiciled here who are subject to the income tax must sell to or deposit with the British government their American securities under penalty of an extra two shilling tax. This information is given to the Associated Press today by an official of the American Dollar Security company. The ruling holds, whether the securities are held here or in America.

The tax of two shillings, added to the income tax, will apply to Americans who have resided here long enough to become subject to the regular income tax, the incidence of which will be followed except that no abatement will be granted on American securities which appear on the government's lists. If American securities are deposited with the government only the usual income tax with the ordinary abatements will be charged, but the government prefers to purchase the securities outright.

In the event that Americans resident here deposit their American securities held in the United States the government will collect the interest and pay it to the owners in sterling. American residents holding such securities in America may either deposit them with or sell them to the government through the agency of J. P. Morgan & Co. in New York. It is not unlikely that when this ruling becomes generally known there will be an exodus of wealthy Americans living in England. The American embassy and consulate have been besieged of late by American residents seeking information on this point, many of whom threaten to depart from the country unless the government makes an exception in their favor. A member of the Dollar Securities company who discussed the matter today was very positive that all residents subject to the regular income tax will be liable for the penal addition unless they dispose of their American holdings. Residents who are now liable to a tax on unearned income will be compelled to pay five shillings in the pound, while those to whom the super tax applies will pay still more unless they meet the government's demand.

CHICAGO SPEEDWAY RACE IS STILL UNCERTAIN

OFFICIALS BELIEVE GRIND WILL NOT BE RUN TILL SUNDAY.

The great Chicago speedway races will not be run off tomorrow. At least that was the impression about the Windy city at 10 o'clock Friday morning, and there were no indications of enough sunshine to put the big track in shape in the time now remaining.

Continuous rain has made the track soggy and slippery and there is no chance of running on it without at least eight or ten hours' good wind and sunshine. At 10 o'clock today there was no indication of the latter, although the rainy breeze was there.

May Hold Race Sunday.

If a postponement is imperative, the derby will be run Sunday, weather permitting, or on the first fair day thereafter. Richard Kennerdall, chairman of the A. A. A. contest board, who arrived from New York yesterday, has agreed to issue a sanction for a Sunday race, although he has not encouraged Sunday events in the past.

"Although I refused New York a Sunday sanction, I will issue one here," he said yesterday. "New York is a blue law city, but Chicago is different. I do not believe that there would be any criticism of Sunday automobile racing in a city that permits Sunday baseball and where the theaters are open on Sunday."

WILBUR D'ALENE QUITS THE GAME

Lead Pipe Methods Displease the Famous Racer.

According to a story published in the Waukegan Sun, Wilbur D'Alene, the "dark horse" who finished second in the recent Indianapolis 300 miles automobile derby, was deprived of $6,000 prize money by a technicality in his contract, and, disgusted with the auto racing game, has gone to work in a Waukegan auto factory.

The Sun article says in part:

"Literally robbed, as he says, of his prize of $6,000 through a technical interpretation of the contract he had signed with the Dusenberg owners, he has become disgusted with auto racing and says he is through with the game for all time.

"D'Alene is working in the assembling department of the Pierce Motor company, having accepted a position there Monday afternoon.

"The possession of medals, newspaper clippings and photos shows that D'Alene has achieved considerable prominence in the racing game. One newspaper clipping tells how he drove an aeroplane across Lake Erie from Canada, and another shows he was a member of the Royal Canadian dragoons, from which order he received an honrorable discharge.

"Second prize in the big Indianapolis race was $6,000. But D'Alene says he didn't get the money for this reason: He signed a contract to drive the Dusenberg car and 'to accept but one trophy' in return for his work, no matter what his position at the finish. After the race, he says, the Bosch Magneto company tendered him a special prize they had put up, a medal and cup, and he accepted it. Later he was told by the Dusenberg people that by doing so he had eliminated himself from having claim to the $6,000 prize money. Looking at the contract he had signed, he found such to be the case, and, disgusted, he left for Chicago and later came to Waukegan, where he applied for and received a job at the Pearce company's plant.

(By Harold Johnson.)

Another hurdling wizard has come out of the west to hang up new world's records over the high sticks. Bob Simpson, wearing the colors of the University of Missouri, is the latest wonder man of the collegiate athletic realm and his feat of copping the 120 yard high hurdles in 14 3-5 seconds at the ninth annual Missouri valley conference meet at Columbia, Mo., was only part of a brilliant day's work.

In addition Simpson tied the world's mark of 23 2-5 seconds in the 220 low hurdles and put himself in the same class in this event with Alvin Kraenzlein, of Pennsylvania, and Wendell, of Harvard. Then, just for good measure, he won the broad jump at 22 feet 10¼ inches.

Simpson's first real bid for fame was a year ago when he equaled the 15 second mark in the low hurdles. A month ago he tore a fifth of a second off that figure and became world's record holder. That mark was equaled a week later by Fred Murray, of California.

Three of the six stop watches used in timing Simpson at Columbia caught him at 14 3-5 seconds, two caught him a second faster than that time, and one, John Bender, of the Kansas State college, clocked him at 15 seconds.

The hurdlers' biggest surprise came in the 220 yard low hurdles, which he negotiated in the time of 23 3-5 seconds. The last time this record was equaled was when Kraenzlein did it in 1898. This time was 4-5 of a second faster than Simpson has ever run it and it is thought that it is the first time he ever extended himself.

LEAVES TRAIL OF SHATTERED RECORDS

New York ,June 9.—Exceptional performances have been the rule in the intercollegiate track and field meets during the season which closed with the western conference games at Chicago on June 3. New records were frequent not only fro mthe various association standpoints but national and international as well. Meredith, of Pennsylvania; Simpson, of Missouri; Murray, of California; Dismond, of Chicago; Mucks, of Wisconsin, and several others starred during the spring in the role of record breakers.

With this unusual collection of athletes from the Pacific coast, east and middle west competin, a comparison of the results at the championship meets is of more than ordinary interest. A triangular contest between the winners of the Pacific, western and eastern title games would produce such close finishes that any forecast of the result would be at best mere guessing. This is clearly shown by a comparison of the times or distances of the winners in the intercollegiate and conference games held respectively on May 27 at Cambridge, Mass., and June 3 at Chicago. The situation is further complicated by the fact that Michigan, a middle western university, was represented at the eastern meet while the Pacific coast was represented at both games.

Smith, of Michigan ,and his namesake from Wisconsin won the "hundred" in ten seconds flat at the eastern and western meets respectively. In the 220, Mcore, of Princeton, and Smith, of Wisconsin, also tied so far as time is concerned with 21 3-5 seconds. A third tie occurred in the 440, Meredith, of Pennsylvania, and Dismond both running the quarter in 47 2-5 seconds, a new world's record for a race around one turn. The first break in the series of ties is found in the 880, which Meredith won at Cambridge in 1 minute 53 seconds, while Scott, of Missouri A. C., was a fifth of a second slower at Evanston.

An even break of honors occurred in the longer distance races, Windnagle, of Cornell, winning the intercollegiate mile in 4 minutes 15 seconds, to Mason's conference victory in 4 minutes 20 1-5 seconds. Stout, of Chicago, was faster in the two mile than Potter, of Cornell, the respective times being Stout 9 minutes 29 3-5 seconds; Potter, 9 minutes 33 2-5 seconds. The east was entirely outclassed in the hurdle races. Murray, of California, won the intercollegiate events with 15 seconds for the 120 and 24 1-5 for the 220, while Simpson, of Missouri, won over the high hurdles in 14 3-5 seconds and the low in 23 4-5 seconds.

In the high and broad jumps the tables were reversed as Oler, of Yale, cleared the bar at Cambridge at 6 feet 2¼ inches, while Fisher, of Chicago, leaped 6 feet 1½ inches at the conference games. Worthington, of Dartmouth, broad jumped 24 feet ¼ inches at the eastern contests; Prorue, of Illinois, doing 23 feet ½ inch in the west Foss, of Cornell, was eight inches better in the pole vault than the quartet of vaulters who tied at 12 feet in the conference event. Gildersleeve, of California, won both the eastern and western hammer throwing competition with tthrows of 155 feet 1 inch and 153 feet 8 inches, respectively. Liversedge, of California, took the intercollegiate shotput title with a put of 46 feet 2½ inches and also won the conference event with 47 feet 5 inches, but was disqualified upon an eligibility rule and the first place awarde dto Mucks, of Wisconsin, with a put of 46 feet 8 inches.

UMPS INTERFERES WITH BASE-RUNNER

Chicago, June 9.—President B. B. Johnson, of the American league, has sustained a decision of Umpire Chill in the Boston-Cleveland game last Saturday which, it was said today, establishes a precedent for plays in which an umpire interferes with a base runner. The decision of Chill, against which Boston protested, was that the runner return to his base. So far as known no similar case has occurred in major league baseball and is not covered by the rules.

Turner, after making a hit, rounded first base and collided with Chill twice. He then stopped and walked to second base, where he was touched by the Boston second baseman. He was called out by Umpire Chill but after a conference with Umpire Dineen the decision was reversed and Turner was allowed to return to first base. The decision has received the sanction of President Johnson and Boston's protest was disallowed. President Johnson also dismissed a Washington protest against a home run decision at Detroit on Sunday which was covered by ground rules. The official decision allowed a home run on a ball which struck in the field and bounded over the ropes into the bleachers.

ANOTHER BLOW TO LITERATURE

Garry Herrmann Would Stop M'Graw's Works.

Cincinnati, O., June 9.—Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati ball club, today said he would take action with a view to preventing John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, from writing baseball articles for publication.

Herrmann's ire was aroused by the publication of a story signed by McGraw in a New York paper in which McGraw predicted Manager Herzog, of the Reds, and Hal Chase, former star first baseman, who is now playing in the Red outfield, would have trouble before the season is over.

"McGraw's writings are a deliberate attempt to stir up dissension on the Cincinnati team," said Herrmann. "The New York manager always is trying to cause internal troubles on other teams and I am going to try to stop him as far as the Cincinnati club is concerned. Chase and Herzog are getting along together in the best manner possible for the good of the team. They have had no quarrels and I don't expect them to have any. I don't think they will unless McGraw or men of his kind succeed in causing them to clash.

"Ban Johnson stopped American league players from writing for publication and I am going to ask President Tener to take the same action in the National league."

CARL KELLER ACQUITTED.

Former Mayor of Toledo Found Not Guilty of Bribery.

Toledo, O., June 9.—Former Mayor Carl H. Keller, charged with bribery in connection with the purchase of fire apparatus for the city, was found not guilty by a jury here yesterday afternoon.

It was Mr. Keller's second trial, the first having resulted in jury disagreement. The former mayor, who succeeded as city executive Brand Whitlock, now American minister to Belgium, was charged with having accepted an automobile and $500 for turning the contract to a Cleveland firm.

CONCORDIA MEET IS HELD TO-DAY

Concordia college athletes picked this day for their field and track meet at Centlivre park, and in spite of the morning rain a few of them ventured to the park early. The majority of the boys want to run it off today, and unless the rain is continuous the program will be carried out before night.

HARDING STICKS TO REGULAR SCHEDULE

Chicago, June 9.—Chairman Harding, of the republican convention, said today that the republicans would follow the regular procedure when the session was called to order and that balloting probably would be reached at least by 4 o'clock this afternoon.

"The first business of the day," said the chairman, "will be the presentation of the names of candidates followed by seconding speeches. I think we ought to get to balloting by 4 o'clock, but I can't guarantee that."

The chairman said he knew nothing about the report of the republican members of the peace conference committee. "But," he said, "that report is privileged and can be submitted at any time."

Umbrellas Finally Furled.

After fifty-six hours of continuous rain there was hope today that the clouds had emptied themselves.

The sky was still a menacing grey, however, and the best the weather man would promise was "unsettled with probable showers."

Umbrellas were furled for the first time since the conventions began last Wednesday and expressions of relief were general among the delegates and visitors.

Delegates to the republican and progressive national conventions reassembled at the Coliseum and the Auditorium here today facing a situation unprecedented in recent American political party history. The progressives met at 10 o'clock and the republicans resumed their deliberations at 11 o'clock.

Uncertainty as thick and obdurate as the murky weather that has hung over Chicago for three days, prevailed, and all eyes were strained to catch the first possible clearing of the political clouds. No man on the ground was able to predict on a basis of fact what the next twenty-four hours might bring out of the haze; whether it would be harmony and a reunited republican party, or disagreement and dual nominations by the two big conventions.

Midnight Conference Historic.

The day was ushered in by a midnight conference that will become historic of "peace committees" from the progressives and republicans, which took place at the Chicago club on Michigan boulevard.

The conference adjourned before 1 o'clock without definite results, it was said, and details of its deliberations were withheld. It may meet again this afternoon or tonight or it may not. Only the developments of the day can determine that. It was a remarkable picture, formed by the men seated about the conference board in whose hands practically rested the destinies of the republican and progressive parties.

Make Up of Committee.

The republican committee was composed of Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, chairman; former Senator W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts; Senator Wm. E. Borah, of Idaho; Nicholas Murray Butler, of New York, and A. R. Johnson, of Ohio. The progressive committee had George W. Perkins, of New York, for chairman, and the other members were Gov. Hiram Johnson, of California; Horace B. Wilkinson, of New York; Charles J. Boneparte, of Maryland, and John M. Parker, of New Orleans.

Every member of the republican "peace" committee took part in the management of the republican convention of 1912, which brought the progressive party into being. Crane, Smoot and Butler were determined advocates of methods to prevent the nomination of Col. Roosevelt then. R. Johnson, then in congress, supported them. Borah was for Roosevelt, but refused to leave the republican party. When Vice President Sherman died, Mr. Butler was selected as the running mate of President Taft.

Gov. Johnson was a candidate for vice president with Roosevelt on the 1912 progressive ticket. Many times Gov. Johnson has denounced with great vigor the action in 1912 of these men, who last night sat across from him at the counsel table. Bonaparte, of Maryland, constantly has been for Col. Roosevelt and Roosevelt policies. Mr. Parker organized the progressive party in Louisiana. Mr. Perkins and Mr. Wilkinson were with Col. Roosevelt in 1912. Mr. Perkins has been particularly prominent in the councils of the progressive party and one of its most widely known leaders.

They Reported "Progress."

For more than two hours the conferees discussed the points at issue between the progressives and the republicans and took up details of the peace plans projected earlier in the day by the two conventions when the conference committees on harmony had been appointed. When adjournment came it was announced "We report progress," and the statement was made that the members of the two committees would not get together again until after the sessions of the conventions today. They prepared reports which are being presented to their respective conventions. There is considerable doubt as to just how these reports will be received by the delegates and whether leaders in the two conventions can hold bodies of delegates under control while further harmony deliberations are being held. "It is understood," said Senator Borah after last night's conference had concluded, "that while nominating speeches will be made in each convention today no nominations will be made."

Phases Make It Delicate.

"And," said another member of the committee, "we will resume negotiations in the afternoon or evening." But herein enter various phases of the situation which combine to make it so delicate as to invite the unexpected and the uncertain. Leaders of both parties sat up most of the night discussing numerous possibilities that might develop and making plans to handle the situation, should efforts be made to stampede either convention for a particular candidate, or against further delay in making nominations.

Many of the progressives hoped that Col. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay would send a message to the harmony committee that would have a bearing on the situation.

Hughes Men Confident.

The men advocating the nomination by the republican convention of Justice Charles E. Hughes, of the supreme court, declared this morning nothing had occurred to weaken their position and stated they believed their candidate could be nominated today and prepared to press for action on a nomination today.

Managers for the various "favorite son" candidates insisted the harmony conference program had greatly improved the chances for their men and predicted early today that neither the name of Hughes or Roosevelt would appear upon the republican ticket. But in the absence of any definite report of what happened at the "peace" conference at the Chicago club not many people were sanguine of definite results. Many expressed the opinion that the two conventions will go ahead regardless of each other, make their nominations and adjourn.

One Member's View.

In this connection one of the members of last night's conference declared: "The conference has not changed the situation in respect to the probable nomination of Justice Hughes by the republican convention. A situation has been created by which the progressives in all probability will be willing to postpone the desire of the radical members to rush into a nomination of Col. Roosevelt for the sole purpose of being the first to put a ticket in the field. I believe that the conference made for good feeling regardless of whether we accomplishd the main purpose of coming together or not."

ALLEGE SUMS DUE FROM 7 OFFICIALS

State Board of Accounts Recommends Suits to Recover.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 9.—Thirteen suits against seven former or present township, county or city officials in various parts of the state for the recovery of public funds are recommended in a detailed report of the state board of accounts filed with Governor Ralston by Gilbert H. Hendren, state examiner of the board. The officials against whom the action has been recommended and the amounts alleged to be due are as follows:

Albert St. John, former constable in Warren township, Marion county, $59.60, $77.50 and $303.40.

William E. Hendrill, former constable in Center township, Marion county, $183.70.

Daniel Showalter, former auditor of Wabash county, $525 and $560.

In the recommendations for each of the suits the fact is set forth that the various officials or former officials have been given an opportunity to confer with the members of the state board of accounts in regard to the money and that in each case the proposal for a conference has been ignored.

DR. W. T. GOTT REAPPOINTED

Indianapolis, June 9.—Governor Ralston has announced the reappointment of Dr. W. T. Gott, of Crawfordsville, as a member of the state board of medical registration and examination. Dr. Gott has been secretary of the board for several years. His term now will expire April 23, 1920.

Dr. Gott, at the time the governor was pushing his central board of control idea for all state institutions, wrote the governor a letter complimenting the idea and supporting the governor in the stand he was making at that time for the central board idea.

"Paint Me As I Am"

Said Cromwell---

When sitting for a picture—"If you leave out the scars and wrinkles I will not pay you a shilling."

So, New Store, we'll "paint" you as you are—scars, wrinkles and all.

You may see yourself as others see you, and as this is Centennial week, it's a splendid time to give yourself the once-over.

There is a kindly welcome in your youthful face—In your rough stone and steel there is much symbolic of your staunchness.

Day after day more people are showing their appreciation.

FORWARD! —Tepper's.

All Hail to the New Covert Coats

And examine as carefully as one will—

At this very hour—New York says they are quite the "thing." Women like their swagger cut—their wide sweep skirt—the pretty doubled collars which are made with contrasting Silk Poplins over the self material. One may be removed if desired.

It's a Special Purchase from our New York Office!

The manufacturer needed cash to turn his attention to Fall Garments. We had it—and incidentally our FIVE store buying power enabled us to handle the quantity he had for disposal.

So there!

Here's the price! Come and see!

Well Known Shopman Has Worked for the Pennsylvania 52 Years.

Pennsylvania Shop Clerk J. H. Hobrock is getting the data for the retirement of John Shuster, which will take place August 1. Mr. Shuster was born in Mahoning county, Ohio, July 15, 1846, and will be seventy years old next month. He has worked for the Pennsylvania company since 1864, taking service there immediately after being honorably discharged from the United States army, in which he served during the greater portion of the civil war. Mr. Shuster served in several capacities at the shops and has been the watchman at the Lafayette street gate ever since the retirement of Paul Hanley, about two years ago.

BRETHREN MOVING ON WINONA.

Big Triennial Church Convention Opened Today.

The 20,000 to 25,000 members of the Church of the Brethren who will take part in the triennial meeting at Winona from June 9 to 19 have started to move in that direction. Tomorrow the Pennsylvania will handle two special trains carrying these people from central Ohio. One will be delivered to the Pennsylvania at Upper Sandusky by the Hocking Valley and the other will be delivered to the G. R. & I. by the Panhandle at Richmond and to the Pennsylvania at Fort Wayne. This train will have eight cars. There will be a number of other special trains and all the regular trains will carry extra cars filled with the Brethren and their families.

NOT HURT SERIOUSLY.

C. E. Urbahns Only Sustained Body Bruises in Wreck.

Conductor A. E. Urbahns, of the Nickel Plate, is in receipt of news to the effect that his brother, Supt. C. E. Urbahns, of the Steven's Point division of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie, was only slightly injured in the wreck on that line a few days ago. His injuries consist chiefly of body bruises and no bones were broken. It was reported at first that he sustained more serious injuries. In the accident several passengers were injured when the cars were derailed.

HIGHEST FLAG IN CITY.

Floats From Top of 225-Foot Cement Pouring Tower.

F. G. Duryee, of the Electric works, was master of ceremonies in a Centennial stunt that attracts a lot of attention in the vicinity of the big plant. The tower for pouring concrete for the big building on Wall street is 225 feet high, and Mr. Duryee and his assistants have placed a huge American flag on top of it, and at night they illuminate the flag by means of an old-fashioned river searchlight.

Many Times on Operating Table.

Engineer Jerry S. Sweeney, of the Wabash passenger service and president of the Wabash Enginemen's school of instruction, who recently underwent another serious operation at the Decatur hospital for a chronic trouble, is reported to be on the high way to recovery. The operation is declared to have been a complete success. Mr. Sweeney had been compelled during the past fifteen years to undergo several very severe operations.

Engineer Sweeney has been in hospitals and on the operating table of those institutions nearly a dozen times in the past fifteen years. His troubles began way back in 1900 when he was terribly injured while pulling the Continental Limited train from Danville to Decatur, he crashed through an open switch and into a long string of coal cars at the Jasper street yard office at Decatur. One of his legs was so badly broken that when it had grown well it was several inches shorter than the other. Sweeney immediately went to the Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, and had the leg bones broken over and stretched, so that when he came out he walked with only a slight limp.

IN FINE OFFICES.

The large office room formed by partitioning the north end of the second story of the new store house of the General Electric works from the other portion, is now the home of the offices of the receiving, the shipping and the billing and cost departments, of which R. O. Orff, John F. Keiss and Walter Crise respectively, are the heads. There are upwards of forty people at work in the large room.

BILLY BRENNAN LOSES FINGER.

William T. Brennan, one of the old machinists in point of service at the Fort Wayne Electric works, was the victim of a most painful accident this morning. While grinding a tool at an emery wheel the index finger of his left hand was caught and pressed against the stone until all the flesh and part of the bone of the digit was cut away nearly to the first joint. Dr. F. J. Schulz, the company's surgeon, amputated the digit just back of the first joint. The accident will put Mr. Brennan out of commission two or three weeks. He is employed in the big machine room, under Foreman Charles F. Brenner.

FRANK MORE ON OPERATING TABLE

Engineer and Mrs. Charles More, who accompanied his brother, Frank E. More, to Cincinnati several days ago, returned home this morning, bringing the cheerful news that Mr. More passed through a surgical operation in fine shape and will recover, it is believed. Mrs. Frank More remained at Cincinnati to be near her husband's side during the time he is in the hospital. Mr. More's condition is the result of an injury some years ago. He is an assistant road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania.

CONSTRUCTION WORK RAPID.

The Wells Brothers company, the firm engaged in building the big shops on Wall street for the General Electric works, are pushing the work along rapidly. Tomorrow night will see the completion of the concrete floor of the first story, the floor in the basement having been completed several days. The forms for the wall of the first story are nearly all in position and pouring of concrete is in progress there.

Only One Fort Wayne Man There

According to the report of the Peru hospital officials, only one Fort Wayne man is in that institution at present, the smallest number for many weeks. Rolland C. Hollabaugh, the Fort Wayne man at the hospital, is there for treatment for sickness. Last week a number of patients were discharged from the hospital, but none were Fort Wayne people.

MR. SARVER MUCH BETTER.

Mrs. Sarver, who accompanied her husband, B. F. Sarver, to the Martinsville sanitarium a week ago, returned home last night, bringing news of a great improvement in the condition of her husband. If the improvement continues, Mr. Sarver will come home the latter part of next week. He suffers from a severe attack of rheumatism and tonsilitis.

HAD HIS FINGERS CUT.

Albert Thompson had the misfortune to have the inner side of two of his fingers cut this morning. Dr. F. J. Schulz attended him. Thompson is employed with Foreman Henry Stahlhut, in the yard maintenance department.

OLD SECRET AGAIN SUBJECT OF GOSSIP

Is Time Near When England Will Use Dundonald Plan?

By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.

London, England, June 9—If the Germans should invade England, will they be repulsed by the world's greatest secret?

For 105 years the British war office has possessed an appalling plan of war, warranted to give victory at one blow.

In 1811, when the great shadow of invasion overshadowed Great Britain, Thomas Cochrane, Lord Dundonald, a naval genius with no peer except Nelson, invented a secret plan of war which he believed to be annihilating. England, then at death grips with Napoleon, submitted the scheme to a secret tribunal of five military, naval and scientific experts.

That night the king summoned the inventor. "We will bury your secret in the war office to await the day of a greater menace. You must pledge your word never to divulge the nature of this sure shield against invasion."

The grim promise was given. Followed 40 years of peace. Then came the Crimean war, a years-long fight waged at great distance against a powerful and implacable enemy. Again Dundonald urged his irresistable plan.

So desperate was the situation that the government called upon a triumverate of great scientists to investigate and decide. Michael Faraday, Lyon Playfair and Graham sat in judgment on the terrible possibility.

Said Dundonald: "This plan will obliterate every ship from the sea, every enemy fortress and army from the land, instantly and irrevocably as a child rubs pencilings from a slate. This can be done at a total cost of $1,000,000."

Only the tribunal's decision was made public. "We assume it to be possible that the plan contains power for producing the sweeping destruction the inventor ascribes to it. But, after mature consideration, we are resolved that such a scheme is too terrible for civilized warfare."

Five years later the "Defender of England" lay dying. "The day will come," he prophesied, "when Dundonald's plan of war must be employed. Let Great Britain rest assured it will prove the infallible means of securing victory at one blow."

Has that day dawned?

Will the dead hand of Dundonald hurl the thunderbolt forged more than a century ago?

The prize of the titanic battle now preparing is world dominion or downfall. When the Germans attempt to invade England—if they are met with the world's greatest secret—what then?

That is the greatest IF in the world.

JUDGE EICHHORN COMES SATURDAY

Hon. William H. Eichhorn, of the Blackford-Wells circuit bench, is expected to come to Fort Wayne Saturday to assume jurisdiction in the Allen circuit court as special judge in the case of the state against Henry P. Scherer, trustee of Wayne township, against whom the grand jury returned an accusation for impeachment. Judge Eichhorn was chosen by the attorneys for the state and the defense to sit in the case and the appointment was made by Judge John W. Eggeman. It is probable that Trustee Scherer's counsel, Judge Edward O'Rourk and former Prosecuting Attorney Harry H. Hilgemann will file their answer to the accusation Saturday.

Notes of the Courts.

In the superior court Friday Judge Carl Yaple heard the arguments of counsel in the suit of Roy O. Geesman, of Huntington, vs. Ernest W. Cook, receiver for the Bash Fertilizer and Chemical company, for the recovery of money paid by the plaintiff for stock in the now defunct concern on the ground of fraud. Since the suit was begun Geesman has died and his widow is continuing the suit. Judge Yaple took the case under advisement.

In the case of Flossie Pearl Renneman vs. Frank Renneman for divorce, the defendant has filed a cross-complaint in the superior court.

The circuit court has sent DeKalb county on a change of venue the case of Clarence R McCammon et al. vs. the S. Baum Commission company and the Big Four Fruit company.

Charles F. Hilker has begun suit in the superior court against Jennie O. Wyatt to recover $90 on an account. W. H. Reed is attorney for the plaintiff.

In the suit of Elsie Burger vs. Emma Feldheiser and Mary M. Belling on a note, the defendant Belling has commenced an action in the superior court against the defendant Feldheiser, demanding $175. The cross-complaint says that she was surety for the defendant Feldheiser and had already made a partial payment of $165, not knowing that she was not legally bound to do so.

HELD AS HORSE THIEVES.

Deputy Sheriffs D. G. Mills and Ed Courdevey, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff R. C. Towsley, of Battle Creek, Mich., went to a horse traders' camp near Lindenwood cemetery Thursday night, and arrested Earl Andrews and George Schumaker, of Marshall, Mich., who are believed to be guilty of stealing horses in Michigan. They will be held here until requisition papers arrive.

PLAN TO IMPROVE THE BOULEVARDS

Park Board Has Resolutions Ready for Action Soon.

The board of park commissioners has had prepared several resolutions for the further improvement of Anthony and Rudisill boulevards and these probably will be considered at the earliest meeting at which there is the presence of a quorum. Grading, sidewalks and other betterments are contemplated in the resolutions.

Col. D. N. Foster, president of the park board, and Charles J. Steiss, secretary of that body, have just returned from Cleveland, where they attended the national conference of city planning, and report a most successful affair.

BOARD OF WORKS MEETING.

The board of works, Thursday evening, placed on file a remonstrance by resident property owners against the resolution to pave the square of Nelson street, between Jefferson and Wilt streets. It bears enough signatures to kill the resolution. The board adopted a declaratory resolution for the paving of Lexington avenue, from Calhoun Place addition to Fiqua avenue, ordered plans for a sewer in the alleys east and west of Calhoun street, between Spy Run and the north city limits, to drain into the Spy Run district main sewer, and adopted resolutions for a local sewer between Polk and Burgess streets, from Franklin avenue to St. Mary's avenue, and for five local sewers in the southeast part of the city. Petitions were received for paving Rockhill street from Lavina street to the Pennsylvania railroad, for paving the first alley east of Webster street, from Suttenfield street to Woodland avenue, and for some sidewalks.

Overland Car That Won First Prize in the Automobile Parade Thursday

SCENE AT UNVEILING OF HARMAR'S FORD MONUMENT.

The accompanying Sentinel snap-shot was made just as Mrs. J. B. Crankshaw lifted the flag from the face of the Harmar's Ford monument on the Lakeside dike Thursday noon.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 9. — Wheat advanced sharply today as a result of the bullish showing of the government crop report. Free profit taking on the upturn did not cause much of a reaction.

Opening prices, which varied from 1⅛@1¼c to 2¾@2½c higher, with July at $1.06¾ to $1.07½, and September at $1.08 to $1.09¼, were followed by a period of comparative steadiness, slightly under the top side of the iintial range.

The close was unsettled, 2¼c to 2¼@2⅝c net higher, with July at $1.07¾ and September at $1.09⅛.

Corn rose with wheat but was checked by numerous resting orders to sell. After opening ¼c to ½c higher, the market gained a little more and then underwent a moderate sag.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 9.—Railway shares were again the dominant features on the resumption of trading today, although initial dealings were not on the liberal scale that characterized yesterday's early operations. St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Reading, Wabash preferred issues and Colorado Southern were higher by substantial fractions to 1½ points, and New York Central showed unusual activity. Chesapeake & Ohio was slightly lower on profit taking. U. S. Steel led the seasoned industrials on buying of an impressive character, with strength in Crucible Steel, Studebaker, United Fruit, American Woolen and Beet Sugar, the latter at the new record of 84⅛.

Inquiry for rails soon assumed wider scope, Union Pacific making a spirited rise of 1¼, while Central was confidently absorbed in blocks of 1,000 to 6,000 shares. United States Steel leadership became more pronounced on its gain of a point and Studebaker's four-point rise was marked because other motors and the munitions were backward, as were also shipping issues. Trading slackened and prices yieldec slightly on realizing before midday. Bonds were firm.

BABY BONDS FOR FUTURE HOUSEHOLD NEEDS

"I foresaw that we were soon to be forced to renew much of the furniture in our home," said a Baby Bond purchaser, "but it's so easy to get in too deep if you buy on installments that I determined to invest in a Baby Bond every month until we had enough saved to pay cash."

Baby Bonds are in $10 denominations, secured by first mortgages on local real estate and paying a six per cent. interest. For further information call Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff building.

ANGLO-JAPANESE PACT PERMANENT

Kioto, Japan, May 8.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—What many Japanese people regard as an important political address was delivered yesterday by Baron Takaaki Kato, former minister of foreign affairs, and leader of the government Doshikai party, at the inaugural meeting of the Kioto branch of his party. Alluding to Japan's position in the present war, Baron Kato declared that in his opinion the Anglo-Japanese alliance must remain the main pillar of the nation's diplomacy.

The speaker said that Japan would gain a reasonable compensation in return for the part she has played in the war but he wished to emphasize that Japan's position was different from that of her allies in Europe inasmuch as Japan's activities have been restricted to the Orient. The statesman warned his compatriots that should they expect too much from the peace conference they would be disappinoted.

Turning his attention to the recent attacks on the Anglo-Japanese alliance, Baron Kato expressed his regrets that unfriendly comments should have been made. It was certain, he said, that they were confined to politicians and lay academicians. What the scholars voiced was the more dangerous, he declared, because although these men may not know much about practical diplomacy, the masses of the people are likely to be misled by their scholastic attainments and believe they are right. The ex-minister added:

"It would be most regrettable if our people are led to any erroneous conception of the Anglo-Japanese alliance for I regard it as the main pillar of our diplomacy."

Baron Kato said he understood that the critics based their objections to the alliance on the attitude of British officials and merchants in China, who were alleged to be hindering Japanese undertakings in that country and on their belief that the formation of an alliance with Russia would render the pact with Great Britain useless. It was true, he thought, that some British merchants in China have continually slandered Japan and her people, but he was convinced that these Englishmen did not represent Great Britain.

As for the alliance with Russia, Baron Kato declared it the height of folly to imagine that it could be formed and maintained independently of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. He, for one, would welcome an alliance with Russia, he said, but he was convinced that it could be made only on the strength of the pact with Great Britain and that it must be supplementary to that alliance.

"When the peace conference is held the Anglo-Japanese alliance must be the basis of our policy, and Japan must, of course, co-operate with Russia and France," Baron Kato concluded. "If Japan goes astray from this policy her position will become very difficult. It is most important that our people should recognize the delicate diplomatic relationship and endeavor to smooth the way that lies before us for generations to come."

ROOSEVELT'S NAME WILL BE PRESENTED

Fall of New Mexico, to Offer Colonel to Republican Body--Name of Hughes is First to Be Put in Nomination.

TWO BALLOTS BEFORE ADJOURNMENT OR RECESS

CHICAGO, JUNE 9.—Nominations of candidates began today in the republican nation convention. The first was that of Justice Hughes. Governor Whitman made the nominating speech, when as the roll of states was called, Alabama and Alaska passed and Arizona yielded to New York.

Governor Whitman's speech was interrupted by a six-minute demonstration for former President Taft which the republican peace conferees declared they considered "unofficial instructions." Earlier the convention had heard the report of the conference with the progressives. The conference will continue. Gov. Whitman reached his peroration at 12:11 o'clock and a demonstration began.

Will Offer Roosevelt.

It was announced that Col. Roosevelt would be nominated in the republican convention by Senator Fall, of New Mexico.

Seconding speeches for Root will be made by the following: A. M. Stevenson, Colorado; Marion Butler, North Carolina; William Potter, Penn.; S. T. Fuller, Massachusetts; C. H. Sergel, Illinois; L. D. Desnay, Oklahoma; W. A. Lord, New Jersey.

Senator Smoot and former Senator Crane, when they learned that Senator Borah had gone to the progressive convention, said it was an entirely personal matter with him and that he went at his own volition.

The convention greeted that with an outburst of hand-clapping and there was another when he declared the nation should always be "prepared and proud to fight."

Demonstration for Taft.

There was a demonstration when Gov. Whitman mentioned the name of William Howard Taft. The delegates rose cheering and waving their hats and for the first time the whole body of them were on their feet. The band struck up and rolled the cheers along. It was the best demonstration of the convention.

Cheering for Taft lasted six minutes.

Mr. Whitman quoted from an eight-year-old speech of Justice Hughes declaring for "adequate provision for our defense and maintenance of the efficiency of the army and navy," there was more applause.

As Gov. Whitman closed and mentioned Hughes' name there was a demonstration.

Root Is Next Named.

A man in the delegation who voted in the place of Delegate Wright because, he said, he had Wright's "badge and credentials," was put out and the alternate who took Wright's place voted "no."

The ayes had it, however, and Whitman, of New York, was recognized and took the platform to nominate Justice Hughes. The demonstration subsided while Gov. Whitman was introduced.

Whitman Nominates Hughes.

His declaration that "we are here to choose the next president," was applauded. Then the convention went into a denunciation of President Wilson's foreign policy and a declaration that the prosperity of the country only was temporary and dependent wholly on the war. For the time to come, he declared, the nation called for "our greatest statesmen and the republican party."

PETE AND JACK WILL RETIRE FROM SERVICE

Motor Pump Will Replace Engine at House No. 1, Saturday.

The services of Pete and Jack will not be required any more at No. 1 engine house after Saturday morning, June 10. The two faithful servants who have spent their best days in the service of the city will soon pass away from the care of the fire laddies at the central station. The engine which these two white horses have taken to many a fire will be replaced by the motor pump which has been in the city for the past two weeks.

However, the horses and the old engine will be held in reserve so that if they are needed for any reason at any of the other houses they can soon be put into service. The motor pump has been thoroughly tested and several of the firemen have been taught to operate the big machine. The regular driver will be appointed Friday evening.

The tractor which will replace the horses on the hose and ladder wagon will arrive soon, as will the motor hose wagon which is being built in South Bend.

JOHN R. M'LEAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Cincinnati Enquirer Owner Dies at His Home in Washington.

JOHN R. M'LEAN.

Mr. McLean, who was in his sixty-eighth year, had been suffering from a complication of diseases for several months. He was a native of Cincinnati, where he lived until a few years ago, when he came to Washington. As a young man he acquired his father's interest in the Enquirer and in 1881 he became sole owner of the paper. Ten years ago he bought the Washington Post.

For years Mr. McLean was active in Ohio politics. He attended national conventions as a delegate at large, ran for United States senator in 1885, was the democratic nominee for governor in 1899, and later served as democratic national committeeman from Ohio. A son, Edward B. McLean, active in the management of the Post, and a sister, wife of Admiral Dewey, survive him.

W. M. M'KINNIE PROPERTY SOLD

Elmer Leonard Friday morning closed a deal with the United Realty company whereby he comes into possession of the William M. McKinnie property at 616 West Berry street. The purchase price was slightly under $10,000.

The property was sold by Mrs. McKinnie to the realty concern last week, and Mr. Leonard purchased it from the concern Friday morning. The new owner, who lives directly west of his purchase, bought the house merely as an investment, and contemplates no changes in it for the immediate present.

HIT BY AUTO AND LEFT BY ROADSIDE

George Webb, aged 49 and employed on the farm of I. W. Lanford, in Wayne township, was knocked from his bicycle at 9:30 o'clock Thursday night, on the highway southwest of Lindenwood cemetery, when he was struck by a speeding automobile that came up behind him. The driver of the car did not stop to ascertain the result of the collision, but sped on, leaving Webb helpless by the roadside until after midnight, when he was found by some gypsies encamped near by. The Romanies cared for Webb until morning, when the police were notified and Webb was taken in the ambulance to St. Joseph hospital. He was found to have severe injuries to his back and sever cuts and bruises about the arms. Webb has no idea whose car it was that struck him.

OPEN HOUSE BY THE MOOSE SATURDAY

The Fort Wayne lodge of Moose will keep open house Saturday evening for all local and visiting brethren and their friends. There will be dancing in the auditorium for which the Roembke orchestra will furnish music and the famous Mooseheart band, which is paying its second visit to Fort Wayne this week, will give a concert. The Fort Wayne Moose have been exerting themselves to the utmost to extend the hospitalities of their splendid new home to all visiting members of the order this week.

RENDITION OF THE PAGEANT TONIGHT

TUESDAY'S TICKETS GOOD FOR TONIGHT.

Persons holding reserved seat tickets for last Tuesday evening will be entitled to use them tonight. There is an opportunity to secure good seats for tonight, and no one should fail to take advantage of the opportunity to see the pageant now. Holders of tickets for Thursday night will use them Saturday.

Fort Wayne's wonderful pageant will be given tonight and there will be no further postponements unless as a very last resort. This action was taken by Chairman Ed C. Miller and members of the centennial cabinet Friday afternoon.

Stores Agree to Close.

Messrs. E. W. Puckett, E. H. Merritt, John Wilding, A. S. Bond, B. Paul Mossman and Arthur Smith, as a committee, Friday afternoon canvassed the business houses as far as possible to secure an agreement to close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening in order to allow their employes an opportunity to attend the pageant. At 2 o'clock the signatures of all the large dry goods establishments had been secured, and it is the hope that all business in the city will suspend at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Children Give Demonstration.

The physical culture demonstration of 1,500 school children at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon on West Wayne street between Harrison street and Fairfield avenue attracted a large crowd. The demonstration was under the direction of Prof. Henry Meyer. Music was furnished by a band of sixty pieces.

Weather conditions Friday morning were not favorable and kept hundreds away. However, every performance of the pageant will eventually be given and it is not at all unlikely that the celebration will extend into next week. Definite announcement of further plans will be made later.

The Woman's building will remain open Saturday, one day longer than was intended. The decorated automobiles in Thursday's parade will also take part in the fraternal parade on Saturday afternoon. Practically every business house in the city has agreed to close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

Auditorium, June 9.—Col. Roosevelt's secretary, John W. McGrath, and his former secretary of the white house, William Loeb, Jr., were on the convention platform about one minute at 11:05 a. m. They whispered to a few leaders and retired.

Mr. Loeb said "we hope to keep the convention from doing anything foolish." He declined to interpret the word "foolish."

McGrath and Loeb after retiring from the rostrum are understood to have taken positions in an ante room equipped with a long distance telephone, connected with Oyster Bay. Frequently they came back to the platform and the party leaders buzzed with activity.

Following the arrival of McGrath and Loeb a report was circulated, to which the party managers gave ready ear, that Col. Roosevelt intended to withdraw his name. There seemed to be no competent authority for the prediction and radicals said they "would name Teddy anyway."

FORMER RESIDENT HERE.

S. B. McManus Was at One Time Editor of Fort Wayne Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. McManus, of Marshbrook Place, Howe, Ind., former residents of Fort Wayne, are spending centennial week as the guests of Mrs. Kitty Wagner, 213 West Wayne street. AMERICAN BANKER STRONGER ABROAD

Federal Reserve System Has Made Him So, Says Mr. Warburg.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 9.—Strengthening of the position of American bankers in international finance was declared to have been one of the most important results of the federal reserve system, by Paul M. Warburg, member of the federal reserve board, who addressed the New York State Bankers' association here today. The federal reserve act, he asserted not only has removed many obstacles which hampered bankers and merchants in dealing with other countries, particularly those of South America, but has provided a positive method by which the country's financial interests may be unified in seeking foreign business.

Predicting that the American bankers' acceptance business would continue to grow even after the war ends, he criticised many importers, particularly of New York, for what he said, was their folly in not using American exchange. He recommended that all republics of the continent adopt a uniform monetary standard on the basis of a gold coin equivalent to one-fifth of an American dollar.

"With our increasing financial strength," he said, "and with the daily diminution of Europe's saving power it stands to reason that, for a long time to come, our discount rates will compare favorably with those of Europe. Our friends in South America consider the creation of the federal reserve system as one of our greatest achievements, and their willingness to rely upon our ability to provide—to a certain extent, at least—such financial aid as Europe gave them in the past is predicated upon the confidence that our new system inspires."

Mr. Warburg cited preparations for war made by the federal reserve board to congress and suggested that the recommendations lead in two directions:

"The one is an increase of the reserve banks' general strength and lending power and an enlargement of their scope of usefulness in dealing with their members," he said. "The other is the removal of limitations heretofore placed upon the operation of national banks. The board feels keenly that as a matter of equity national banks should be placed on a parity with state banks and trust companies, wherever this can be done consistently with safety and conservative banking principles.

"Between the national and state banking systems, there must not be any competition to secure more members by a lowering of banking standards. The whole country would suffer if this took place."

WE'VE GOT 'EM ANYWAY DECLARES MR. PERKINS

BULLETIN.

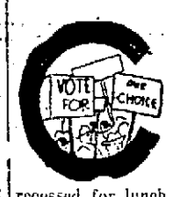
The first amendment was submitted by William Dudley Foulke, of Indiana, to the civil service reform plank, proposing to extend the merit system to the merit system to all non-political offices, including postmasters. Foulke's proposal was roared down.

BULLETIN.

Auditorium, Chicago, June 9.—(2:40 p. m.)—Insistent demands were made upon progressive leaders by some of the "radical" element during the recess that the progressive convention nominate Col. Roosevelt before Senator Fall nominated him in the republican convention. It was insisted that such a move would add strength to Fall's remarks:

"I think the colonel will be nominated in the republican convention first," Secretary McGrath said.



CHICAGO, June 9.—(1:13 p. m.)—After finishing consideration of their platform section by section but without voting for its final adoption the progressive convention recessed for lunch at 1:08 until 3 p. m.

The conference committee are understood to be watching the situation to determine whether there is any use to try again to get together. This depended, it was said, on whether the republicans went on with nominations or desired further parleys.

What Perkins Says.

The visit of Senator Borah was said by Mr. Perkins to be "another sign of the friendly spirit between the two conventions." Mr. Perkins said he could not know what significance could be attached to the senator's visit. Some leaders suggested that Borah might be the compromise nominee suggested by the republicans. "Anyway, we're making a record for ourselves that will set us right before the country."

"No matter what the outcome, we've got 'em, anyway," Perkins said.

Borah Gets Ovation.

Without any preliminary announcement Senator William E. Borah entered the Auditorium at 12:40 p. m., where the progressives were assembled in convention. He was escorted to the platform. A tremendous ovation was given him.

Chairman Robins introduced Senator Borah and the convention reared itself hoarse when the senator said he had not come officially.

"I will say to you frankly," were his first words. "I came over here to get an inspiration." At once a wave swept over the hall, started no one knew how, suggesting that stronger events than harmony, with Borah as the man to unite the parties, might happen. This thought grew as the senator in his speech introduced the magic name "Roosevelt," as the progressives' great leader.

Lafayette Man Puts the Indiana Candidate Before Convention.

Chicago, June 9.—Charles W. Fairbanks was presented to the republican national convention today by Representative William R. Wood, of Indiana, as Indiana's candidate for the presidential nomination, and as the man who not only would make one of the greatest presidents the country ever has had, but whose election would assure the election of a republican majority to both branches of congress.

Mr. Wood pointed to the former vice president's record as spokesman for President McKinley in the senate before and during the Spanish war, to his part in framing the policy of the nation toward territorial acquisitions and to his championing of sound money and a protective tariff as proof that he was fitted by ability and experience to guide the destinies of the nation during the trying times ahead. He declared that Mr. Fairbanks, who had marched from an Ohio log cabin to a senatorship and to the vice presidency of the United States, was in the zenith of his intellectual powers. Referring to the split in the party four years ago, he said Indiana's son spoke whenever called upon during the embittered campaign that followed, always expounded republican doctrine, but at no time imputing evil motive to anyone who "for the time had departed from the house of the fathers."

With Indiana again the great political battleground of the country, Mr. Wood suggested that wisdom in the choice of a presidential candidate would make certain the election of two senators from that state.

"In selecting our candidate," said Representative Wood at the outset, "we will be actuated by but one prime purpose, and guided by but one supreme desire, that is, to name a man who will stand four square to all the winds that blow against the honor, the dignity and rightful prosperity of the republic, and who will, at the end of his tenure of office, leave, as the brightest heritage of his administration, his entire country and all its citizens prosperous and at peace with all the world, and the republican party, that confided to him its trust, firmly entrenched in the confidence and affections of the nation.

"In order that this may be, our candidate should be a man who possesses as nearly as possible all the qualifications of heart and mind that are so requisite to the fullest discharge of the duties of this great office.

"He should be a man with a grasp of the necessities of the hour, a statesman in every sence of the word, broad-minded and just, who knows not only the needs of his country and its people

What Harmony Committee Reported to Conventions

"To the Republican National Convention:—Your committee appointed pursuant to the resolution adopted at yesterday's session, met in conference with a committee representing the national progressive convention last evening. That the progressive committee of conference consisted of Mr. Perkins of New York, Johnson of California, Bonaparte of Maryland, Wilkinson of New York and Parker of Louisiana. The conference was frank, free and most friendly. The conferees were of one mind in believing that the good of the country and perhaps its repute and influence for years to come depends upon the complete defeat of the present democratic administration and the restoration of the control of the executive and legislative branches of the government to the hands of those who firmly believe in and will execute the policies that are so heartily supported by the republican and the progressive parties alike. The conferees were unanimous in urging temperateness and fairness. As to the progressive opinion that Theodore Roosevelt of New York had so large a personal following and such a close personal relation to the issues of the coming campaign as to make him the most desirable candidate upon which to unite, it was agreed that your conferees would report these facts to this convention. Respectfully submitted."

The report was signed by Reed Smoot, W. Murray Crane, W. E. Borah, A. R. Johnson and Nicholas Murray Butler.

Report of the Progressives.

"The Progressive National Convention:—Your committee appointed pursuant to the resolution adopted at yesterday's session met in conference with the committee representing the republican national convention last evening. The committee of conference representing the republican national convention consisted of Messrs. Reed Smoot, W. Murray Crane, William E. Borah, Nicholas Murray Butler and A. R. Johnson.

"The conference was most friendly. Immediately upon assembling your committee proposed as the joint nominee of both conventions the name of Theodore Roosevelt. The committee representing the republican national committee did not present the name of any candidate, nor did it attempt to refute our arguments relating to the unique availability of Theodore Roosevelt as a candidate to unite both parties or to serve our common country at this crucial period in the history of the world. After several hours of friendly discussion, during which no concrete proposition was advanced by the republican conferees, except that a further conference might be desirable this afternoon or evening, the joint committee adjourned."

The supreme moment in the history of Fort Wayne has come.

The pageant is the most artistic event, not only in the history of this city, but in the history of America. From the point of view of our national life Fort Wayne holds a most prominent position, serving as "the glorious gateway of the west." During the past one hundred years, more history has been made in this vicinity than in any other in all the middle west. And today, in this magnificent celebration, patriotism reaches its highest note within our gates. This patriotism should find practical expression.

If bad weather continues, so that we cannot use our tickets, let us be large enough, unselfish enough and loyal enough to Fort Wayne to forget it and not ask our money back. Every true citizen of Fort Wayne will most gladly share in the misfortune of the past week. The centennial committee has worked day and night, and thousands of dollars have been invested in the celebration, to make this the greatest event in our history. These men must have the support of all loyal Fort Wayne citizens.

The pageant typifies the significance of all the labors of our fathers and our mothers, who founded our city, established our schools, built our public buildings and consecrated our homes—their prophecy of a glorious tomorrow. Thus our celebration is a thing of joy, of beauty, and of loftiest patriotism. It appeals also to our deepest religious and moral life.

Hundreds of Fort Wayne people have declared that the glorious event of Wednesday night was the most beautiful, elaborate and artistic thing they have ever seen.

If you have not seen this most wonderful of all pageants, avail yourself of this opportunity without fail.

LOITERERS SWELL THE CITY DOCKET

Suspicious Characters Are Sent in to Prevent Mischief.

Suspicious persons picked up by the police and detained on loitering charges made up a large part of Friday's docket in the city court.

George White, a youngster who gave Cleveland, O., as his hailing place and Chicago as his destination, had a box of cheap rings when he was arrested by Officer Ellyson. White said he bought the rings to sell in the northwest. He was detained under bond for investigation.

Gregg Baker and Claud Chappell, who have been tarrying at the East Columbia street mission for some days, and claim to have just established a firm for engaging in the painting business, were held until next Monday on loitering charges and put under $200 bond.

James McCann, arrested by Officer Webber, was lurking in the dark stairway alongside a jewelry store on Calhoun street near the railroads south. He was partly soused and could not give an account of himself and was sent in. On a drunk charge he was continued until Monday under bond.

Paul Babnat said he was journeying through Fort Wayne from Alliance, O., to points west and the pretty colors and bright lights lured him from his train for a stopover and a share in the frolics of Fort Wayne's fete. He was diligent in his efforts and by 12:30 Friday morning was so well lit up that he was war-whooping like a pageant Indian and undertaking the premature removal of the patriotic decorations on Calhoun street. Officer Glenn Johnston sent him in and Judge Kerr fined him $10 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Dick Brennan Back to Farm.

Dick Brennan, a city court regular, was tried on a charge of drunkenness, with previous convictions, and was sentenced to pay $100 fine and thirty days at the state penal farm—140 days all told. This will be the bibulous Richard's second term at that rustic institution.

Other City Court Cases.

Of the drunks Cherry Anderson and Charles Sturgart were fined $1 and costs each, Luke Ganon and James Haring were turned loose, and A. B. Smith, a youngster who was well loaded and riding a bicycle on the sidewalk on Calhoun street, drew $5 and costs. A set of steel knucks was found in his pocket.

George East and Peter McConnell, two well dressed and respectable young men from Warsaw, were arrested at the exposition grounds Thursday night by an over-zealous private officer employed there. They were shown to have been committing no offense and Judge Kerr let them go.

Jasper Carlson talked too much to Officer John Hill, who was investigating an automobile smash near the Calhoun street subway and was sent in on a disorderly charge. He gave bond and defaulted appearance save by counsel, and was fined $5 and costs.

George Russell was found guilty of stealing a small sum of money from the home of Mrs. Oestermeier, who keeps a boarding house on Montgomery street, and was fined $10 and costs and given fifteen days in jail.

Harry Howard, a loiterer held for two or three days for investigation, was found guilty and given an indefinite continuance. He at first lied to the detectives who questioned him concerning his name and his possession of an automobile of which he could not tell the license number aroused suspicion.

LIKELY TO LOSE LEG.

GERARD REPUDIATES SPURIOUS INTERVIEW

Did Not Make Statements Attributed on Wilson's Peace Efforts.

Berlin, June 9.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—The American ambassador, James W. Gerard, has repudiated an interview recently attributed to him on the subject of President Wilson's peace efforts, the Overseas News agency says:

The ambassador also is quoted as asserting that Count Frederich von Westarp, conservative leader in the reichstag, desired Mr. Gerard to have a spurios interview published some time ago, but that the ambassador declined.

According to a statement given out by the news agency today, a manuscript containing a copy of the spurious interview, was submitted to Mr. Gerard with the idea that it was to have been published in the National Zeitung, but the ambassador refused to sanction it. The statement follows:

"Ambassador Gerard stated to a staff member of the Vossiche Zeitung that he never made the utterances in regard to President Wilson's proposed peace mediation attributed to him and quoted in the reichstag. The conservative leader, Count von Westarp, said that Mr. Gerard had announced President Wilson's intentions to mediate for peace and for the purpose to exert pressure on the belligerents, which he (Count von Westarp) was unwilling to agree to.

"Mr. Gerard now states that Count von Westarp had desired that he have a spurious interview published some time ago, by the National Zeitung, that he was unable to give him any information. On seeing the manuscript Mr. Gerard declared that it was untrue and therefore withheld the manuscript.

Mrs. Martha E. Hanna is Delighted With Benefits Tanlac Brought.

Mrs. Martha E. Hanna, wife of a well known salesman for the Perfection Biscuit company, of 331 West Superior street, is highly pleased with the big benefits she gained through use of Tanlac, the new medicine. She said:

"For the last ten years I have suffered from a complication of troubles. I had stomach trouble, constipation and indigestion bothering me. Frequently slight attacks of kidney trouble caused pains in my back. Catarrh of the head bothered me and I had a bronchial cough. Pains in my stomach were so severe I could hardly sleep at night. I was so weak I had to support myself on chairs to get around.

"I am astonished and delighted with the results of my taking one bottle of Tanlac. I have gained in strength so that I can walk blocks now without tiring. The pains in my stomach are disappearing; my head is becoming clear of catarrh, and the bronchial cough is much better. I can sleep all night long now because I do not suffer from aches and pains.

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, and the like. Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at Meyer Drug Co.'s stores—Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 1424 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor. —Advertisement.

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 6.

GOLDEN TEXT—God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.—Gal. 6:7.

We turn aside today to consider the second temperance lesson for the year. Paul's letter to the churches of Galatia strongly contrasts law and grace. It's key verse is ch. 2:16, and its most prominent word is "law." many claim verse one of Chapter 5 as its golden verse. This final chapter is a most practical one and rich in suggestion regarding our social relations. Let each member come prepared to give a temperance application or to ask a temperance question.

I. "Bear Ye One Another's Burdens" (vv. 1-5). If a man trespass, be surprised in a sin, be caught in the very act, or surprised into committing a sin, "ye which are spiritual" (literally, guided and governed by the spirit; ch. 5:16-25) are to restore such a one. This is to be done, not by cutting off or casting aside the erring one, but as a dislocated limb is restored to its place, so we are to "restore" that one to his place as a believer; each believer being a member of the body of Christ (I Cor. 12:12, 14, 27); one who falls into sin is a dislocated limb or member, and the stronger ones are to restore him to his proper place. This must be done, however, not with any sense of our own infallibility, but in meekness, gentleness and with great tenderness. (See II Tim. 2:24-26). Paul's reason for this, "lest thou also be tempted" should lay low the pride any of us who have not fallen might feel (v. 1; Math. 7:2-5; Jas. 2:13). Instead of exclaiming, "I could never have done any such act," we ought rather to say, "But for the grace of God I might have done even worse than that." (I Cor. 10:13). The burdens (v. 2) or weights which we are to bear are not the unnecessary details of the Mosaic law (Math. 23:4; Acts 15:10) but rather they are the temptations, weaknesses and failures of others. The master "came not to be ministered unto but to minister" and was "tempted in all points," "touched with a feeling of our infirmities" and in our thus sharing with each other we but follow in his steps (Ch. 5:4; John 13:34, 15:12; Romans 15:3). This is the "law of Christ," not onerous, not a grievous burden, not necessarily an obligation, but a "law" because he, our "file leader," fully and perfectly exemplifies it (Phil. 2:5-8). It is chiefly self-conceit and spiritual pride (v. 3) which stands in the way of gentle forbearance in dealing with our erring brothers. Such pride does not usually deceive others (Jas. 1:22-24) and he who is so controlled, "deceiveth himself."

II. "Whatsoever a Man Soweth" vv. 6-8. While each must so bear his burden, yet those who are taught are to help those who teach to bear their burdens by contributing "in all good things" (Rom. 15:27; I Cor. 9:11-14). Paul sounds a solemn warning to those who refuse thus to help forward the work of righteousness, those who fail to support others and think that their selfishness will accrue to their advantage (v. 7). The natural world has many illustrations of this immutable law. Men may mock (sneer at) this law, but find eventually that there is no escape from its operation. This law has many applications. The one in the context is, first, a physical one (v. 8), a most familiar one to us all. The same is true spiritually, and has been repeatedly illustrated throughout the history of the Christian church (II Cor. 9:56; Prov. 11:24). In all of our actions, physical, mental, moral, social and spiritual, we reap what we sow; like in kind, sown sparingly we reap sparingly; abundantly, and we reap in abundance.

III. "We Shall Reap, If We Faint Not" vv. 9-18. Paul now proceeds to make the practical application. If we act under the leadership of the Spirit, (See ch. 5:16-25) we avoid carnal mindedness, and we are sowing to the Spirit and of the Spirit (who is life John 6:63; II Cor. 3:6), we shall reap "life eternal," i. e., life which is endless in duration and divine in its essence. There must be, however, persistence. We must not withhold the good seed nor refrain from sowing it if we are to reap the reward suggested in verses nine and ten. If we do so withhold, or should we sow ought but the "good seed," we will surely reap the awful harvest suggested in verses 7 and 8. Temporal weariness or discouragement will not excuse us for any negligence. Nor are we to be impatient, for "in due season," in God's time (1 Tim. 6:14, 15) we shall reap; not perhaps immediately, but the issue is certain.

Some fail to reap because of laxity; others continue cultivation too long; still others, by overlooking their "opportunity" to do good (v. 10) and hence having not sown, they cannot reap.

Paul suggests (v. 12) that the sowing of which he speaks is not for any outward show, nor for conformity to the edicts and regulations of men in order to avoid persecution. (v. 12 R. V.).

MAKING PAPER FROM SEVERAL NEW WOODS

Ingenuity of Manufacturers is Showing Excellent Results.

Washington, June 7.—That satisfactory wood pulp can be made from a number of heretofore little known woods is evidenced by a government publication just issued, which contains seventy samples of paper manufactured by different processes, chiefly from woods heretofore practically unused for this purpose.

It is pointed out that the spruce forests of the country are threatened with exhaustion and that the cost of spruce pulpwood has steadily increased. If the price of newsprint paper is to be kept at a reasonable figure, say the experts, more efficient methods of converting spruce into pulp must be developed or cheaper woods substituted for it.

The bulletin goes on to say that the method of manufacturing groundwood pulp has changed very little since its introduction into this country in 1867. It was with the idea of developing new methods and improving the old that tests were undertaken at the forest service laboratories at Wausau and Madison, Wisconsin. As a result, the relation of the different steps in the manufacturing process to each other has been definitely established and the merits of each treatment determined. The paper made from new woods was given a practical tryout by two large newspapers with satisfactory results.

The tests showed that eleven new woods give promise of being suitable for the production of news print paper, while a number of others will produce manila paper and boxboards. Most of these woods are confined to the west, while the groundwood industry now obtains the bulk of its raw material from the east. It is thought that pulp-making plants must eventually move to points where they can obtain a plentiful supply of wood and an abundance of cheap water-power, two prime requisites in the business.

The experts say that because the national forests contain immense quantities of the suitable woods and abundant opportunities for power development, they will undoubtedly play an important part in the future of the wood pulp industry.

Bowel Complaints in India.

In a lecture at one of the Des Moines, Iowa, churches a missionary from India told of going into the interior of India, where he was taken sick, that he had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with him and believed that it saved his life. This remedy is used successfully in India, both as a preventive and cure for cholera. DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

1 Timothy 4:6-16.

6 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained.

8 For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.

10 For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe.

11 These things command and teach.

14 Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery.

15 Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them; that thy profiting may appear to all.

16 Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing this thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee.

A Wholesome Message.

The Sentinel trusts none of its readers will fail to give thorough and thoughtful perusal to the centennial address by Ex-President Taft in Fort Wayne, which was printed in full in this newspaper Thursday evening. It was a wholesome message, the fruits of years of studious thought, years of observation in various capacities, and years of close familiarity with the governmental needs and problems of the people.

"We frequently fail to appreciate the burdens and duties which the enojyment of government entails upon us if we are to be a part of it," said Mr. Taft early in his address. "We are much more prone to dwell upon our rights under a system of government than our obligations to maintain it." Herein the former president struck the keynote of the wise counsel he gave to the people of Fort Wayne and to the state of Indiana on this centennial occasion. Government, as we ordinarily think of it, is an impersonal thing—the duty and the responsibility of somebody else, and only incidentally a concern, and not a very deep concern, either, of our own. We somehow expect, without especial attention or interest on our part, that the rest of the people will carry the burden, develop the system, provide good government, safe government and clean government, and not bother us about it. We are wrapped in our own affairs and perhaps consider ourselves too busy to be burdened with matters of this character.

Mr. Taft sought to place tremendous emphasis upon the element of personal responsibility, uttering in another form the old truism that popular government will be precisely as good or as bad as the people under it determine it shall be. The shifting of responsibility is invariably attended by consequences that give rise to complaint and that entail unnecessary hardships and bring conditions against which we rail loudly and usually ineffectively. His second basic point might be set forth as a preachment of the gospel of self-restraint and of obedience to authority and of respect for enacted law. The defiance of law is never less than a blow at government itself. Usually, of course, it is attended by its penalty, but the unfortunate phase of the matter is that this is not realized in advance in sufficiently strong a fashion to prevent the over-stepping.

Mr. Taft's governmental ideals are high. We may not all agree with his views on many questions. Politically there is often a wide gulf between the ex-president and many people; but nowhere will there be found a critic who will question Mr. Taft's sturdy citizenship or the value of his advice that is the fruit of so vast an experience and so lofty a citizenship. Mr. Taft is seeking nothing for himself. He is outside the province of the mere politician and has risen to the higher dignity of real American citizenship. We may well accept his counsel as the thoughtful admonition of one who is qualified to point the way.

The board of army engineers has made a report to the war department on the proposed barge canal connecting Lake Erie with Lake Michigan by way of the Maumee river and Fort Wayne that is adverse in character because, in the judgment of the engineers, the commercial benefits likely to accrue would not justify the expenditure necessary in order to construct the waterway. It has been well known for some time that the entire project hinged upon this phase of the question. The practicability of the construction was demonstrated beyond question. The future of the waterway, therefore, is much beclouded, but we very much mistake the enthusiasm and the determination of the local boosters if they do not take an appeal to the court of last resort before finally striking their colors.

The suggestion of arbitration of the differences between the United States and Mexico—the submission of our wrangles to an international commission for peaceable adjustment—may be an excellent one, but it has its drawbacks. In dealing with a land like Mexico, there is always the likelihood that it will fail to stand hitched anywhere on any proposition longer than may be necessary for some new faction to start a revolution. It is extremely doubtful if a finding by any international commission would have weight with the turbulent Mexican. There are too many different kinds of him, and all of them most uncertain.

Hopes of the equal suffragists for a square-toed declaration in favor of votes for women in the republican platform must admit a crushing disappointment in the outcome of their endeavor. After the sub-committee has once rejected the plea, the entire committee ordered the suffrage plang inserted, and later took all the punch out of it by "recognizing the right" of each state to settle the thing for itself. So, we are just about where we started on this question.

Speaking of centennial weather—but what's the use.

HOOSIERS

(Indiana Daily Times).

One of the pleasing features of the political situation as Indiana republicans find it at the republican national convention is the cordial unanimity and helpful spirit displayed by Indiana sons now resident in Hoosierdom and those who are exiles, living in other states far away. From the first day of the start of the Fairbanks presidential campaign in Chicago, preliminary to the convention, there has been a steady drift of former Indiana men into the Fairbanks headquarters. First came the Indiana men who now live in Chicago. They were not only hospitable, but they were helpful in pushing the Fairbanks candidacy. With the coming of delegates and workers from other states, former Indiana men have been numerous and Indiana headquarters and the Fairbanks rooms have been literally filled by the constant stream of former Hoosiers, all calling for badges and enlisting as Fairbanks boosters. When it is stated that a man is a Hoosier or a former Hoosier it is not necessary to add he is in politics. The organizations and delegations from the various states are well manned by former Indiana republicans and these old-time Hoosiers form a Fairbanks propaganda medium that can not be excelled. Indiana has given tone to the population and to the politics of many sister commonwealths by contributing of her sons from year to year. It is pleasing to find that the Hoosier prodigals coming home to boost, as it were, in the traditional Hoosier spirit with the old fire.

Republican Platform Adopted at Chicago

"In 1861 the republican party stood for the union. As it stood for the union of states, it now stands for an united people, true to American ideals, loyal to American traditions, knowing no allegience except to the constitution, to the government and to the flag of the United States. We believe in American policies at home and abroad.

Protection of American Rights.

"We declare that we believe in and will enforce the protection of every American citizen in all the rights secured to him by the constitution, treaties and the law of nations at home and abroad, by land and sea. These rights, which in violation of the specific promise of their party made at Baltimore in 1912, the democratic president and the democratic congress have failed to defend, we will unflinchingly maintain.

Foreign Relations.

"We desire peace, the peace of justice and right, and believe in maintaining a straight and honest neutrality between the belligerents in the great war in Europe. We must perform all our duties and insist on our rights as neutrals without fear or favor. We believe that peace and neutrality, as well as the dignity and influence of the United States, cannot be preserved by shifty expedients, by phrase making, by performances in language, or by attitudes ever changing in an effort to secure groups of voters. The present administration has destroyed our influence abroad and humiliated us in our own eyes. The republican party believes that a firm, consistant and courageous foreign policy, always maintained by republican presidents in accordance with American traditions, is the best, as it is the only through way to preserve our peace and restore us to our rightful place among the nations. We believe in the pacific settlement of international disputes and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose.

Mexico.

"We deeply sympathize with the 15,000,000 people of Mexico, who for three years have seen their country devastated, their homes destroyed, their fellow citizens murdered and their women outraged by armed bands of desperadoes led by self-seeking, conscienceless agitators who, when temporarily successful in any locality have neither sought nor been able to restore order or establish and maintain peace.

"We express our horror and indignation at the outrages which have been and are being perpetrated by these bandits upon American men and women who were or are in Mexico by invitation of the laws and of the government of that country and whose rights to security of person and property are guaranteed by solemn treaty obligations. We denounce the indefensible methods of interference employed by this administration in the internal affairs of Mexico and refer with shame to its failure to discharge the duty of this country as next friend to Mexico, its duty to other powers who have relied upon us as such friend, and its duty to our citizens in Mexico, in permitting the continuance of such conditions, first by failure to act promptly and firmly, and second by lending its influence to the continuation of such conditions through recognition of one of the factions responsible for these outrages.

"We pledge our aid in restoring order and maintaining peace in Mexico. We promise to our citizens on and near our border, and to those in Mexico, wherever they may be found, adequate and absolute protection in their lives, liberty and property.

Monroe Doctrine.

"We reaffirm our approval of the Monroe doctrine and declare its maintenance to be a policy of this country essential to its present and future peace and safety and to the achievement of its manifest destiny.

Latin America.

"We favor the continuance of republican policies which will result in drawing more and more closely the commercial, financial and social relations between this country and the countries of Latin-America.

Philippines.

"We renew our allegiance to the Philippine policy inaugurated by McKinley, approved by congress and consistently carried out by Roosevelt and Taft. Even in this short time it has enormously improved the material and social conditions of the islands, given the Philippine people a constantly increasing population in their government and, if persisted in, will bring still greater benefits in the future.

"We accepted the responsibility of the islands as a duty to civilization and the Filipino people. To leave with our task half done would break our pledges, injure our prestige among nations and imperil what has already been accomplished.

"We condemn the democratic administration for its attempt to abandon the Philippines, which was prevented only by the vigorous opposition of republican members o fcongress, aided by a few patriotic democrats.

"We reiterate our unqualified approval of the action taken in December, 1911, by the president and congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation and prevent all discrimination of whatever kind between American citizens whether native born or alien, and regardless of race, religion, or previous political allegiance. We renew the pledge to observe this principle and to maintain the right of asylum which is neither to be surrendered nor restricted and we unite in the cherished hope that the war which is now desolating the world may speedily end with a complete and lasting restoration of brotherhood among the nations of the earth and the assurance of full equal rights, civil and religious, to all men in every land.

Protection of the country.

"In order to maintain our people and make certain the security of our people within our own borders the country must have not only adequate but thorough and complete national defense, ready for any emergency. We must have a sufficient and effective regular army, and a provision for ample reserves, already drilled and disciplined, who can be called at once to the colors when the hour of danger comes.

"We must have a navy so strong and so well proportioned and equipped, so thoroughly ready and prepared, that no enemy can gain command of the sea and effect a landing in force on either our western or our eastern coast. To secure these results we must have a coherent and continuous policy of national defense which even in these perilous days the democratic party has utterly failed to develop, but which we promise to give to the country.

Tariff.

"The republican party stands now, as always, in the fullest sense for the policy of tariff protection to American industries and American labor and does not regard an anti-dumping provision as an adequate substitute. Such protection should be reasonable in amount but sufficient to protect adequately American industry and American labor and be so adjusted as to prevent undue exactions by monopolies or trusts. It should moreover give special attention to securing the industrial independence of the United States as in the case of dye stuffs.

"Through wise tariff and industrial legislation our industries can be so organized that they will become not only a commercial bulwark, but a powerful aid to national defense.

"The Underwood tariff act as a complete failure in every respect. Under its administration imports have enormously increased in spite of the fact that the intercourse with foreign countries has been largely cut off by reason of the war, while the revenues of which we stand in such dire need have been greatly reduced. Under the normal conditions which prevailed prior to the war it was clearly demonstrated that this act deprived the American producer and the American wage earner of that protection which entitled them to meet their foreign competitors and but for the adventitious conditions created by the war, would long since have paralyzed all forms of American industry and deprived American labor of its just reward.

"It has not in the least reduced the cost of living which has constantly advanced from the date of its enactment. The welfare of our people demands its repeal and the substitution of a measure which in peace as well as in war will produce ample revenue and give reasonable protection to all forms of American production in mine, forest, field and factory.

"We favor the creation of a tariff commission with complete power to gather and compile information for the use of congress in all matters relating to the tariff.

Business.

"The republican party has long believed in the right supervision and strict regulation of the transportation and great corporations of the country. It has put its creed into its deeds and all really effective laws regulating the railroads and the great industrial corporations are the work of republican congresses and presidents. For this policy of regulation and supervision the democrats in a stumbling piece-meal way are undertaking to involve the government in business which should be left within the sphere of private enterprise and in direct competition with its own citizens, a policy which is sure to result in waste, great expense to the taxpayer and in an inferior product.

"The republican party firmly believes that all who violate the laws in regulation of business should be individually punished. But prosecution is very different from persecution, and business success no matter how honestly attained is apparently regarded by the democratic party as in itself a crime. Such bitterness and beliefs choke enterprise and stifle prosperity. The republican party believes in encouraging American business as it believes in and will seek to advance all American interests.

Rural Credits.

"We favor an effective system of rural credits as opposed to the ineffective law proposed by the present democratic administration.

Rural Free Delivery.

"We favor the extension of the rural free delivery system and condemn the democratic administration for curtailing and crippling it.

Merchant Marine.

"In view of the policies adopted by all the maritime nations to encourage the shipping interests and in order to enable us to compete with them for the ocean carrying trade, we favor the payment to ships engaged in the foreign trade of liberal compensation for services actually rendered in carrying the mails, and such further legislation as will build up an adequate American merchant marine, and give us ships which may be requisitioned by the government in time of national emergency.

"We are utterly opposed to the government ownership of vessels as proposed by the democratic party, because government ownership, while effectively preventing the development of the American merchant marine by private capital, will be entirely unable to provide for the vast volume of American freights and will leave us more helpless than ever in the hard grip of foreign syndicates.

Transportation.

"Interstate and intra-state transportation have become so interwoven that the attempt to apply two and often several sets of laws to its regulation has produced conflicts of authority, embarrassment in operation and inconvenience and expense to the public.

"The entire transportation system of the country has become essentially national. We, therefore, favor such action by legislation or, if necessary, through an amendment to the constitution of the United States, and will result in placing it under exclusive federal control.

Economy and a National Budget.

"The increasing cost of the national government and the need for the greatest economy of its resources in order to meet the growing demands of the people for government service call for the severest condemnation of the wasteful appropriations of this democratic administration, of its shameless raids on the treasury and of its opposition to and rejection of President Taft's oft repeated proposals and earnest efforts to secure economy and efficiency through the establishment of a simple businesslike budget system, to which we pledge our support and which we hold to be necessary to effect any real reform in the administration of national finances.

Conservation.

Civil Service Reform.

"The civil service law has always been sustained by the republican party and we renew our repeated declaration that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable. The democratic party has created since March 4, 1913, thirty thousand offices outside of the civil service law at an annual cost of forty-four million dollars to the taxpayers of the country.

"We condemn the gross abuse and the misuse of the law by the present democratic administration and pledge ourselves to a reorganization of this service along lines of efficiency and economy.

Territorial Officials.

"Reaffirming the attitude long maintained by the republican party, we hold that officials appointed to administer the government of any territory should be bona fide residents of the territory in which their duties are to be performed.

Labor Laws.

"We pledge the republican party to the faithful enforcement of all federal laws passed for the protection of labor. We favor vocational education; the enactment of a federal child labor law; the enactment of a generous and comprehensive workmen's compensation law, within the commerce power of congress, and an accident compensation law covering all government employes. We favor the collection and collation under the direction of the department of labor of complete data relating to industrial hazards for the information of congress, to the end that such legislation may be adopted as may be calculated to secure the safety, conservation and protection of labors from the dangers incident to industry and transportation.

Suffrage.

"The republican party, reaffirming its faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people, as a measure of justice to one-half the adult people of this country, favors the extension of the suffrage to women, but recognizes the right of each state to settle this question for itself.

"Such are our principles such are our purposes and policies. We close as we began. The times are dangerous and the future is fraught with peril. The great issues of the day have been confused by words and phrases. The American spirit, which made the country and saved the union, has been forgotten by those charged with the responsibility of power. We appeal to all Americans, whether naturalized or native born, to prove to the world that we are Americans in thought and in deed, with one loyalty, one hope, one aspiration. We call on all Americans to be true to the spirit of America, to the great traditions of their common country, and above all things, to keep the faith."

WHERE THE DEMOCRATS WILL RENAME WILSON

Will Be First Political Convention in the St. Louis Coliseum.

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—The democratic national convention, which assembles here on June 14, will be the first political convention to be held in the St. Louis coliseum. The first public meeting in this building was in the presidential campaign of 1906, when William H. Taft, republican nominee, spoke there. At that time the coliseum was not completed. Fifteen thousand persons crowded into the structure for that opening.

The coliseum was built in 1907-1908 at a cost of $336,000. As arranged for the democratic national convention, it will seat approximately 10,000 persons. This seating capacity is obtained as follows:

On the platform are 512 seats. In the section for daily newspaper correspondents and press associations are 472 seats.

Sections set apart for the editors of democratic weekly papers in Missouri and Illinois will accommodate 238 more persons.

Seats will be provided for 1,078 delegates and the same number of alternates, though there may be some slight change in these figures in case some states send extra delegates with a fractional vote.

This makes a total of 9,818. Extra seats placed wherever possible throughout the building brings the total seating capacity to about 10,000.

The building is so designed that there is room on the arena floor only for the delegates, alternates and the daily and weekly newspaper men.

Building an Octagon.

The coliseum is an octagon, considerably narrowed at one end by a diagonal side wall. The greatest length of the building is from north to south, and its narrowest dimension from east to west has been railed off for the platform and press sections. The platform is forty feet wide, and immediately back of the speakers' stand and the tables for tellers and clerks a platform extention rises to the rear of the upper balcony. This extension contains seats for 512 persons. These seats were distributed by the national committee, and the members of the committee and their immediate parties are to occupy most of them.

Around the arena floor on three sides are the boxes, which are reserved for specially invited guests—party leaders of prominence, diplomats, etc.

That part of the public which is not fortunate enough to have platform or box seats is to be accommodated in the arena balcony, which rises immediately from the boxes, and in the balcony, which corresponds to the second gallery in most public halls.

The total number of seats available for the public therefore is 5,894, and the distribution of part of these is allotted to the St. Louis committee which raised the $100,000 convention fund.

On the west side of the coliseum, back of the speakers' platform, are the work rooms for the press associations and the telegraph companies. As this space, as originally planned, proved too narrow to accomodate the press associations, an eighty-foot passageway through this section was abandoned, and by order of the mayor an alley in the rear of the coliseum was vacated, and covered with an awning. This serves as a passageway. A passageway under the platform leads from the press sections on the arena floor to the work and telegraph rooms in the rear.

On the north side of the building—the Washington avenue side—is a large emergency hospital; on the south side are the rooms of the democratic national committee, and on the east—or Jefferson avenue—side is the room of the sergeant at arms, and the convention postoffice.

The decorations of the coliseum were designed by Edward C. Dillman, of St. Louis. In order to obtain as much daylight as possible, the walls of the coliseum have been painted white. To get the full benefit of this reflection it was necessary to exclude decorations from the walls. The decorations, accordingly have been placed around the front of the balcony and boxes and on the supporting columns that run around the building.

Plaster relief medallions of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson, each 4 by 3 feet, are placed on the supporting columns clear around the building, and each medallion is surrounded by American flags. The columns are covered with bunting, and the boxes are hung with the national colors. To improve the light reflection, six thousand yards of white muslin cover the ceiling, except for a strip down the center, which is hung in the national colors. Altogether 30,000 yards of bunting were used in the decoration of the convention hall and 600 to 700 American flags. The platform, of course, is draped with bunting and flags.

The Western Union Telegraph company has a cable of 100 wires into the coliseum, and the Postal Telegraph company has more than fifty. These wires do not include the leased wires of the press association, but are for private and newspaper telegrams.

Two hundred to three hundred policemen will be assigned to the coliseum during convention sessions to preserve order and block activities by pickpockets.

The St. Louis coliseum is on Jefferson avenue, between Washington avenue and Locust street. It is two miles west of the retail business district and from the Planters hotel, where many of the party leaders will be quartered during the convention; it is a mile west of the Jefferson hotel, where the democratic national committee is housed, and is about three-quarters of a mile north and west of Union station. The coliseum is about five minutes' car ride from the Jefferson hotel and ten minutes from the center of the business district.

It usually happens that most opportunities to profit by a sale of this kind come when you are unprepared and without ready cash at the time they are offered and you cannot avail yourself of them.

That is not true of this sale. Our usual low credit terms apply on the reduced price. A small payment will bring any one of them to your home and the balance may be arranged to suit you.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Nathan will be at home to their friends in their apartment at the Anthony hotel on Sunday afternoon during the hours between half past 2 and 5:30 o'clock, in honor of their guest, Miss Leonore Marguerite Heller, of Milwaukee. Miss Heller is the fiancee of Mr. Chester Nathan.

Miss Margaret Fisher gave a small luncheon at the English tea room at 1 o'clock today as a compliment to two visiting young ladies, Miss Leonore M. Heller, of Milwaukee, and Miss Gwendolyn Straus, of Ligonier.

It is a pleasure to know the Woman's building, that very unusual place in which to find still more unusual entertainment, is to be kept open on Saturday. Considering the time that all women connected with the woman's work in the centennial, outside of the pageant itself, are giving, the devotion of the chairman-in-chief and all of her assistants and their assistants, to this special feature of the week, this added day of opportunity can only be viewed as most patriotic and unselfish. There are few women who haven't many cares and duties so that giving up personal affairs practically every minute for two weeks, means something besides just work.

* * *

Many visitors to the Woman's building yesterday are still congratulating themselves on being there during the time former President W. H. Taft was present, for Mr. Taft gave an impromptu talk for about three minutes in the reception room. It was quite unexpected, but some one had the courage to invite the honorable visitor to speak and Mr. Taft was gracious and courteous enough to do so. Naturally Mr. Taft spoke of women and their efforts towards the centennial celebration, and of women as a sex, their progress and of the influence of the great war in developing the ability of women to take care of themselves with the probable result of more women who will "marry a man because she loves him and not simply to have some one to take care of her," as Mr. Taft expressed it.

Mrs. Sarah Crockett, of Lafayette, is coming here within a few days to make a long visit with her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Dunkelberg, of Fairfield avenue. Mrs. Crockett is not very well and the time of her stay here is entirely indefinite, but probably she will remain all summer.

Miss Marie Berghoff was the honored guest on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at a breakfast at the English tearoom given by Mrs. Oscar Ankenbruck, Mrs. Clem Schiefer and Miss Agnes Cunningham. The members of a sewing club to which the honored guest and the hosts belong formed the company. The arrangement of flowers was particularly happy and pleasing as each guest received a small bouquet of pink rosebuds and swansonia with lace holder and tied with pink ribbons. The table decoration was of peonies.

Miss Helen Miller, of 242 East DeWald street, gave a beautiful party on Thursday afternoon to honor the approaching marriage of Miss Eva Smith. The guests were a club of girls and they spent the time principally in visiting and in looking through the lovely Indian sewing basket that the hostess had fitted up for the bride-to-be. When the delicious afternoon repast was served the company seated themselves at one table laid in the diningroom with a handsome cluny lace luncheon service. In the center was a white basket filled with pink roses, snapdragon and Shasta daisies. Miss Smith received a lovely bouquet.

A beautiful party to honor two young women soon to be married was given by Mrs. Edward Violand at her home in Washington boulevard east, for Miss Solina Dietrick and Miss Rose Bender. A game of progressive rhum was the amusement and there were several prizes given in the contest. The prizes were for first, second and third honors and were won by Mrs. W. F. Ryan, Miss Ludmilla Lauer, Miss Rose Bender, Miss Georgia Lauer, Miss Anna Pothoff and Mrs. Carl Vandagrift, of Centralia, Ill., who is here on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Catherine Dietrich, of 1108 Summit street. The guests gave Miss Bender and Miss Dietrick a shower of gifts miscellaneous in character, and each received many novel things for her bridal outfit and new home. A splendid lunch was served late in the evening and each honor guest found her place at the table marked with pink tulle bows and there were many pink and white peonies used in brass baskets for decorating and pretty place cards that made dainty souvenirs of the occasion.

Miss Jessie McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McDonald, and Mr. Harvey E. Hopkins, son of Mr. Orley Hopkins, of Edgerton, O., were married at the Cathedral rectory on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, by Rev. John A. McCarthy. Miss Mary McDonald, a sister to the bride, was bridesmaid and a cousin to the groom, Mr. John Madden, was groomsman. The bride looked very sweet and attractive in her wedding costume of a white net gown combined with satin and lace, and a white lace hat. The bridal bouquet was composed of bride roses and swansonia. The bridesmaid wore a dainty gown of white French voile with pink ribbon accessories and a white lace hat. Her flowers were pink roses. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, at 901 Eliza street, to immediate relatives who numbered twenty. There were pink shaded candles and pink roses in crystal baskets to add beauty to the bride's table and the wedding cake, handsomely frosted, occupied the center. Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins went directly to housekeeping at 836 Eliza street. Both bride and groom have many personal friends interested in their happiness. Mr. Hopkins is a baker employed by the Perfection Biscuit company.

Hartford City, Ind., June 9.—"Don't touch me, I'm dead!" was the command of a baby voice, as James Cronin, jr., bent over his little son, James Russell Cronin, age six, lying in a limp heap yesterday at the bottom of a large shade tree at their home.

The boy fell twenty feet when a limb broke with him when he was climbing the tree. He was unconscious for only a short time, and no bones were broken.

By Lois Crane.

Sport clothes seem to have stolen the prerogative of the "Fountain of Youth." By donning an effective outfit, the discerning woman knows she can discount years of her life. What is more kindly to the tell-tale lines around the eyes than the broad-brimmed sport hat. The silhouette itself formed by the jaunty, flaring skirt is a challenge to unwelcome years of discretion. Never before has it been possible to wear such glowing, though withal becoming, colors without offending propriety and good taste. Accessories in the form of sailor collars, brightly colored handkerchiefs, belts, are all notes in the melody of youth chanted by ubiquitous sport clothes.

Many attractive features are incorporated in the sport frock pictured above. The skirt is of blue and white striped silk jersey. The extreme fulness is obtained by tiny inverted box-pleats, held in place at the waist by an inch-wide fluting. A smart trimming is afforded by the double row of pleating at the hem. Voluminous patch-pockets complete the fetching skirt. The middy blouse is of white chiffon cloth, with sailor collar and cuffs to match the skirt. Exceptionally smart is the broad-brimmed sport hat. It is of Leghorn, dyed to match the suit. Linen of contrasting color is appliqued upon the crown with buttonhole stitching of worsted. The low shoes of white kid are unusually distinctive.

Novelties in hosiery and especially that of the fair sex are many and most interesting. They are divided into either the sport or dressy class. The former, of course, include those shown for golf, tennis, hunting, and the various other sports. Especially smart are those shown in heavy woolens with zebra stripes either up and down or around the leg. They are decidedly attractive, but, sad enough, only the woman with a dainty ankle could think of wearing them. However, there are fascinating sport hose shown in silk also, with sock bottoms and plain colored tops. These are very attractive for tennis or golf, and may be had in any number of color combinations. Sport stockings in silk are also shown with novel designs, worked out in Polka dots. In this instance also color combinations are used to splendid advantage.

The dressy stockings, of course, include the plain colors in silk or contrasting touch of embroidery or the evidence of dainty clocks. The clock ornament is shown this season in more varied arrangements than ever. There is one that is a draw stitch, permitting an openwork effect. The black trimmed with white and vice-versa prove very popular. Colors, too, are extensively used, and among those most popular are the shades of tan, navy, gray, brown and flesh. The vogue for high kid shoes in both button and laced effects is undoubtedly one reason that there is such a demand for colored silk hose. The increased number of dainty low shoes also create a demand for daintily finished hosiery, for one is lost without the other

AT KEITH PALACE.

NO CHANGE UNTIL MONDAY.

Woolfolk Company to Continue Time, Place and the Girl.

There will be no change of bill at the New Palace until Monday evening, as the Woolfolk Musical Comedy company will continue to present the happy diversion, "The Time, Place and the Girl," at both evening and afternoon performances the remainder of the week. "The Time, Place and the Girl" has survived several seasons through the sheer excellence of the laughable book and the lyrical score. The lines in this comedy set to music are so brilliant as to make the usual musical comedy sound ordinary, in comparison and as presented by the Boyle Woolfolk company, with Guy Voyer, Aleen Morrison, Harrie Lee, J. Flanagan and others as principals, the comedy is scoring as emphatically as on its original appearance here.

Opening next Monday the company will be seen in the lilting bundle of merriment, "The Girl Question," which will be presented with performances each evening and matinee on Wednesday and Saturday.

TOWN GENIUS IN TROUBLE

People Injured Because Signs He Painted Were True to Nature.

The remarkable genius of Joshua Tripe, the village sign painter, may result in a suit for damages being brought against the village. Tripe a few days ago completed a mail course in sign painting, and to show his skill painted a board fence on the side of a barn standing along the main street. It looked so natural that several farmers have skinned their knuckles trying to hitch their teams to it, and even birds have attempted to light on it, slipping down the sides of the barn to the ground and flying away in disgust.

The climax came, however, when Tripe's bulldog chased a stranger down the street, who in trying to get away attempted to jump the supposed fence and nearly knocked his brains out. Several attorneys have already written the stranger, who gives his name at Frelinghusen, offering legal aid in getting damages.

FIRST WOMAN JURY IN THE UNITED STATES.

Here's a picture of a jury court authorities say is the first jury in the United States composed entirely of women. The jury, in superior court at San Diego, Cal., convicted four Mexicans of highway robbery. Since California women were given the ballot, they have frequently served on juries, but never before formed an entire jury.

GYPSY PRINCESS TO LIVE WITH SISTER

New York, Jne 8.—"No more of the 'long white road,' the gypsy campfire beside the roadway at dusk, and telling fortunes of happy house dwellers, for me," said 15-year-old Gladys McNeill, the Romany princess who, the county court at New Brunswick, N. J., has decided, shall live with her married sister, Mrs. Phoebe Hanson, of Perth Amboy, in a real home instead of with the gypsy tribe of which her father and mother were long known as king and queen.

"Now I can study music, go to a private school, and learn all about making a home in a stationary house," she continued. She was at the home of her sister, very happy.

Gladys, who shows her gypsy blood in her black hair, creamy complexion and hazel eyes full of merriment, is the daughter of Samuel McNeil, an Irishman, a Dublin university graduate, who fell in love with Princess Tryphena Greene, of an English Romany tribe, and married her after leaving the university. They came to America and for years were prominent and respected among the gypsy folk.

With only one short day in which to gain the benefits of the liberal—and incidentally the last—extra vote offer of the "Sentinel Automobile Circulation Campaign," interest now centers in gaining every possible bit of ground before the final hour comes.

Candidates are unanimous in the opinion that through this offer the greatest amount of success can be attained, and as the remaining time can be counted in hours, efforts are being exhibited. Candidates are out day and night, incessantly battling for the votes that will win them some of the most magnificent prizes that have ever been offered in Fort Wayne. With the present offer as an incentive, these candidates are enabled to gather votes by the thousands—indeed, by the hundreds of thousands. And to have plenty of these is to become the possessor of any one of the four magnificent automobiles.

Each and every candidate has so many chances of winning a prize that it is almost an assured fact that every candidate who puts forth any effort at all will secure a valuable award that will fully repay her for the effort put forth. The automobile winners will, of course, receive the most costly prizes, but think of the $100 diamond rings, and the $75 upright phonographs.

Of course an automobile is the thing. And who knows but what just a few more votes will win one of them. Every subscription adds to the chances of victory. There are four of these cars, and this number makes everyone's chances much brighter.

By the way, it is whispered there is a new participant in The Sentinel campaign. No less a personage than Cupid. Of course we can't mention any names, but just the same there is a strong suspicion of it. Here's how the news leaked out. The other day, along about four o'clock in the afternoon, there stepped into the campaign office, a young woman of some twenty years or there-abouts. Understand, that is just a guess. Anyhow, she had a noticeable flush in her face, and her voice seemed to want to bubble forth some joyous news.

She delved into her hand bag and brought forth several subscriptions, and while she was laying them out, she said: "You know, I've simply got to win one of those automobiles now. We—that is, I—er, well, it would come in awfully handy about next September."

All of which illustrates the wonderful benefits of a newspaper circulation campaign such as this. Could one imagine a more pleasing possession than an automobile. It spreads good cheer and happiness everywhere, and the Sentinel campaign is going to deliver happiness in huge lumps in a short time. And the splendid cars that the Sentinel has selected as prizes are noted for their stylish appearance, their durable manufacture and general all-round quality—not to mention their low cost of upkeep.

The effort that will have been expended by the winners will when looked back to, seem nothing at all compared with the results. Even now, a new candidate can rise quickly to a commanding position among the topmost leaders of the campaign, by securing a few subscriptions, and taking advantage of the present 80,000 extra vote offer. This is nothing short of immense—it offers opportunities unequalled to make practically certain of finishing at the goal among the first.

The big date to bear in mind at this time is June 10th—the closing of the last extra vote offer. Only one more day is left of it. Tomorrow and the generous provision it offers will be a thing of the past. Then it will be but a short spurt to the end, and may the best ones win!

Candidates residing in the outside districts, who cannot call at the campaign office in order to turn in their subscriptions have until 9 p. m. Saturday night—the same length of time that city candidates have to secure subscriptions for building clubs to include in this offer.

By mailing their letters containing remittances and stubs before 9 p. m. tomorrow night, they will receive all the regular and extra votes to which they are entitled.

TWO MORE CANDIDATES FOR SENTINEL'S AUTOS.

MISS NELLIE BRAUN,
1311 East Lewis Street—District 2.

It takes only $25 worth of new subscriptions to the Sentinel to win, in addition to the regular votes on each subscription, an extra vote ballot of 80,000 votes. These clubs may include subscriptions of any length not less than fifteen weeks, just so they are new, and to the Daily Sentinel.

LIGHTNING PLAYS PRANK

Electric Current Splits Main and Ignites Gas in Storm.

Anderson, Ind., June 8.—Lightning split a natural gas main in the country near Pendleton, it was discovered yesterday, during an investigation of why gas pressure was so low in Pendleton. Frank Rumler, superintendent, found that a main had been split for several feet and the gas ignited. A flame ten feet high was burning. The earth had been torn away from the pipe. Several persons living there said the flame appeared during the storm Friday, and it was supposed the gas company knew about it in a short time.

ALL WEEDS CUT IN LAFAYETTE PLACE

The maintenance plan, which has been provided by the Lafayette Place company for their beautiful new addition on South Calhoun street, assures each purchaser of lots in this addition that there will be no unsightly weeds on his lot, and this feature is proving to be a wise provision as it tends to hasten the development of the entire tract. A sight-seer going over the addition would almost imagine he were visiting a city park, for not only are the weeds kept down, but unlike most new additions, every street can be traveled in an automobile. These are but two of the many features which make Lafayette Place a most attractive one to the man who is seeking a future home-site. Further details may be obtained from the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff building, or any member of the Real Estate Exchange.

SENTINEL'S SNAP-SHOTS OF AUTOMOBILE PARADE.

The second prize for gasoline cars, amounting to $25, was awarded to J. B. Crankshaw, and the third prize of $15 to car No. 25. For electric cars there was a special class and the first place, with a $25 prize, was awarded to Miss Margaret Fisher, and the second prize of $10 to Mrs. Ed Seidel.

With Miss Wilt in the winning machine were the Misses Kohler, Miss Marjorie Dailey, Miss Muriel Larimore and Mrs. H. B. Harper.

Dinner for Taft.

Hon. Samuel M. Foster entertained about fifty friends at dinner Thursday evening at the Anthony hotel in honor of former President William H. Taft. Mr. Foster occupied a seat at the head of the table with Mr. Taft on his right and Newton W. Gilbert, former vice governor of the Philippine Islands, who is here on a short visit with relatives, on his left. Mr. Foster introduced the distinguished visitor, who spoke briefly. The former president congratulated the citizens of Fort Wayne upon their public spirit, but said one thing was lacking and that was an adequate assembly hall.

Speaks at Court House.

Because of the downpour of rain Thursday afternoon Mr. Taft was unable to deliver his address at the pageant grounds. After a reception for him at the Hotel Anthony and at the Woman's building, he spoke to a large crowd at the court house. His address dealt with obedience to law and the rule of the people, which was published in full in Thursday's Sentinel.

Saturday's Program.

Eliminating the everlasting "if," which has intruded upon every advance preparation for the centennial celebration, here is a brief resume of tomorrow's program:

The Industrial Exposition.

At 9 o'clock the doors of the great Fort Wayne industrial exposition and hippodrome will open for a full day and evening of entertainment and education. Here the manufacturers and merchants of Fort Wayne have prepared for the benefit of thousands of out-of-town visitors a vast array of interesting booths which show the greatness of Fort Wayne as a center of manufacturing, jobbing and retail trade.

The Hippodrome Acts.

In connection with this great exhibit, the visitor will be entertained for two hours, without extra charge, by a program of the highest class of hippodrome acts.

The Scotch Highlands Band.

The complete program of hippodrome acts will be given, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning, 2 o'clock in the afternoon and 7 o'clock in the evening.

The Great Parade.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon comes the great fraternal parade, postponed from Tuesday. It will be composed as follows:

Platoon of police; grand marshal, Dr. A. C. Emrick; five ladies on horseback; Mooseheart band; supreme officers of Moose, in carriages; Moose organizations; visiting Moose lodges from Columbia City, Lima, Kendallville, Toledo, Bluffton, Decatur, Portland, Huntington and other cities; civil war veterans; Elks' band; B. P. O. E. organizations, visiting B. P. O. E. lodges; Scotch Highlands band; federation of Catholic societies; Concordia college band; Concordia cadets; Citizen's band; Fraternal Order of Eagles; Sons of Veterans; Spanish War veterans; I. O. O. F. lodges; other fraternal and labor organizations.

Persons holding tickets for the pageant intended for use Thursday, will be entitled to use them Saturday night.

He Knew They Wanted Teddy.

Senator Borah waited quietly and finally Chairman Robins urged quiet. "It is well known—the deep-seated affection I have for your leader," he said, and was halted by another salvo of enthusiasm, the whole convention in a mighty chant shouting, "We want Teddy," for a full minute, while Borah smilingly waited. The shouting lulled and then was renewed, leaders on the stage joining.

"There's no doubt you want Teddy," said Senator Borah. "We want Borah, too," answered the delegates and the senator proceeded, and swinging into the stride of his speech, which he promised would be brief.

He put a quietus on the whispered circulation of his name as a possible "Moses," by reminding the progressive convention that he was present as a member of a committee from "another convention."

"There isn't a doubt but that you want Teddy and that millions of citizens throughout the country also want Teddy," he began. "You are fortunate in having a leader," he continued, "who has done more than any other man to make the issues of this campaign.

Makes Plea for Unity.

"He is a maker of questions involved in this international crisis," the convention responding enthusiastically to the praise of the colonel. "But let us bear in mind," he urged, "what these two conventions do here will perhaps decide the welfare of the United States for the next quarter of a century. We can only insure ourselves by working together in close co-operation. I do not discourage your loyalty and enthusiasm to your leader, but I must say it is essential that before we leave this great city it should be definitely determined that we will march and fight together in this great conflict.

"But if the two conventions agree upon your great leader you will find no more enthusiastic supporter than myself."

Hear Conference Report.

A report of the peace conferees appointed by the progressive national convention was read to the delegates today by Chairman George W. Perkins at the same hour the republican conference committee was making its report at the Coliseum. The reports were not identical, but they agreed that Col. Roosevelt's name was the only one the progressives presented to the republicans and that the latter offered no name. Both reports recommended time for further conferences "this afternoon or evening."

Mr. Perkins read the report of the republica ncommittee and the declaration that the progressive members had urged Theodore Roosevelt as the "most desirable candidate upon which to unite," was so wildly cheered that the report had to be read again when order was obtained.

Radicals Strain at Leash.

For an hour the progressive delegates had been listening to the reading of the platform. The radicals had been straining at the leash. They had been restrained only by the statement of Chairman Robins that the report of the conference committee was coming very soon. Most of them did not understand the parliamentary situation which made the report of the resolutions committee the unfinished business. They chafed at the restraint, but they didn't know how to break loose and those who did kept still for they were those who counselled delay.

After listening to the reading of the two reports and Mr. Perkin's appeal to the convention to let the conferees go back to work. The delegates applauded vociferiously the chairman's praise of the eloquence of his colleague's arguments in favor of the progressive universal candidate.

Map Out a Course.

When the leaders got time to breathe again they conferred on the course to be followed in the convention and decided to be regulated by the action of the republicans. Frequently bulletins were telephoned to the stage by representatives at the Coliseum so that the progressive leaders always were abreast of the action of the republicans.

It was agreed that if the republican convention gave no signs of making a nomination that the progressive convention would transact other routine business. Should a nomination by the republicans appear imminent, however, it was agreed the progressives immediately would nominate Col. Roosevelt.

Go Into Conference.

Several progressive leaders including Mr. Perkins, Governor Johnson, James R. Garfield and Henry Allen, withdrew to a private room in the lower part of the convention hall while the platform reading was in progress, to discuss a program in case the republican convention did not nominate. They understood that the republican convention would adjourn immediately after two ballots had been taken on the presidential nominee, provided there was no nomination at that time. The progressive convention amended the platform committee's plank on woman's suffrage so as to declare for the "full right of suffrage by both federal and state action."

The committee had used the word "neither." Senator Borah, of Idaho, arrived at 12:40 and was escorted to the platform by Wm. Flynn, of Pennsylvania. He was enthusiastically received.

Task Not Easy.

The officers of the convention who were attempting to proceed in a deliberate manner realized that their work was cut out for them and that Chairman Robins' task was far from easy.

Henry Allen's description that it was a powder magazine with lots of watchers around yesterday, adequately described the situation today. From a parliamentary point of view, the convention officers had them in their control with obstreperous delegates who would rush madly into making a nomination of Col. Roosevelt.

Before adjournment yesterday the platform report was placed before the convention by Dean William Draper Lewis, of the University of Pennsylvania, chairman of the resolutions committee, and it was made the unfinished business. Those who were seeking delay to give the peace committee as much time as they desired in their efforts to get together with the republicans, looked eagerly for a Ronsevelt demonstration. They were prepared when it came to keep it going as long as possible.

Unrestrained enthusiasm of uncontrolable Roosevelt shouters, they figured, would be an element in favor of those who would delay making a nomination for the demonstration would help use up the time. The plan was to bring up the platform and open it to unlimited debate, if necessary, as soon as the delegates showed any signs of demanding that the convention proceed with the nomination.

But the plan was tentative. The officers of the convention could only hope for the best.

While the leaders talked, the delegates poured in. The Massachusetts delegates marched in yelling "We'd better nominate Roosevelt before it's too late." A male quartet with megaphones in a balcony, the band and a Utah delegate armed with a flute, had a musical duet. The waiting crowd loudly cheered a "Teddy" song by the quartet and insisted upon repeated encores.

It was 10:26 when Chairman Robins, in the midst of the band's music, called the convention to order by mauling the big block of wood on his desk with his sledge hammer gavel. The floor was filled, but alternates' places in the galleries were not.

The opening prayer was given by Rabbi Joseph Stolz, of Chicago. His invocation called for Divine guidance for both conventions. General applause followed the prayer.

Chairman Robins brought the platform before the convention at 10:49 as the unfinished business. He announced that a report would soon come from the conference committee. Dean Lewis read the platform section by section, each being acted upon as offered. It was expected some planks, particularly that on woman suffrage, would be debated.

Progressives Reconvene.

Chairman Robins called the convention to order at the conclusion of the recess at 3:15 p. m. Despite the realization by the delegates that important business confronted it, when they assembled the delegates were good natured and enthusiastic. It was in sharp contrast to the surface sentiment at other sessions.

The spirit of the crowd was, leaders said, due probably in part to the fact of the convention officers, Chairman Robins and Secretary O. K. Davis in adjoining for lunch and the prospects that the rain that has swept Chicago for four days was about over.

but who knows how to administer to those needs. A man who has firm convictions as to right and wrong and who has the courage of his convictions and will right a wrong that is done to the humblest of our citizens. A man who acts not from impulse, but who bases his action upon reason, and who, when he makes up his mind, will not change it except when convinced that he is in error; and who when so convinced is broad enough and just enough to acknowledge his error and correct it. A man who believes in the fundamental principles of the republican party and that they are essential to good government, and who knows how to apply those principles to secure the best results for all our people. A man who has gained that confidence by reason of his steadfast adherence to business integrity in the administration of public office. A man who has an abiding faith in the people, and they an abiding faith in him because he has been tried in the crucible of experience and has not been found wanting.

"Indiana presents to this convention for its consideration a candidate, who possesses all of these qualifications, in the person of Charles Warren Fairbanks."

"No man living," he shouted, "can claim a monopoly of the American spirit in his heart or in his nature. The republican party is full of them."

The cheering in the New York delegation was led by former Secretary Stimson. Many of the delegates who had cheered for Justice Hughes a few minutes previously, cheered just as loudly for Mr. Root.

It was five minutes before order was restored and the roll call was resumed. Arkansas yielded to Ohio and the chair recognized Gov. Willis to nominate Burton.

"Gov. Whitman and Dr. Butler," he began, not being able to agree on the ownership of this elephant I claim him for Ohio. He brought out the little G. O. P. toy elephant on wheels that had made its appearance earlier in the session and rolled it to the front of the platform.

"In the middle of Gov. Willis' speech the sun came out for the first time in four days and flooded the Coliseum. He was speaking of a republican party with its face turned toward the future and as an omen of that said he "the sun is shining, thank God."

The delegates, weary and depressed by four days of soaking downpour, saw the point and cheered.

Ohio Breaks Loose.

The Ohio alternates rose in their place in the rear of the hall and echoed the cheers of the delegates. There were scattering cheers from other delegates and some hand-clapping.

While the Burton demonstration was on a Root delegate pinned his candidate's picture on the trunk of Gov. Willis' elephant which still stood on the speaker's platform.

Gov. Willis took the Ohio standard from the floor and began a march around the hall. The Ohio men followed in force. They made the circuit of the hall without another delegation joining them.

During the Burton demonstration Chairman aHrding said the plan is to take two ballots before the convention adjourns or recessed.

The Burton demonstration was loud and lusty even if it was confined practically to the Ohio men. The Burton men kept it up for twenty-three minutes, then the chairman gavelled for order.

When the Burton demonstration had been going on twenty minutes, the Ohioans took up their standard and began another march around the hall. Chairman Harding, himself an Ohioan, handed down the elephant and Gov. Willis shouldered it at the head of the procession.

Women First to Arrive.

A party of women were the first visitors to arrive when doors were opened at 8:30 o'clock today. The early contingent of ticket holders, however, was the smallest since the convention opened and the first selection of the band was played mostly to policemen at their posts. Although the rain had ceased the vast hall was still heavy with dampness. On the platform was the daily gift of the contractor who put the Coliseum in shape for the convention—three great bouquets of peonies.

A sound-magnifying contrivance was installed for the benefit of Alfred I. DuPont, of the Delaware delegation. Mr. DuPont explained to Sergeant-at-Arms Stone that it was rather monotonous to sit in his chair hour after hour with only the motion of lips to entertain him, and Mr. Stone permitted the installation as "a courtesy and not as a precedent," he said.

Will Go to Fairbanks.

The Colorado delegation of twelve caucused this morning and lined up—Roosevelt 6; Root, 5, and Fairbanks, 1, for the first ballot.

It was understood that on the third or fourth ballot, if reached, the delegation would go solidly for Fairbanks. The delegation, however, was prepared for further caucusing in their seats, if emergency should alter the situation.

The conference committee's report was received with great enthusiasm. At the mention of Roosevelt's name there was moderate applause, rising in volume, but chiefly participated in by the galleries. It lasted about three minutes.

Chairman Harding announced the conference committee would be continued and then announced the roll call of states for nominations was in order.

Roll of States Called.

Weeks' Name Presented.

The Chicago Hamilton club, about 500 strong, were admitted from the outside of the hall and paraded around the hall headed by "Uncle Sam," "the Spirit of '76" and a live baby elephant. A little girl of six, dressed as Columbia, was carried through the hall on the shoulder of a delegate.

The city fire marshal said the Coliseum is overtaxed by the great crowd within its walls. Orders were given to keep all doors closed and let no one in regardless of whether they held tickets.

California and Colorado passed and Connecticut yielded to Massachusetts. When order was restored Senator Lodge took the platform to nominate Senator Weeks.

At 2:30 o'clock Senator Lodge finished and the Weeks' demonstration began.

Cat Calls, Cheers, Hisses.

Twenty-two minutes had passed in the Sherman demonstration when Mr. Sutherland pounded vigorously, and, raising his voice, ordered the roll call to proceed, which it did in great noise and confusion.

But the chair persisted. Indiana was called and Representative Wood of that state ascended platform. It was some minutes before he could proceed. The police were instructed to restore order, but apparently the disturbance was largely in the galleries.

Mr. Wood finished at 3:41 and the Indiana delegation began cheering. Paraders hearing a large American flag and a banner inscribed "Fairbanks for president," marched around the hall while the band played "On the Banks of the Wabash."

Through the efforts of the committee in charge, the great tent revival meetings which were to have been held on the vacant lot on Calhoun street, between Creighton avenue and Taber street, will be held on the lot at Ewing and West Main streets, the site of the Lyon tabernacle meetings.

This is a more suitable location, as it is nearer the center of the city and the committee feels that the change in location will meet with the approval of all concerned. The tent will be pitched Saturday afternoon and workmen will be busy Monday and Tuesday installing the inside fixtures.

Loren Jones and his wife are in Fort Wayne and have definitely outlined their work. Mr. Jones will meet all the members of his choir which sang at the Lyon meetings, next Tuesday evening at the First Baptist church. He requests that each person bring the tabernacle song books.

Plans are complete for the booster meeting which will be held at the First Baptist church Monday evening. The Associated Christian Workers, the Men's Christian league and the Fort Wayne Ministerial association, under whose auspices this month's tent revival is to be held, are expecting a full membership present at the Booster gathering.

Rev. James A. Nipper, of the Rescue mission, who will be the evangelist at these meetings, is personally assisting in making the arrangements.

REMAINS ARRIVE SATURDAY.

The remains of Earl Cox, a son-in-law of Daniel Nestel, of 1204 Scott avenue, of this city, who was killed in Cleveland, O., when a street car struck the motorcycle on which he was riding, will arrive in this city Saturday morning. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. Nestel.

FULLEST LOYALTY VERY ESSENTIAL

Every individual and organization that has arranged to participate in the great fraternal parade scheduled for last Tuesday afternoon, and which was deferred to Saturday afternoon on account of the drenching rain, is urged to show the fullest loyalty to Fort Wayne by doing his part in Saturday's demonstration.

The Mooseheart band which was here for Tuesday's parade is back in the city again to fulfill its agreement to appear in the parade, and many outside organizations will come to the city to take part.

Despite the fact that Centennial week has proven to contain as much bad weather as could well be crowded into a given period, and there is a disposition to throw up one's hands and say, "What's the use?" right now is the time to show the highest spirit of loyalty and civic pride. The Centennial celebration must go down in history as the greatest of its kind in America. And each of us can help to make it so.

GENERAL ATTACK NOW LAUNCHED BY GERMANS

Paris, June 9—11:25 a. m.—The Germans have launched a general attack along the entire front on the right bank of the Meuse and have penetrated the French line at one point but were repulsed elsewhere with heavy loss, according to an official statement issued by the war office today.

The point where the Germans entered the French lines is in the neighborhood of Thiaumont farm. The Germans also made two small attacks southwest of Hill 304 but these attacks, the statement says, were repulsed.

AUSTRIAN FRONT BREAKS.

London, June 9—2:32 p. m.—Information has reached the Russian embassy in Rome that the Austrian front has been completely broken along a length of ninety-four miles to a depth of thirty-seven and one-half miles, according to a Central News dispatch today from the Italian capital.

Gen. Joffre in London.

Gen. Joffre, the French commander-in-chief, is in London. He attended an important conference at the foreign office today with Paul Cambon, the French ambassador; Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary, and the members of the war council.

A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam says that a statement has been issued from the Dutch army general headquarters stating that the army is thoroughly prepared and equipped for any possible war.

NEW HOPE HOSPITAL SITE DEAL IS NEAR

A deal will probably be closed soon whereby the Hope Hospital association will come into possession of the property at Suttenfield and Clinton streets, near the reservoir, for the erection of a new building. The site has been under consideration for some time, together with three or four other sites.

D. N. Foster, chairman of the committee, is in Chicago, and President A. G. Burry, of the hospital, states that as far as he knows no option has been closed for the property.

VIRGINIA MAN IS NEW T. P. A. HEAD

Lafayette, Ind., June 9.—Dan W. Sale, of Virginia, was today elected national president of the Travelers' Protective Association of America at the closing session of the national session. W. B. Ramy, of Champaign, Ill., was elected first vice president.

The other vice presidents were elevated a notch and J. R. Carney, of Alabama, was elected fifth vice president. The new directors, E. N. Mulkey, of Texas; R. J. White, of Wisconsin, and E. L. Lampkin, of St. Louis. Savannah, Ga., was selected for the 1917 convention.

ALLIES WOULD NEED 2,000,000 FOR JOB

Sofia, May 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—In military quarters at the Macedonian front and in political circles here the opinion is expressed to The Associated Press correspondent that while an offensive move on the part of the entente forces at Saloniki is not out of the question, such a manoeuvre would be devoid of all prospects of success if undertaken with fewer than fifty army corps, or about 2,000,000 men. Thus far the entente allies have brought to Saloniki about 350,000 effectives. With the addition of 100,000 Serbians the entente contingent would still be below a half a million men, a force considered here as being entirely inadequate to undertake the rehabilitation of Serbia.

The terrain difficulties which the entente troops would be obliged to overcome are regarded as enormous. In all cases the entente troops would have to fight uphill. One or two admittedly weak points in the Bulgaro-Austro-German line are amply covered by stronger positions immediately in the rear, it is stated to the correspondent, so that a falling-back would be an entirely strategical affair.

The Macedonian defense line runs in the main as follows: In the east it has the Cengel Dagh as its extreme point of support. These mountains are from 4,500 to 4,800 feet high, rugged and precipitous towards the south, the direction of attack. Then comes the very narrow valley of the Struma, the defense of which can be carried out from the foothills of Belashitza Planina. West of this valley lies the mountain chain named, a single high crest some forty kilometers long, running due west. South of the range in question lies the valley and lake of Doiran, and slightly to the northwest of the Doiran and Vardar valleys the Blagusha Planina, in which the Anglo-French troops were defeated in the battle of Kosturino, in November, 1915.

The remainder of the line consists of the Padjah, Marianska, Blatec, Nidshe, Dobropolje Planinas and their connecting crests. Then comes the valley of the Karasu river, southeast of Monastir, a terrain which so far has not interested the entente troops very much. The Suhagora mountains and Malo and Prespa lakes adjoin the very difficult mountain country of southeastern Albania.

Feasible lines of advance of the entente troops are the Vardar valley and the country about Doiran; the valley of the Karasu river, upon Monastir; and lastly the valley of the Struma. Only the first-named comes into consideration, however. To reach the Struma, the Greek government would have to place at the disposal of the entente troops the railroad line to Demir Hissar; and to advance towards Monastir the railroad to that point would have to be used.

The present entente line is purely defensive. Its center is at Kukush, in Greece, thirty-five kilometers from Lake Doiran. From there it sweeps in an arc towards the Vardar valley, where at the closest point of contact the lines of the two opposing forces are still 3,000 yards from one another. This peculiar line of the entente troops was established to prevent a surprise by the Bulgaro-Germans. In some quarters the view is held that it was dictated by a concentration rearward, due to the transfer to France of considerable French forces.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start this today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil for 50 cents at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller, and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil besides being one of the most powerful of antiseptics capable of destroying the most pernicious germs and the poisons caused by them, is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications causes the eruption to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barbers' itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

You can readily understand that Moone's Emerald Oil must be a powerful, penetrating preparation, when it has reduced goiters and wens, and is recommended for such distress.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, wens or goiter, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, boils, abscesses or piles in a few days, should not hesitate to get a 50 cent bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. You can always get Moone's Emerald Oil at Meyer Bros. Drug Stores—Advertisement.

LAST OF THE GERMANS HAVE QUIT PORTUGAL

Lisbon, May 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The last of the Germans ordered expelled under the decree of the government have left Portugal. Those who are to be interned are on their way to the island of Terceira, one of the Azores group. This island has been placed under the military command of the governor of the Azores and he has adopted the measures necessary to maintain order there.

The ministry of foreign affairs and the police officers have for some days been devoting their entire attention to Germans in distress, Germans anxious to deny their Teutonic nationality, Portugese women married to Germans and hence affected by the governmental decree, and aged German women who have for years been employed as servants in Portuguese families.

With the Germans, a great many Austrians and Turks have been expelled. Large and important firms have been forced to discontinue business and a number of factories have closed.

Discovery has been made of faulty machinery on some of the German steamships which the government requisitioned. Machine experts and operatives have reached here from England to effect repairs, and a British naval mission and other British government representatives have arrived.

BULLET CUT SHORT CHERISHED AMBITION

New York, June 9.—A dark-haired little woman was weeping in a scantily furnished apartment, a telegram from Police Commissioner Woods clasped in her hands. It told her that the department grieved with her over the death of Patrolman Henry H. Schwarz, her husband, but at the same time gloried in his heroism.

Schwarz died in Bellevue hospital from two bullet wounds received while trying to arrest three Italians in a cellar at 196 First avenue. A pint of blood transfused from the veins of Sergt. Alexander Knittel, his superior, failed to save him.

Three policemen, friends of her husband, entered, and Mrs. Schwarz turned to them.

"He would have won his honor medal, wouldn't he?" she asked a moment later. "He wanted it so. Only a few weeks ago he told me that next time the honor legion marched he'd be in the ranks. And now—his name will go on the honor roll, but what are Agnes and Harry going to do without their daddy? What am I going to do?

"He tried hard to be a good policeman," she said, turning to a patrolman, who nodded and coughed to conceal his emotion. "And we've had a hard fight—a hard fight. Sometimes he almost wanted to go back to plumbing so we could have enough money, but then he'd say 'No, I'll stick to the force.' And he's dead.

"Last night when I left him at the hospital he smiled at me and said he would see me today. I believe now that he knew even then that he was dying. But he wouldn't let me know. He was always trying to protect me."

Forethought.

People are learning that a little forethought often saves them a big expense. Here is an instance: E. W. Archer, Caldwell, Ohio, writes: "I do not believe that our family has been without Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy since we commenced keeping house years ago. When we go on an extended visit we take it with us." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

BILIOUS, CONSTIPATED, GENERALLY UNFIT

Our present mode of living makes bad livers. Living indoors and eating rich food puts more work on the liver than it can do. The bile tubes become choked and force the bile back into the system, causing gas, heart-burn, coated tongue, constipation, dizziness, nervousness, headaches and stomach trouble.

A third of a tumbler of Tollo Water taken in a glass of plain water before breakfast gives quickest relief. The natural properties of this water stimulates the liver to greater activity without the sickening, nauseating or weakening effort produced by calomel and other strong drugs.

It really gives the liver a bath. It dissolves the waste, washes out the bile tubes and expels the waste and sour bile from the system in just a few minutes.

Get a 15-cent bottle from your druggist and take a little each morning for a few days. After the first day the complexion will begin to lose its yellow shade and in a few days your natural healthy color will return.

After you have thoroughly cleaned the bile from the system, an occasional wine glass full of Tollo Water before breakfast will keep you feeling fine. You can eat what you like without suffering; your complexion will stay pink and healthy; those dull tired days will be gone forever because your liver will have the help it needs to expel the bile and prevent its being absorbed into the system.

Dawson Springs, the home of Tollo Water, has been a famous health resort for years. It was through the desire of those who have visited the springs and regained their health that Tollo Water has been concentrated and put on sale at drug stores.—Advertisement.

PIONEER ROANOKE CITIZEN NO MORE

Roanoke, Ind., June 9.—John Hackett, for more than forty years identified with the business life of Roanoke, died at his home in that town Thursday morning.

He was born in Delaware county, Indiana, October 23, 1834, and moved with his parents to Jackson township Huntington county in 1846. In 1857 he moved to Roanoke where he had since resided.

He was enlisted as a member of the Forty-seventh regiment, Indiana volunteer infantry in 1862, but became disabled and was discharged from the service on that account. In 1863 he became identified with the drug business in Roanoke in the store of his brother-in-law, R. C. Ebersole.

He was married February 8, 1863, to Caroline Ebersole, who survives him. One son, C. L. Hackett, who has for many years been his father's partner in the drug business, was the only child.

Four years ago his health failed and since that time he has not been actively connected with the business. For the past six months he has been bedfast.

Mr. Hackett was a member of the G. A. R. and of the Roanoke lodge, No. 195, F. and A. M. He was also a member of the M. E. church.

The funeral will be held from the Roanoke M. E. church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment at Glenwood cemetery. Roanoke lodge will have charge.

IS SEEKING MISSING FATHER

Huntington, Ind., June 9.—Something of the silence of the Sphinx has fixed itself to the twelve years of Clarence Ditton's absence from his family, which he left in Huntington a dozen years ago. He disappeared from his wife and son without explanation and apparently without reason, and since, no word from him has broken the silence which swallowed him so quietly. His son, Charles Ditton, now living in Fort Wayne, with his mother, came to Huntington to begin a search for his father. In a day long inquiry he could find no clue except that his father may be in a northern logging camp. The belief that the elder Ditton may be in the north filtered to his son through channels which revealed no foundation for the supposition that he is there and the son is undecided whether or not to carry his search that far. He will keep in touch with a Huntington attorney whom he consulted, in the hope that some definite word or clue may reach him. Several years after the disappearance of his father, Charles Ditton went to live in Fort Wayne, taking his mother with him, and has remained there since.

WILL HAVE REUNION THIS MONTH

Kendallville, Ind., June 9.—That there are now resident in Indianapolis one hundred or more persons who formerly resided in Noble county and that they will hold a reunion at Broad Ripple park, in one of the northern suburbs of the state capital, June 17, is stated in a letter sent here by the committee appointed to make arrangements. The letter says:

"There are one hundred people living in the city of Indianapolis who are former residents of Noble county. In order that they may become better acquainted they have decided to hold a basket picnic at Broad Ripple park, in Indianapolis, on Saturday, June 17. A program consisting of short talks, music and contests has been arranged and the committee desires to get into communication with every former resident of Noble county now residing in the capital city.

"The committee will appreciate any information that your readers will furnish that will assist them in locating their friends.

"John W. Smith, Eli Schloss, John W. Earle, J. C. Kimmell, committee."

BRICK ROAD FOR WHITLEY.

Columbia City, Ind., June 9.—Cleveland township will have the first brick country road in the county. It will be constructed from the end of State street, in South Whitley, for about a half mile south to the Cuppy Corners. At the latter named point, the road which runs east about two and a half miles to the Washington township line, will be improved by graveling, to be constructed along the plan of what is termed the improved gravel road in this county. This work will be done without the formality of an election. There was practically no objection to the improvement of the roads mentioned and permission for their construction was granted without the delay and expense incident to the holding of an election.

LAGRANGE PIONEER CALLED.

Lagrange, Ind., June 9.—John M. Trowbridge, a soldier in the war for the union, who was stricken with paralysis Decoration day, in the afternoon, at the Wigton theater, while the program was being presented, died late Tuesday evening at the home of his son, Watson J. Trowbridge, without having regained consciousness. Charles L. DeBow, the Methodist Episcopal pastor, was in charge of a prayer service, after which the funeral party left for Flint, in Steuben county, where the final service was held in the Christian church and burial was made in the village cemetery. Mr. Trowbridge was born in Ohio seventy-three years ago. He came to Lagrange county, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Trowbridge, as a boy, and the family lived on a farm in the Pleasant Hill neighborhood, on the old Drake road.

WARRANT FOR DELPHOS MAYOR.

Van Wert, Ohio, June 9.—Application has been made in mayor's court for warrants for the arrest of George N. LeaSure, mayor of Delphos, and W. C. Thompson, chief of police at Delphos, on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance while driving an automobile. It is given out that the affidavits will be signed by either Tom Davies, of East Raymond street, or T. Bradley DeWitt, who, with three other witnesses, trailed the car in which the Delphos officers were riding, using an automobile set for the speed of eight miles an hour, and that the Delphos car ran away from them. Messrs. Davies and DeWitt, it will be remembered, were arrested in Delphos on Memorial day, and fined for violating the traffic ordinance of that town.

HUNTINGTON WOMAN DIES WEST

Huntington, Ind., June 9.—Mrs. James Plumber, of this city, is dead in Dallas, Ore., where she had gone to visit at the home of her son, Lewis Plumber. The telegram which told of her death stated that a daughter, Marie, also of Huntington, is too ill to return to Huntington with her mother's body. No details could be learned except that Mrs. Plumber had been ill since Monday evening. Mr. Plumber, on a visit to Kankakee, Ill., has been notified of the death. Accompanied by her daughter, Marie, and a son, Arthur, of Chicago, Mrs. Plumber left Huntington for Oregon a week ago Monday on a six weeks' visit. The body will be returned to Huntington and will arrive here either Sunday or Monday.

SOUTH WHITLEY WOMAN DIES.

Columbia City, Ind., June 9.—Mrs. Clara Remington, widow of the late F. S. Remington, passed away at her home at South Whitley Thursday. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Snow and was born in Whitley county in 1845. She grew to womanhood in South Whitley and was united in marriage to F. S. Remington. To this union were born five children, three of whom are living. F. S. Remington preceded his wife in death about fifteen years ago.

MONTPELIER WEDDING.

Montpelier, Ind., June 9.—At high noon Thursday at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Twibell, across the river, occurred the wedding of their second daughter, Miss Margaret, to Mr. Lee Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Smith, of this city. It was the first of a number of June weddings scheduled for the month of roses and brides. Rev. J. O. Bills performed the ceremony. The bride wore a beautful gown of flesh colored silk poplin, with a lace over dress and her going away dress is of dark blue silk poplin.

The contract is for two years and comes as a decided promotion over his former position. Ernest is a graduate of the local high school and a Hicksville boy who is doing things in his chosen line of civil engineering.

NO MOSQUITOES IN LAFAYETTE PLACE

Because of the unusual elevation of Lafayette Place, the delightful home site at the south end of Calhoun street, the prospective home-builders of this addition may look forward to summers when they may be free from the mosquitoes which frequently prove so bothersome in new tracts of city property. Parts of Lafayette Place are as high as 65 feet above the level of the courthouse walks, and the base of the flag-staff, which has been planted in the ground at a point near where the Community club house will be located, may be seen at great distances from almost any direction from Lafayette Place. This unusual elevation is but one of the many advantages of this beautiful addition. Others will be pointed out by the Wildwood Sales company, Shoaff building, or any member of the Real Estate Exchange.

TO TRY AGAIN AFTER BALLOTING IS BEGUN

Chicago, June 9.—After giving the names of the conferees on both sides the report of the republican-progressive harmony committee to be presented to both conventions today recited that they had a full and frank conference last night which resulted in an agreement that there should be united action on the part of the two parties if possible of attainment; that the policies and future of the country for the next few years would depend upon their getting together and uniting to rescue the country from the present democratic domination.

The report to the republican convention recited the fact that the progressives held the name of Col. Roosevelt as the proper man for selection as the proper candidate, expressing the opinion that on account of his personal following and hold upon the people, as well as because of his mastery of the questions of the day, he was the best fitted of all mentioned by either party to bear the standard of the combined organizations.

While no mention is made of the fact that another conference had practically been agreed upon, it is perfectly understood that it is their plan to get together again after two or three ballots have been cast by the republican convention.

The representatives of the republican convention did not make any counter suggestions as to a candidate, but on the contrary some of them stated that they would be entirely willing to accept Mr. Roosevelt if the republican convention could be brought to that conclusion, which they frankly stated they did not believe could be done.

PRETTY FIGHT OVER SUFFRAGE LOOMING

Chicago, June 9.—A pretty fight over the woman suffrage plank in the progressive platform was in prospect today. Some of the more radical leaders of the suffrage movement were said not to be satisfied with the plank as drawn by the resolutions committee and were bringing all possible pressure to bear to change its phraseology.

As adopted by the committee the plank says that the progressive party believes that women "should be given the full political right of suffrage either by federal or state action." This was looked upon as at best a compromise and by some suffrage opponents as a decided straddle. The element which is dissatisfied with this wording want a change so as to make the plank read "women should be given the full political right of suffrage both by federal and state action," which they hold is a positive declaration that legislation should be enacted by congress and by the states as well.

When the platform is taken up plank by plank the fight probably will result in general debate, with some of the ardent suffragist delegates leading it. Another plank that is expected to cause trouble is that on the question of prohibition. In the resolutions committee a motion to insert an out and out declaration for a "dry" plank was beat, 30 to 13, but advocates of prohibition have not given up hope of a reconsideration in the convention itself.

STEPS FROM CURBING TO MEET HIS DEATH

Stepping from the curbing into the street when his hat was blown off, at 3:25 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Hugh Williams, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Thomas H. Williams, 1414 Columbia avenue, was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Roy Timbrook, 817 Union street, and suffered injuries which caused his death a half hour later at Hope hospital. The boy was hurried to the institution by Mr. Timbrook, who was driving another car nearby, where medical aid was immediately summoned. Death was due to a fractured skull.

The unfortunate lad was playing in the street at Lake and Delta avenues with several other boys of his own age. They started across the street and had nearly reached the opposite side when the boy's hat blew off. Without looking back he turned abruptly into the street directly in front of the auto. He was thrown to the pavement with violence and suffered a deep gash above his right eye and a fracture of the skull. Witnesses of the accident state that it was unavoidable and that the driver of the car was in no way to blame.

This is the second misfortune of similar nature which has befallen the Williams family. It will be remembered that the father of the boy who was killed Thursday, Thomas H. Williams, was killed instantly on the morning of Nov. 4 at the Winter street crossing while on his way to work at Bowser's.

Besides the prostrated mother, the little boy is survived by two sisters, aged 8 and 5 years. The body was taken to the Getz & Cahill parlors.

WELL, SOMEBODY PROFITED BY IT

Chicago, June 9.—About the only persons in Chicago who are satisfied with weather this week are the merchandise managers of downtown stores which have profited by the heavy rains for three days, and which stopped last night for the first time since the meeting of the republican and progressive national conventions.

According to estimates made today by the big downtown stores the rainstorm resulted in the sale of 15,000 umbrellas, 27,00 pairs of rubbers and 11,500 raincoats, most of which were bought by visitors to the conventions. The cessation of the storm last night was taken advantage of by followers of Col. Roosevelt, and a large number formed in line, and led by two bands, paraded through the downtown section. A large part of the parade was made up of women.

The local weather forecast for today offers a little hope of relief, unsettled weather, with probably showers, being the report.

DUDLO WINS FIRST POINT IN ACTION

Judge A. B. Anderson, in the federal court at Indianapolis Thursday, denied the petition of the Varley Duplex Magnet company, of Pittsburg, for an injunction against the Dudlo Manufacturing company, of Fort Wayne, to restrain it from the manufacture of certain products. The case will come to trial in December, and meanwhile the Dudlo company has filed a bond of $50,000, with W. E. Mossman as surety, to indemnify against possible damages in the event the case is ultimately decided against the Fort Wayne concern.

The Dudlo Manufacturing company is charged by the Varley Duplex Magnet company of infringing on its patent in the manufacture of certain electric coils. M. A. Keller, of Pittsburg, and James M. Barrett, of this city, represent the plaintiff, and Vesey & Vesey and Taylor & Hulse, of Fort Wayne, represent the Dudlo company.

When the structures of the system are in perfect health they work without attracting attention or causing any alarm. The moment that any part of the system has become inefficient in functioning, or cries out in pain, then you know you have been attacked by nerve and tissue weakness.

You become conscious of an unnatural condition, your heart beats wildly after exertion or excitement, you suffer with nervous headaches, the nerves in the spinal cord, on account of their overtaxed, weakened condition, cause pains in the back, drawing at the base of the brain, irritability of temper, uneven mood, sleeplessness, cold clammy feeling, you lack will-power, energy and ambition.

Not only is the nervous system the seat of all intelligence, memory, reason or probably of the very soul itself, but every movement of the various structures of the body depends upon nerve action. Hence, when the nerves suffer from debility or weakness, trouble is instantly felt in one or more of the structures. It is the chronic lack or derangement of function of these various tissues of the body which causes so much alarm, discontent and unhappiness. Close examination may disclose no trace of disease or pain, but nerves and tissues may not be working properly. Like an engine with insufficient fuel, the full supply of nerve force is not forthcoming.

When CADOMENE TABLETS are directed to the nervous system the cause and origin of the disturbance is reached. By the tonic and nutritive action of Cadomene Tablets on the nerve and tissue cells every muscle, nerve and structure of the system are brought up to par and naturally restored to accomplish their normal work.

The mind brightens, muscular tone is increased, all the bodily functions are regulated, sleep is sound and undisturbed, and the excessive wretchedness of nerve and tissue weakness, discontent and worry are things of the past.

Linville, La., June 9.—Linville is a rural community far from the railroad in a hilly region in northern Louisiana. Five years ago it had all the marks of a backwoods community with no ideals for growth. Some of the marks were its box-car shack used for school, its farm run to weeds, and its traditional school open from four to six months in the year. The beginning was made by the citizens themselves—not all of them to be sure, only the more energetic. These few succeeded in building a two-room school which was a marked improvement over the previous schoolhouse. At the present time, the two-room building has been enlarged into a fine six-room structure set in large grounds, sodded with grass, and dotted with shade trees. It has other improvements that signify a growing community with definite standards of its own. There is a shoproom for the boys, a well-equipped home-economics department, for the girls, sanitary drinking fountain, and the like. Local social life, formerly of no community avail, now offers interests for the children, the young men and young women, and the older people of the community.

The teachers of the school are correspondingly progressive. The course of study utilized fits the needs of the community. Its health teaching includes problems of sanitation and personal hygiene of definite importance to the children and adults. The reading course selects the subject-matter from life and the nature-environment.

The most forceful factor in the new community life began with the establishment of a school farm and plant nursery of about two acres as part of the public school. This farm was cleared of trees and brush; stumps were removed; and posts cut and hauled. The lumber for fencing was cut on the land and sawed at a nearby sawmill on shares. All this work, including the building of the fence, was done by boys with the assistance of the principal. The only outlay of cash for this construction was $1.50 for nails and barbed wire.

The land was divided into plots and cultivated by the boys and girls of the agricultural classes. Fruit trees of every kind suitable for this climate were planted during late winter and early spring. Hickory, haws, and many other trees were planted and later grafted and budded. A spray was added to the equipment, and lessons were given in spraying fruit trees, vegetables, etc. The principal and the boys made excursions through the neighborhood spraying orchards, potato patches, and gardens to destroy injurious insects and other pests. These excursions afford the school opportunity to reach the patrons direct and give them valuable first-hand lessons. The work has become part of the school curriculum, and the community looks to he school for advice and help of this sort.

In order to promote the social, educational, agricultural, and material advancement of the community, a school district fair association was organized. This association held its first annual fair in October 16, 1914. Among the important results achieved were increased appreciation on the part of the boys and girls for their opportunities in farm club work, and the new community interests in local industrial possibilities.

With agricultural co-operation secured, it was comparatively easy for the community to begin other phases of social development. The school started this by interesting the people—both young and old—in games, which were played on the school grounds. On Saturday afternoons patrons and pupils meet on the grounds and enjoy themselves playing volleyball, tennis, and other games. Literary societies meet on the grounds and enjoy themselves playing volleyball, tennis and other games. Literary societies meet in the school building, where many things of community importance are discussed.

Before the establishment of the new school with its new relationship to the community, only the smaller children attended the school; the older ones sought work and entertainment elsewhere. At the present time the young men and women of the community, ranging in age from 21 to 26 years, attend. The farmers have learned to look to the institution for help in their agricultural problems. They find it more profitable to have their sons and daughters in school than to keep them at work on the farm, with no vision of their own and no aid beyond that which they themselves can give.

The term "free lance," now meaning a literary man who is in no one's employ, is a relic of the crusades, when companies of knights roved from place to place, offering their services to any one who would pay for them.

HAPPY IN DYING AS SOLDIER FOR IRELAND

New York, June 9.—The Irish World received from Ireland today the last letter written by Patrick H. Pearse, president of the Irish republic, which was written to his mother from his cell in Kilmainham prison the night before his execution. The letter follows:

"My Dearest Mother—I have been hoping up to now it would be possible to see you again, but it does not seem possible. Good-by, dear, dear mother. Through you I say good-by to Wow Wow (a sister), Mary, Brigid, Willie, Miss B. Mieeal, Cousin Maggine and every one at St. Enda's. I hope and believe Willie and the St. Enda boys will be all safe. I have written two papers about financial affairs and one about my books which I want you to get. With them are a few poems which I want added to the poems in MS. in my bookcase. You asked me to write a little poem which would seem to be said by you about me. I have written it, and a copy is in Arbour Hill barracks with other papers.

"I just received holy communion. I am happy, except for the great grief of parting from you. This is the death I should have asked for if God had given me the choice of all deaths—to die a soldier's death for Ireland and for freedom. We have done right. People will say hard things of us now, but later on will praise us. Do not grieve for all this, but think of it as a sacrifice which God asked of me and of you.

"Good-by again, dear mother. May God bless you for your great love for me and your great faith, and may He remember all you have so bravely suffered. I hope soon to see papa and in a little while we shall be all together again. I have not words to tell you of my love for you and how my heart yearns to you all. I will call to you in my heart at the last moment. Your son Pat."

("St Enda" refers to the school of which he was the head and founder.)

New York, June 9.—A committee of twelve men representing the principal branches of the moving picture industry, will present a plan for a new national organization intended to supersede the present motion picture board of trade, combat adverse legislation and bring about harmony in the trade. The committee was appointed after a conference here of about 100 representatives of film manufacturers and distributors. Those promoting the proposed organization assert the moving picture board of trade did not comprise all divisions of the film business and that this resulted in friction which came to a head recently in two rival moving picture expositions here. The companies have three weeks in which to formulate its plan.

LITTLE HOPE FOR PROPOSED CANAL

Officers of the Toledo, Fort Wayne & Chicago Deep Waterways association received Thursday a letter from Colonel John Millis, of the corps of engineers, setting forth in detail the report of the army board on the proposed Toledo, Fort Wayne & Chicago canal. The report is more adverse than was thought inasmuch as no separate report was filed by Col. Millis as was represented but merely a request for further consideration.

The letter says: "In the belief that you are interested in the pending proposition to construct an inland waterway from Lake Erie at or near Toledo, Ohoi, to the southerly end of Lake Michigan to Chicago, by way of the Maumee river and the city of Fort Wayne, Ind., or by some other practicable route, and in conformity to the instructions of the department, I hereby inform you that the report on this project authorized by the act of congress approved July 25, 1912, has been made by a special board of engineer officers, and that it is unfavorable to the undertaking of this improvement by the United States at the present time. One member of the board recommends further consideration of the subject in a special memorandum which is submitted with the report. The principal grounds upon which the adverse conclusions are based are that the direct benefits to be expected from the improvement in question to not appear at present commensurate with the cost. You are further notified that all interested persons have the privilege of an appeal from this conclusion to the board of engineers for rivers and harbors, a permanent body sitting at Washington, D. C., to which all examination and survey reports of this character are referred. Persons desiring to do so may be heard on appeal by the board, either orally or in writing.

Amsterdam, Netherlands, May 20.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Capt. Franz von Papen, recalled at the request of the United States government as military attache of the German embassy at Washington, and who has come to Holland on a secret mission, has a purpose which is three-fold, according to the Amsterdam Telegraaf. This newspaper does not mention Capt. von Papen by name but alludes to him as a "first class specialist who only recently arrived here after covering himself with world-wide fame in the exercise of functions in another neutral country."

The Telegraaf says that the "specialist" has come here, first, to obtain information of military and political nature; second, to watch foreigners residing or visiting Holland; and, third, to endeavor to influence public opinion in favor of Germany.

The German "secret information service" in Holland is being reorganized, the Telegraaf asserts, the efforts of the "specialist" along this line being the centralizing of diverse and scattered elements of the Teutonic espionage service in this country. He has established the central protective service at The Hague and progress has been made with the organization of the service at Rotterdam, according to the newspaper, which declares that similar efforts at Amsterdam have been a little backward.

In the Rotterdam branch of the service, the Telegraaf says, 142 men and 62 women have been enrolled, recruited principally among waiters, porters and other hotel and cafe employes.

GETS MYSTERIOUS BOX.

Van Wert, O., June 9.—Former Mayor Charles E. Lawhead, of this city, received a mysterious box, charred, and bearing a strong odor of drugs, which it was believed might contain an interfani machine. The bottle of acid had been broken, burning the box and some of the contents. It was shipped from Clear Springs, Md.

London, June 9.—(11:20 a. m.)—Americans domiciled here who are subject to the income tax must sell to or deposit with the British government their American securities under penalty of an extra two shilling tax. This information is given to the Associated Press today by an official of the American Dollar Security company. The ruling holds, whether the securities are held here or in America.

The tax of two shillings, added to the income tax, will apply to Americans who have resided here long enough to become subject to the regular income tax, the incidence of which will be followed except that no abatement will be granted on American securities which appear on the government's lists. If American securities are deposited with the government only the usual income tax with the ordinary abatements will be charged, but the government prefers to purchase the securities outright.

In the event that Americans resident here deposit their American securities held in the United States the government will collect the interest and pay it to the owners in sterling. American residents holding such securities in America may either deposit them with or sell them to the government through the agency of J. P. Morgan & Co. in New York. It is not unlikely that when this ruling becomes generally known there will be an exodus of wealthy Americans living in England. The American embassy and consulate have been besieged of late by American residents seeking information on this point, many of whom threaten to depart from the country unless the government makes an exception in their favor. A member of the Dollar Securities company who discussed the matter today was very positive that all residents subject to the regular income tax will be liable for the penal addition unless they dispose of their American holdings. Residents who are now liable to a tax on unearned income will be compelled to pay five shillings in the pound, while those to whom the super tax applies will pay still more unless they meet the government's demand.

CHICAGO SPEEDWAY RACE IS STILL UNCERTAIN

OFFICIALS BELIEVE GRIND WILL NOT BE RUN TILL SUNDAY.

The great Chicago speedway races will not be run off tomorrow. At least that was the impression about the Windy city at 10 o'clock Friday morning, and there were no indications of enough sunshine to put the big track in shape in the time now remaining.

Continuous rain has made the track soggy and slippery and there is no chance of running on it without at least eight or ten hours' good wind and sunshine. At 10 o'clock today there was no indication of the latter, although the rainy breeze was there.

May Hold Race Sunday.

If a postponement is imperative, the derby will be run Sunday, weather permitting, or on the first fair day thereafter. Richard Kennerdall, chairman of the A. A. A. contest board, who arrived from New York yesterday, has agreed to issue a sanction for a Sunday race, although he has not encouraged Sunday events in the past.

"Although I refused New York a Sunday sanction, I will issue one here," he said yesterday. "New York is a blue law city, but Chicago is different. I do not believe that there would be any criticism of Sunday automobile racing in a city that permits Sunday baseball and where the theaters are open on Sunday."

WILBUR D'ALENE QUITS THE GAME

Lead Pipe Methods Displease the Famous Racer.

According to a story published in the Waukegan Sun, Wilbur D'Alene, the "dark horse" who finished second in the recent Indianapolis 300 miles automobile derby, was deprived of $6,000 prize money by a technicality in his contract, and, disgusted with the auto racing game, has gone to work in a Waukegan auto factory.

The Sun article says in part:

"Literally robbed, as he says, of his prize of $6,000 through a technical interpretation of the contract he had signed with the Dusenberg owners, he has become disgusted with auto racing and says he is through with the game for all time.

"D'Alene is working in the assembling department of the Pierce Motor company, having accepted a position there Monday afternoon.

"The possession of medals, newspaper clippings and photos shows that D'Alene has achieved considerable prominence in the racing game. One newspaper clipping tells how he drove an aeroplane across Lake Erie from Canada, and another shows he was a member of the Royal Canadian dragoons, from which order he received an honrorable discharge.

"Second prize in the big Indianapolis race was $6,000. But D'Alene says he didn't get the money for this reason: He signed a contract to drive the Dusenberg car and 'to accept but one trophy' in return for his work, no matter what his position at the finish. After the race, he says, the Bosch Magneto company tendered him a special prize they had put up, a medal and cup, and he accepted it. Later he was told by the Dusenberg people that by doing so he had eliminated himself from having claim to the $6,000 prize money. Looking at the contract he had signed, he found such to be the case, and, disgusted, he left for Chicago and later came to Waukegan, where he applied for and received a job at the Pearce company's plant.

Lying on the Tracks It Derails Cars and One Man Was Killed.

Richmond, Va., June 9.—Derailment of a train by an alligator lying across the tracks near Tela, Honduras, caused the death of Henry Kinard Smith, civil engineer, son of the late Bishop Coke Smith, of the Southern Methodist church, according to information received recently by Mr. Smith's relatives here from Robert Lansing, secretary of state. The accident occurred March 25. As a precaution against bubonic plague, the body can not be removed from Honduras until after the lapse of four years.

BOB SIMPSON

Another hurdling wizard has come out of the west to hang up new world's records over the high sticks. Bob Simpson, wearing the colors of the University of Missouri, is the latest wonder man of the collegiate athletic realm and his feat of copping the 120 yard high hurdles in 14 3-5 seconds at the ninth annual Missouri valley conference meet at Columbia, Mo., was only part of a brilliant day's work.

In addition Simpson tied the world's mark of 23 2-5 seconds in the 220 low hurdles and put himself in the same class in this event with Alvin Kraenzlein, of Pennsylvania, and Wendell, of Harvard. Then, just for good measure, he won the broad jump at 22 feet 10¼ inches.

Simpson's first real bid for fame was a year ago when he equaled the 15 second mark in the low hurdles. A month ago he tore a fifth of a second off that figure and became world's record holder. That mark was equaled a week later by Fred Murray, of California.

Three of the six stop watches used in timing Simpson at Columbia caught him at 14 3-5 seconds, two caught him a second faster than that time, and one, John Bender, of the Kansas State college, clocked him at 15 seconds.

The hurdlers' biggest surprise came in the 220 yard low hurdles, which he negotiated in the time of 23 3-5 seconds. The last time this record was equaled was when Kraenzlein did it in 1898. This time was 4-5 of a second faster than Simpson has ever run it and it is thought that it is the first time he ever extended himself.

LEAVES TRAIL OF SHATTERED RECORDS

New York, June 9.—Exceptional performances have been the rule in the intercollegiate track and field meets during the season which closed with the western conference games at Chicago on June 3. New records were frequent not only fro mthe various association standpoints but national and international as well. Meredith, of Pennsylvania; Simpson, of Missouri; Murray, of California; Dismond, of Chicago; Mucks, of Wisconsin, and several others starred during the spring in the role of record breakers.

With this unusual collection of athletes from the Pacific coast, east and middle west competin, a comparison of the results at the championship meets is of more than ordinary interest. A triangular contest between the winners of the Pacific, western and eastern title games would produce such close finishes that any forecast of the result would be at best mere guessing. This is clearly shown by a comparison of the times or distances of the winners in the intercollegiate and conference games held respectively on May 27 at Cambridge, Mass., and June 3 at Chicago. The situation is further complicated by the fact that Michigan, a middle western university, was represented at the eastern meet while the Pacific coast was represented at both games.

Smith, of Michigan, and his namesake from Wisconsin won the "hundred" in ten seconds flat at the eastern and western meets respectively. In the 220, Moore, of Princeton, and Smith, of Wisconsin, also tied so far as time is concerned with 21 3-5 seconds. A third tie occurred in the 440, Meredith, of Pennsylvania, and Dismond both running the quarter in 47 2-5 seconds, a new world's record for a race around one turn. The first break in the series of ties is found in the 880, which Meredith won at Cambridge in 1 minute 53 seconds, while Scott, of Missouri A. C., was a fifth of a second slower at Evanston.

An even break of honors occurred in the longer distance races, Windnagle, of Cornell, winning the intercollegiate mile in 4 minutes 15 seconds, to Mason's conference victory in 4 minutes 20 1-5 seconds. Stout, of Chicago, was faster in the two mile than Potter, of Cornell, the respective times being Stout 9 minutes 29 3-5 seconds; Potter, 9 minutes 33 2-5 seconds. The east was entirely outclassed in the hurdle races. Murray, of California, won the intercollegiate events with 15 seconds for the 120 and 24 1-5 for the 220, while Simpson, of Missouri, won over the high hurdles in 14 3-5 seconds and the low in 23 4-5 seconds.

In the high and broad jumps the tables were reversed as Oler, of Yale, cleared the bar at Cambridge at 6 feet 2¼ inches, while Fisher, of Chicago, leaped 6 feet 1⅛ inches at the conference games. Worthington, of Dartmouth, broad jumped 24 feet ¼ inches at the eastern contests; Progue, of Illinois, doing 23 feet ½ inch in the west. Foss, of Cornell, was eight inches better in the pole vault than the quartet of vaulters who tied at 12 feet in the conference event. Gildersleeve, of California, won both the eastern and western hammer throwing competition with tthrows of 155 feet 1 inch and 153 feet 8 inches, respectively. Liversedge, of California, took the intercollegiate shotput title with a put of 46 feet 2½ inches and also won the conference event with 47 feet 5 inches, but was disqualified upon an eligibility rule and the first place awarde dto Mucks, of Wisconsin, with a put of 46 feet 3 inches.

UMPS INTERFERES WITH BASE-RUNNER

Chicago, June 9.—President B. B. Johnson, of the American league, has sustained a decision of Umpire Chill in the Boston-Cleveland game last Saturday which, it was said today, establishes a precedent for plays in which an umpire interferes with a base runner. The decision of Chill, against which Boston protested, was that the runner return to his base. So far as known no similar case has occurred in major league baseball and is not covered by the rules.

Turner, after making a hit, rounded first base and collided with Chill twice. He then stopped and walked to second base, where he was touched by the Boston second baseman. He was called out by Umpire Chill but after a conference with Umpire Dineen the decision was reversed and Turner was allowed to return to first base. The decision has received the sanction of President Johnson and Boston's protest was disallowed. President Johnson also dismissed a Washington protest against a home run decision at Detroit on Sunday which was covered by ground rules. The official decision allowed a home run on a ball which struck in the field and bounded over the ropes into the bleachers.

ANOTHER BLOW TO LITERATURE

Garry Herrmann Would Stop M'Graw's Works.

Cincinnati, O., June 9.—Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati ball club, today said he would take action with a view to preventing John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, from writing baseball articles for publication.

Herrmann's ire was aroused by the publication of a story signed by McGraw in a New York paper in which McGraw predicted Manager Herzog, of the Reds, and Hal Chase, former star first baseman, who is now playing in the Red outfield, would have trouble before the season is over.

"McGraw's writings are a deliberate attempt to stir up dissension on the Cincinnati team," said Herrmann. "The New York manager always is trying to cause internal troubles on other teams and I am going to try to stop him as far as the Cincinnati club is concerned. Chase and Herzog are getting along together in the best manner possible for the good of the team. They have had no quarrels and I don't expect them to have any. I don't think they will unless McGraw or men of his kind succeed in causing them to clash.

"Ban Johnson stopped American league players from writing for publication and I am going to ask President Tener to take the same action in the National league."

CARL KELLER ACQUITTED.

Toledo, O., June 9.—Former Mayor Carl H. Keller, charged with bribery in connection with the purchase of fire apparatus for the city, was found not guilty by a jury here yesterday afternoon.

It was Mr. Keller's second trial, the first having resulted in jury disagreement. The former mayor, who succeeded as city executive Brand Whitlock, now American minister to Belgium, was charged with having accepted an automobile and $500 for turning the contract to a Cleveland firm.

HARDING STICKS TO REGULAR SCHEDULE

Chicago, June 9.—Chairman Harding, of the republican convention, said today that the republicans would follow the regular procedure when the session was called to order and that balloting probably would be reached at least by 4 o'clock this afternoon.

"The first business of the day," said the chairman, "will be the presentation of the names of candidates followed by seconding speeches. I think we ought to get to balloting by 4 o'clock, but I can't guarantee that."

The chairman said he knew nothing about the report of the republican members of the peace conference committee. "But," he said, "that report is privileged and can be submitted at any time."

Umbrellas Finally Furled.

After fifty-six hours of continuous rain there was hope today that the clouds had emptied themselves.

The sky was still a menacing grey, however, and the best the weather man would promise was "unsettled with probable showers."

Umbrellas were furled for the first time since the conventions began last Wednesday and expressions of relief were general among the delegates and visitors.

Delegates to the republican and progressive national conventions reassembled at the Coliseum and the Auditorium here today facing a situation unprecedented in recent American political party history. The progressives met at 10 o'clock and the republicans resumed their deliberations at 11 o'clock.

Uncertainty as thick and obdurate as the murky weather that has hung over Chicago for three days, prevailed, and all eyes were strained to catch the first possible clearing of the political clouds. No man on the ground was able to predict on a basis of fact what the next twenty-four hours might bring out of the haze; whether it would be harmony and a reunited republican party, or disagreement and dual nominations by the two big conventions.

Midnight Conference Historic.

The day was ushered in by a midnight conference that will become historic of "peace committees" from the progressives and republicans, which took place at the Chicago club on Michigan boulevard.

The conference adjourned before 1 o'clock without definite results, it was said, and details of its deliberations were withheld. It may meet again this afternoon or tonight or it may not. Only the developments of the day can determine that. It was a remarkable picture, formed by the men seated about the conference board in whose hands practically rested the destinies of the republican and progressive parties.

The republican committee was composed of Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, chairman; former Senator W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts; Senator Wm. E. Borah, of Idaho; Nicholas Murray Butler, of New York, and A. R. Johnson, of Ohio. The progressive committee had George W. Perkins, of New York, for chairman, and the other members were Gov. Hiram Johnson, of California; Horace B. Wilkinson, of New York; Charles J. Boneparte, of Maryland, and John M. Parker, of New Orleans.

Every member of the republican "peace" committee took part in the management of the republican convention of 1912, which brought the progressive party into being. Crane, Smoot and Butler were determined advocates of methods to prevent the nomination of Col. Roosevelt then. R. Johnson, then in congress, supported them. Borah was for Roosevelt, but refused to leave the republican party. When Vice President Sherman died, Mr. Butler was selected as the running mate of President Taft.

Gov. Johnson was a candidate for vice president with Roosevelt on the 1912 progressive ticket. Many times Gov. Johnson has denounced with great vigor the action in 1912 of these men, who last night sat across from him at the counsel table. Bonaparte, of Maryland, constantly has been for Col. Roosevelt and Roosevelt policies. Mr. Parker organized the progressive party in Louisiana. Mr. Perkins and Mr. Wilkinson were with Col. Roosevelt in 1912. Mr. Perkins has been particularly prominent in the councils of the progressive party and one of its most widely known leaders.

They Reported "Progress."

For more than two hours the conferees discussed the points at issue between the progressives and the republicans and took up details of the peace plans projected earlier in the day by the two conventions when the conference committees on harmony had been appointed. When adjournment came it was announced "We report progress," and the statement was made that the members of the two committees would not get together again until after the sessions of the conventions today. They prepared reports which are being presented to their respective conventions. There is considerable doubt as to just how these reports will be received by the delegates and whether leaders in the two conventions can hold bodies of delegates under control while further harmony deliberations are being held. "It is understood," said Senator Borah after last night's conference had concluded, "that while nominating speeches will be made in each convention today no nominations will be made."

Phases Make It Delicate.

"And," said another member of the committee, "we will resume negotiations in the afternoon or evening." But herein enter various phases of the situation which combine to make it so delicate as to invite the unexpected and the uncertain. Leaders of both parties sat up most of the night discussing numerous possibilities that might develop and making plans to handle the situation. should efforts be made to stampede either convention for a particular candidate, or against further delay in making nominations.

Many of the progressives hoped that Col. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay would send a message to the harmony committee that would have a bearing on the situation.

Hughes Men Confident.

The men advocating the nomination by the republican convention of Justice Charles E. Hughes, of the supreme court, declared this morning nothing had occurred to weaken their position and stated they believed their candidate could be nominated today and prepared to press for action on a nomination today.

Managers for the various "favorite son" candidates insisted the harmony conference program had greatly improved the chances for their men and predicted early today that neither the name of Hughes or Roosevelt would appear upon the republican ticket. But in the absence of any definite report of what happened at the "peace" conference at the Chicago club not many people were sanguine of definite results. Many expressed the opinion that the two conventions will go ahead regardless of each other, make their nominations and adjourn.

One Member's View.

In this connection one of the members of last night's conference declared: "The conference has not changed the situation in respect to the probable nomination of Justice Hughes by the republican convention. A situation has been created by which the progressives in all probability will be willing to postpone the desire of the radical members to rush into a nomination of Col. Roosevelt for the sole purpose of being the first to put a ticket in the field. I believe that the conference made for good feeling regardless of whether we accomplishd the main purpose of coming together or not."

In the recommendations for each of the suits the fact is set forth that the various officials or former officials have been given an opportunity to confer with the members of the state board of accounts in regard to the money and that in each case the proposal for a conference has been ignored.

DR. W. T. GOTT REAPPOINTED

Dr. Gott, at the time the governor was pushing his central board of control idea for all state institutions, wrote the governor a letter complimenting the idea and supporting the governor in the stand he was making at that time for the central board idea.

"Paint Me As I Am"

Said Cromwell---

When sitting for a picture—"If you leave out the scars and wrinkles I will not pay you a shilling."

So, New Store, we'll "paint" you as you are—scars, wrinkles and all.

You may see yourself as others see you, and as this is Centennial week, it's a splendid time to give yourself the once-over.

There is a kindly welcome in your youthful face—In your rough stone and steel there is much symbolic of your staunchness.

Day after day more people are showing their appreciation.

FORWARD! —Tepper's.

All Hail to the New Covert Coats

And examine as carefully as one will—

At this very hour—New York says they are quite the "thing." Women like their swagger cut—their wide sweep skirt—the pretty doubled collars which are made with contrasting Silk Poplins over the self material. One may be removed if desired.

The manufacturer needed cash to turn his attention to Fall Garments. We had it—and incidentally our FIVE store buying power enabled us to handle the quantity he had for disposal.

So there!

Special for Saturday $8.95

—Tepper's, Second Floor

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

Pennsylvania Shop Clerk J. H. Hobrock is getting the data for the retirement of John Shuster, which will take place August 1. Mr. Shuster was born in Mahoning county, Ohio, July 15, 1846, and will be seventy years old next month. He has worked for the Pennsylvania company since 1864, taking service there immediately after being honorably discharged from the United States army, in which he served during the greater portion of the civil war. Mr. Shuster served in several capacities at the shops and has been the watchman at the Lafayette street gate ever since the retirement of Paul Hanley, about two years ago.

BRETHREN MOVING ON WINONA.

Big Triennial Church Convention Opened Today.

The 20,000 to 25,000 members of the Church of the Brethren who will take part in the triennial meeting at Winona from June 9 to 19 have started to move in that direction. Tomorrow the Pennsylvania will handle two special trains carrying these people from central Ohio. One will be delivered to the Pennsylvania at Upper Sandusky by the Hocking Valley and the other will be delivered to the G. R. & I. by the Panhandle at Richmond and to the Pennsylvania at Fort Wayne. This train will have eight cars. There will be a number of other special trains and all the regular trains will carry extra cars filled with the Brethren and their families.

NOT HURT SERIOUSLY.

C. E. Urbahns Only Sustained Body Bruises in Wreck.

Conductor A. E. Urbahns, of the Nickel Plate, is in receipt of news to the effect that his brother, Supt. C. E. Urbahns, of the Steven's Point division of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie, was only slightly injured in the wreck on that line a few days ago. His injuries consist chiefly of body bruises and no bones were broken. It was reported at first that he sustained more serious injuries. In the accident several passengers were injured when the cars were derailed.

HIGHEST FLAG IN CITY.

Floats From Top of 225-Foot Cement Pouring Tower.

F. G. Duryee, of the Electric works, was master of ceremonies in a Centennial stunt that attracts a lot of attention in the vicinity of the big plant. The tower for pouring concrete for the big building on Wall street is 225 feet high, and Mr. Duryee and his assistants have placed a huge American flag on top of it, and at night they illuminate the flag by means of an old-fashioned river searchlight.

Many Times on Operating Table.

Engineer Jerry S. Sweeney, of the Wabash passenger service and president of the Wabash Enginemen's school of instruction, who recently underwent another serious operation at the Decatur hospital for a chronic trouble, is reported to be on the high way to recovery. The operation is declared to have been a complete success. Mr. Sweeney had been compelled during the past fifteen years to undergo several very severe operations.

Engineer Sweeney has been in hospitals and on the operating table of those institutions nearly a dozen times in the past fifteen years. His troubles began way back in 1900 when he was terribly injured while pulling the Continental Limited train from Danville to Decatur, he crashed through an open switch and into a long string of coal cars at the Jasper street yard office at Decatur. One of his legs was so badly broken that when it had grown well it was several inches shorter than the other. Sweeney immediately went to the Johns Hopkins hospital at Baltimore, and had the leg bones broken over and stretched, so that when he came out he walked with only a slight limp.

IN FINE OFFICES.

The large office room formed by partitioning the north end of the second story of the new store house of the General Electric works from the other portion, is now the home of the offices of the receiving, the shipping and the billing and cost departments, of which R. O. Orff, John F. Keiss and Walter Crise respectively, are the heads. There are upwards of forty people at work in the large room.

BILLY BRENNAN LOSES FINGER.

FRANK MORE ON OPERATING TABLE

Engineer and Mrs. Charles More, who accompanied his brother, Frank E. More, to Cincinnati several days ago, returned home this morning, bringing the cheerful news that Mr. More passed through a surgical operation in fine shape and will recover, it is believed. Mrs. Frank More remained at Cincinnati to be near her husband's side during the time he is in the hospital. Mr. More's condition is the result of an injury some years ago. He is an assistant road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania.

CONSTRUCTION WORK RAPID.

The Wells Brothers company, the firm engaged in building the big shops on Wall street for the General Electric works, are pushing the work along rapidly. Tomorrow night will see the completion of the concrete floor of the first story, the floor in the basement having been completed several days. The forms for the wall of the first story are nearly all in position and pouring of concrete is in progress there.

Only One Fort Wayne Man There

According to the report of the Peru hospital officials, only one Fort Wayne man is in that institution at present, the smallest number for many weeks. Rolland C. Hollabaugh, the Fort Wayne man at the hospital, is there for treatment for sickness. Last week a number of patients were discharged from the hospital, but none were Fort Wayne people.

MR. SARVER MUCH BETTER.

Mrs. Sarver, who accompanied her husband, B. F. Sarver, to the Martinsville sanitarium a week ago, returned home last night, bringing news of a great improvement in the condition of her husband. If the improvement continues, Mr. Sarver will come home the latter part of next week. He suffers from a severe attack of rheumatism and tonsilitis.

HAD HIS FINGERS CUT.

Albert Thompson had the misfortune to have the inner side of two of his fingers cut this morning. Dr. F. J. Schulz attended him. Thompson is employed with Foreman Henry Stahlhut, in the yard maintenance department.

OLD SECRET AGAIN SUBJECT OF GOSSIP

Is Time Near When England Will Use Dundonald Plan?

By Mary Boyle O'Reilly.

London, England, June 9—If the Germans should invade England, will they be repulsed by the world's greatest secret?

For 105 years the British war office has possessed an appalling plan of war, warranted to give victory at one blow.

In 1811, when the great shadow of invasion overshadowed Great Britain, Thomas Cochrane, Lord Dundonald, a naval genius with no peer except Nelson, invented a secret plan of war which he believed to be annihilating. England, then at death grips with Napoleon, submitted the scheme to a secret tribunal of five military, naval and scientific experts.

That night the king summoned the inventor. "We will bury your secret in the war office to await the day of a greater menace. You must pledge your word never to divulge the nature of this sure shield against invasion."

The grim promise was given. Followed 40 years of peace. Then came the Crimean war, a years-long fight waged at great distance against a powerful and implacable enemy. Again Dundonald urged his irresistable plan.

So desperate was the situation that the government called upon a triumvirate of great scientists to investigate and decide. Michael Faraday, Lyon Playfair and Graham sat in judgment on the terrible possibility.

Said Dundonald: "This plan will obliterate every ship from the sea, every enemy fortress and army from the land, instantly and irrevocably as a child rubs pencilings from a slate. This can be done at a total cost of $1,000,000."

Only the tribunal's decision was made public. "We assume it to be possible that the plan contains power for producing the sweeping destruction the inventor ascribes to it. But, after mature consideration, we are resolved that such a scheme is too terrible for civilized warfare."

Five years later the "Defender of England" lay dying. "The day will come," he prophesied, "when Dundonald's plan of war must be employed. Let Great Britain rest assured it will prove the infallible means of securing victory at one blow."

Has that day dawned?

Will the dead hand of Dundonald hurl the thunderbolt forged more than a century ago?

The prize of the titanic battle now preparing is world dominion or downfall. When the Germans attempt to invade England—if they are met with the world's greatest secret—what then?

Hon. William H. Eichhorn, of the Blackford-Wells circuit bench, is expected to come to Fort Wayne Saturday to assume jurisdiction in the Allen circuit court as special judge in the case of the state against Henry P. Scherer, trustee of Wayne township, against whom the grand jury returned an accusation for impeachment. Judge Eichhorn was chosen by the attorneys for the state and the defense to sit in the case and the appointment was made by Judge John W. Eggeman. It is probable that Trustee Scherer's counsel, Judge Edward O'Rourk and former Prosecuting Attorney Harry H. Hilgemann will file their answer to the accusation Saturday.

Notes of the Courts.

In the superior court Friday Judge Carl Yaple heard the arguments of counsel in the suit of Roy O. Geesman, of Huntington, vs. Ernest W. Cook, receiver for the Bash Fertilizer and Chemical company, for the recovery of money paid by the plaintiff for stock in the now defunct concern on the ground of fraud. Since the suit was begun Geesman has died and his widow is continuing the suit. Judge Yaple took the case under advisement.

In the case of Flossie Pearl Renneman vs. Frank Renneman for divorce, the defendant has filed a cross-complaint in the superior court.

The circuit court has sent DeKalb county on a change of venue the case of Clarence R. McCammon et al. vs. the S. Baum Commission company and the Big Four Fruit company.

Charles F. Hilker has begun suit in the superior court against Jennie O. Wyatt to recover $90 on an account. W. H. Reed is attorney for the plaintiff.

In the suit of Elsie Burger vs. Emma Feldheiser and Mary M. Belling on a note, the defendant Belling has commenced an action in the superior court against the defendant Feldheiser, demanding $175. The cross-complaint says that she was surety for the defendant Feldheiser and had already made a partial payment of $165, not knowing that she was not legally bound to do so.

They will be held here until requisition papers arrive.

The board of park commissioners has had prepared several resolutions for the further improvement of Anthony and Rudisill boulevards and these probably will be considered at the earliest meeting at which there is the presence of a quorum. Grading, sidewalks and other betterments are contemplated in the resolutions.

Col. D. N. Foster, president of the park board, and Charles J. Stelss, secretary of that body, have just returned from Cleveland, where they attended the national conference of city planning, and report a most successful affair.

BOARD OF WORKS MEETING.

The board of works, Thursday evening, placed on file a remonstrance by resident property owners against the resolution to pave the square of Nelson street, between Jefferson and Wilt streets. It bears enough signatures to kill the resolution. The board adopted a declaratory resolution for the paving of Lexington avenue, from Calhoun Place addition to Piqua avenue, ordered plans for a sewer in the alleys east and west of Calhoun street, between Spy Run and the north city limits, to drain into the Spy Run district main sewer, and adopted resolutions for a local sewer between Polk and Burgess streets, from Franklin avenue to St. Mary's avenue, and for five local sewers in the southeast part of the city. Petitions were received for paving Rockhill street from Lavina street to the Pennsylvania railroad, for paving the first alley east of Webster street, from Suttenfield street to Woodland avenue, and for some sidewalks.

Overland Car That Won First Prize in the Automobile Parade Thursday

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, June 9. — Wheat advanced sharply today as a result of the bullish showing of the government crop report. Free profit taking on the upturn did not cause much of a reaction.

Opening prices, which varied from 1⅛@1¼c to 2⅛@2½c higher, with July at $1.06⅜ to $1.07½, and September at $1.08 to $1.09¼, were followed by a period of comparative steadiness, slightly under the top side of the initial range.

Corn rose with wheat but was checked by numerous resting orders to sell. After opening ¼c to ½c higher, the market gained a little more and then underwent a moderate sag.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, June 9.—Railway shares were again the dominant features on the resumption of trading today, although initial dealings were not on the liberal scale that characterized yesterday's early operations. St. Paul, Northern Pacific, Reading, Wabash preferred issues and Colorado Southern were higher by substantial fractions to 1½ points, and New York Central showed unusual activity. Chesapeake & Ohio was slightly lower on profit taking. U. S. Steel led the seasoned industrials on buying of an impressive character, with strength in Crucible Steel, Studebaker, United Fruit, American Woolen and Beet Sugar, the latter at the new record of 84½.

Inquiry for rails soon assumed wider scope, Union Pacific making a spirited rise of 1¼, while Central was confidently absorbed in blocks of 1,000 to 6,000 shares. United States Steel leadership became more pronounced on its gain of a point and Studebaker's four-point rise was marked because other motors and the munitions were backward, as were also shipping issues. Trading slackened and prices yielded slightly on realizing before midday. Bonds were firm.

BABY BONDS FOR FUTURE HOUSEHOLD NEEDS

"I foresaw that we were soon to be forced to renew much of the furniture in our home," said a Baby Bond purchaser, "but it's so easy to get in too deep if you buy on installments that I determined to invest in a Baby Bond every month until we had enough saved to pay cash."

Baby Bonds are in $10 denominations, secured by first mortgages on local real estate and paying a six per cent. interest. For further information call Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff building.

Kioto, Japan, May 8.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—What many Japanese people regard as an important political address was delivered yesterday by Baron Takaaki Kato, former minister of foreign affairs, and leader of the government Doshikai party, at the inaugural meeting of the Kioto branch of his party. Alluding to Japan's position in the present war, Baron Kato declared that in his opinion the Anglo-Japanese alliance must remain the main pillar of the nation's diplomacy.

The speaker said that Japan would gain a reasonable compensation in return for the part she has played in the war but he wished to emphasize that Japan's position was different from that of her allies in Europe inasmuch as Japan's activities have been restricted to the Orient. The statesman warned his compatriots that should they expect too much from the peace conference they would be disappointed.

Turning his attention to the recent attacks on the Anglo-Japanese alliance, Baron Kato expressed his regrets that unfriendly comments should have been made. It was certain, he said, that they were confined to politicians and lay academicians. What the scholars voiced was the more dangerous, he declared, because although these men may not know much about practical diplomacy, the masses of the people are likely to be misled by their scholastic attainments and believe they are right. The ex-minister added:

"It would be most regrettable if our people are led to any erroneous conception of the Anglo-Japanese alliance for I regard it as the main pillar of our diplomacy."

Baron Kato said he understood that the critics based their objections to the alliance on the attitude of British officials and merchants in China, who were alleged to be hindering Japanese undertakings in that country and on their belief that the formation of an alliance with Russia would render the pact with Great Britain useless. It was true, he thought, that some British merchants in China have continually slandered Japan and her people, but he was convinced that these Englishmen did not represent Great Britain.

As for the alliance with Russia, Baron Kato declared it the height of folly to imagine that it could be formed and maintained independently of the Anglo-Japanese alliance. He, for one, would welcome an alliance with Russia, he said, but he was convinced that it could be made only on the strength of the pact with Great Britain and that it must be supplementary to that alliance.

"When the peace conference is held the Anglo-Japanese alliance must be the basis of our policy, and Japan must, of course, co-operate with Russia and France." Baron Kato concluded. "If Japan goes astray from this policy her position will become very difficult. It is most important that our people should recognize the delicate diplomatic relationship and endeavor to smooth the way that lies before us for generations to come."
